FRENCH RETREAT NEAR SOISSONS

Cross the Aisne, Abandoning Five Miles of Trenches to the Germans.

LEAVE GUNS AND WOUNDED

Germans Say They Captured 3,150 in Two Days' Fighting While the Kaiser Watched.

WON HEIGHTS OF VREGNY

French Minimize the Defeat, Saying That Floods Compelled the Withdrawal Across the River.

LONDON, Jan. 14.—French reverses in the neighborhood of Soissons, suffered in the fighting of the last two days, are the most striking features of the western war news made public today. The German official report characterizes as "a brilliant feat for our troops," the capture of the heights of Vregny, which was achieved under the eyes of the Kaiser himself.

While the French War Office asserts that the German attacks "to the north of Soissons have been stopped," it admits the evacuation of positions stretching five miles along the north bank of the Aisne, east of Soissons, in these words:

"The flooding of the River Aisne, which destroyed several of our bridges, had rendered very precarious the communications of our troops operating on the first slopes of the right bank. We were thus prevented from sending them reinforcements. This has been the essential cause of the withdrawal of those troops which were fighting under difficulties.

"We were obliged to abandon several cannon as the result of the breaking down of a bridge. We have rendered all of them unfit for use.

"The Germans have made prisoners, particularly of wounded men, whom, in the withdrawal movement we were not able to take with us. On our side we have made a number of important prisoners, not wounded, belonging to seven different regiments.

"To sum up, the success is a partial one for our adversaries, which will have no influence on the operations as a whole. In fact, by reason of the obstacle presented by the Aisne and the dispositions which we have taken, the enemy will be unable to utilize to the south of the river the success, which is of purely local character."

The number of French prisoners taken in the fighting of Jan. 12 and 13 was 3,150, according to the official Berlin report, while eight heavy and six machine guns were captured.

SEES EARLY ALLIED VICTORY.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Jan. 14.—The Journal des Débats registers its opinion that hostilities are rapidly emerging from a "guerre de siège" into a new phase of semi-independent, furious battles between heavy masses on narrow fronts. This, says the newspaper critic, "is the consequence of the successful French offensive against various minor points.

As the recent fighting north of Soissons shows, the Germans perceive from the line of territory re-occupied our main objectives and immediately counter with heavy reinforcements which are sufficient to block the French advance if not to regain the lost positions. To continue their movement the French must also reinforce.

"Thus I foresee a series of battles of extreme bloodiness and desperation, owing to the narrowness of the fronts, wherein victory will rest with the side most enduring and able to bring up the greatest numbers.

"Surely the Russian successes, coupled with the improvement of our reserves and the approaching utilization of the new British armies, ought to insure the final supremacy to the Allies. The new phase brings the end of the war into sight."

MILDER FRENCH CENSORSHIP?

Bitter Newspaper Attacks Likely to Bear Fruit.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Jan. 14.—Since the failure of the German attack on Paris, complaints against the censorship have been more frequent and now seem to have reached their climax. No one objects to the elimination of news likely to afford information to the enemy, but the protest is general against persistent obliteration of political criticism on the ground that it may hamper the Government.

Now the Socialist Party has passed a resolution refusing to allow one of its members, Deputy Alexandre Varenne, to accept the post head civil censor—the military head was moved to sterner duties weeks ago—because "The Socialist Party considers that the censorial limitations ought to concern only information likely to interfere with military and diplomatic operations, and two that the Government ought to regard public opinion as supremely important and to supply it officially with the widest possible information within the limitations of national defense."

Besides the Socialist opposition, Georges Clemenceau, whose refusal to obey the military censor at Toulouse caused the suppression of L'Homme Libre, does not cease his appeals in L'Homme Enchaîné against the restriction of political criticism. Furthermore, as President of the Interparliamentary Group of Senators, Deputies, and Journalists, M. Clemenceau has proposed a resolution, which has been unanimously adopted, suggestion (1) that such restriction exceeds the previous law of Aug. 15 of last year,

GERMANY ALARMED BY FAMINE MENACE

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

COPENHAGEN, Jan. 14, (Dispatch to The London Daily News.)—All the German papers without exception have suddenly awakened to the seriousness of the food question. Under the heading "Mobilizing the Housewives," the Deutsche Tageszeitung, among others, calls attention to the increasing economic difficulties. The National Women's Service in Berlin is taking special measures to instruct housewives in economy in the kitchen.

On Tuesday ten huge meetings were held in Berlin to impress upon housewives the seriousness of the situation and their responsibilities in the kitchen in wartime. The University, the Commercial High School, the Prussian Diet, the Patent Office, the Charlottenburg City Hall, and the public schools were insufficient to accommodate the enormous crowd of women anxious to be instructed in a way to face the coming terrors in the home. Famous professors and society ladies spoke on the coming dangers and gave advice, and recipes for meatless soups and foods were announced from the platform.

Many public appeals to housewives in German papers have created a feeling of alarm. It is realized that the authorities are not hiding the fact that the pinch is beginning to be felt. The mobilizing of housewives for economic instruction will continue daily.

SAYS FRANCE NEEDS GUNS, NOT ORATORS

"Speeches Must Give Way to the Voice of Cannon," Socialist Senator Declares.

PARIS, Jan. 14.—"Speeches must give way to the voice of cannon. The country is not with you; there is nothing for Parliament to do but to keep still when France is invaded."

With these words M. Delahaye (Socialist) in the Senate today demanded the postponement of all discussion of the war situation. This caused a great stir and protests on the part of several members.

Premier Viviani expressed regret that such language had been used, but some of M. Delahaye's colleagues upheld him.

EMPEROR PRAISES BERCHTOLD'S WORK

Writes Him a Letter and Gives Him an Order—Berlin Press Friendly to Retiring Premier.

VIENNA, Jan. 14, (via London.)—An autograph letter from Emperor Francis Joseph to Count Leopold von Berchtold accepting his resignation as Foreign Minister is published today in the official Vienna Gazette. The Emperor expresses "my warmest thanks, my full recognition of the distinguished services you have rendered to my house and to the monarchy in times of peace as well as during this great war.

"It is with regret that I see you sever yourself from these functions," the Emperor says in conclusion, "and I confer upon you, as a token of my continuous affection, the brilliants of the Grand Cross of the Order of St. Stephen."

AMSTERDAM, Jan. 14, (via London.)—Berlin newspapers, commenting on the resignation of Count Leopold von Berchtold as Austrian Foreign Minister, speak highly of his career as a statesman, and lay particular emphasis upon his loyalty to the Austrian alliance with Germany. The Lokal Anzeiger says:

"Not until after the war shall we be able to appreciate the value and the merit of all that Count von Berchtold has accomplished in these fateful years."

The Post says: "We can have absolute confidence that Count von Berchtold's successor will continue to guide Austria-Hungary with the same determined courage and unerring loyalty to the German Empire."

REMOVE CASH FROM AUSTRIA

Royal Family, Nobles and Financiers Deposit in Swiss Banks.

GENEVA, Jan. 14.—Swiss banks are receiving large sums of money and scrip from members of the Hapsburg family, members of the Austrian aristocracy, and Vienna financiers as deposits, and also large orders to buy American securities.

GOV. BLEASE QUITS: HIS TERM NOT ENDED

Spectacular South Carolina Executive Resigns Five Days Before His Time Is Up.

DEMAND FOR IMPEACHMENT

His Path Beset by Pardon Seekers, Although He Had Extended Clemency to 2,704 Prisoners.

Special to The New York Times.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Jan. 14.—Cole L. Blease ended his stormy career as Governor of South Carolina to-day by resigning at noon, five days before his term of office would have expired. He was succeeded by Charles A. Smith, Lieutenant-Governor, who took the oath of office immediatel before Chief Justice Gary, in the rooms of the Supreme Court. Gov. Smith's first official act was to appoint Blease a notary public.

Smith will be formally inaugurated Governor tomorrow at noon, and will hold the office until noon next Tuesday, when Richard I. Manning, the Governor-elect, will take the reins of office.

Not even Blease's most intimate friends profess to know why he resigned. His letter of resignation to the Legislature merely said:

There has been talk of attempting to impeach Blease, a local newspaper demanding it editorially for the last three days, but while the matter is said to have been the subject of a caucus on the part of some members of the Legislature, nothing was expected to come of it. Blease had been frequently quoted as saying he would not be succeeded by Manning as Governor, and some think his determination not to take part in the ceremonies incident to the inauguration of Mr. Mannin may have prompted him to retire and leave that duty to the Lieutenant-Governor.

Hounded by Pardon Seekers.

The theory most generally advanced, however, is that the Governor withdrew from office to escape the hundreds of petitions and entraties that are pouring in upon him for pardons in these closing days of his administration. Up to to-day he had exercised executive clemency in 2,704 cases, and for the last week delegations from every part of the State had lined his pathway, crowded his office and intruded upon his home seeking pardons and paroles for friends. His last official act was to reduce to ten years the life sentence of Clyde C. Clement, a youth convicted of the murder of his infant daughter. There has been a fight between friends of the Governor over the case.

Blease's political career has been a series of spectacular incidents, controversies, and fights. While practicing law in Newberry, S. C., he became active in politics and in 1890 was elected to the State House of Representatives. He also served in the Senate and was President pro tem. in 1907-08.

After a hot campaign, in which Blease defeated the Prohibition elements' candidate in the Democratic primaries, he was inaugurated as Governor in January, 1911. Soon after he assumed office he began extending clemency to convicts in the State Penitentiary, declaring that a privately conducted institution at the prison was a "tuberculosis breeder." One statement attributed to the Governor at that time was that "he would free at least one prisoner for each day he served as Governor." Several days ago he signed a blanket pardon restoring citizenship to approximately 1,000 men and women whom he had paroled.

Blease was re-elected in 1913. His second term was marked by the dismissal of practically all the notaries from office, the dismissal of several Magistrates who had incurred his disfavor, and his participation in several public controversies with members of the State Supreme Court, and other officials. He also became involved in a dispute with the Federal War Department over State militia affairs. Several days ago he issued an order disbanding the entire militia organization.

Blease and the State Legislature seldom have been in accord. Records show that more bills have been passed over his veto than over that of any Governor in the State's history.

Last August Blease was defeated in the Senatorial primary. In his last message to the Legislature he said: "I have attained the highest ambition of my life. My life's work, so far as my personal interest is concerned, has been completed. If my people want my services in the future, I will give them, but I shall ask for nothing more."

To Reorganize Militia.

The matter of reorganizing the South Carolina militia will not be taken up seriously until after Mr. Manning becomes Governor. Senator Tillman, who sent a telegram to the militiamen of the Staote immediately after Blease's action, advising them to "sit steady in the boat," is quoted today as saying:

"I think it an opportune time for Gov. Manning to co-operate with the United States authorities and have the militia take an entirely new start and thoroughly reorganized. The State is now charged with a good many thousands of dollars worth of munitions and arms that are lost and can never be recovered, and I believe the War Department will be entirely friendly toward the proposed reorganization and in starting a new slate."

ARRESTS IN ROSELLE ROW.

Special to The New York Times.

ELIZABETH, N. J., Jan. 14.—Gaius Tipping, a member of the Roselle Park Board of Health; Mortimer Shea, and Edward Scudder were arrested by the Elizabeth police this afternoon for attempting to remove the culvert of the county sewer so that the surface water, which gathered as a result of recent rains, might drain off from Roselle Park property. The sewer, which is near the city boundary, carries drainage water into the Elizabeth River. A month ago it was sealed, much against the wishes of the Roselle Park authorities. Several attempts have been made to break this seal, but until today no arrests have been made.

Tipping, who is a contractor, with a dozen laborers, had torn several holes into the concrete work before their activities were reported to the police. When the police arrived in automobiles the Roselle residents retreated across the boundary line and defied the Elizabeth authorities to arrest them.

Tipping, Scudder, and Shea were arraigned before Judge Mahon on the charge of malicious mischief and were held in bail of $200 for a hearing Jan. 22.

NURSE TO PRODUCE BREMNER'S LETTERS

ORAL AGREEMENT IS DENIED

Leith Bremner Declares His Brother Did Say That He Would Provide for Miss Nash.

Miss Theo Nash, the trained nurse, of Paterson, N. J., who is seeking to recover $75,000 from the estate of the late Congressman Robert Gunn Bremner of Passaic, under an oral agreement which she says the Congressman made with her before the death on Feb. 5, 1914, in a hospital in Baltimore, was denounced yesterday by Leith Bremner, brother of the Congressman, in an affidavit as "a common adventuress."

Warren Dixson, counsel for the nurse in her application to Vice Chancellor Griffin in Jersey City for a preliminary injunction to conserve Bremner's estate against the settlement of her suit against his widow and brother, declared:

"When the proper time comes we will produce 300 letters that passed between Mr. Bremner and Miss Nash, which will show a pure and friendly relationship, and will clearly prove Miss ash is no adventuress."

None of the principals were in court but many affidavits were submitted. In hers' Mrs. Bremner says that far from helping her husband, Miss Nash, in her opinion, was responsible for Mr. Bremner's condition when Mrs. Bremner visited him in the Baltimore hospital. She ordered the nurse from the room and before she went Mrs. Bremner says Miss ash, addressing Bremner, threatened "to go to one of the conty committeemen and shoy you up."

Percy A. Speer, business manager of the Passaic Herald, which Bremner owned, submitted an affidavit telling of a visit to Bremner in the hospital when Miss Nash asked him to get her a hypodermic outfit and some drug which he thought was strychnine. The affidavit ran:

"I was in the room when Robert Bremner informed Miss Nash it was best that she leave and he would be leaving the hospital soon. She objected violently. She said it did not matter as her mother would not have anything to do with her. She said to Mr. Bremner: 'You know, Bob Bremner, what I can do to you and I will do it.'"

As a result of this remark, thea ffidavit said, all the morphine was removed from that floor of the hospital by order of the physicians in charge.

Miss Nash contends that she nursed Bremner almost constantly from Sept. 11, 1911, when she met him in a sanitarium, to the time of his death; that at his request she broke her engagement to marry so that she might be constantly with him, and that in return he promised to pay her $150 a month as long as she lived.

In his will Bremner did not mention Miss Nash, but divided his Herald stock between his widow and brother. Miss Nash explains that Bremner objected to naming her, but renewed his oral pledge in the presence of his brother.

Vice Chancellor Griffin said he could see no reason for restraining Leith Bremner from disposing of his stock, but would take the papers and reserve decision.

PUBLIC SCHOOL FOR MAIDS.

Montclair Begins Household Course with Tea and Coffee Making.

Special to The New York Times.

MONTCLAIR, N. J., Jan. 14.—The School for Housemaids, the first in a public school in this country, opened today in the Central Primary Building. Twenty-eight girls, twelve of them negroes, attended, and two women brought their maids in automobiles and paid the $2 fee which is exacted from each pupil for materials.

There will be twelve lessons on succeeding Thursday afternoons by Miss Alice Hanson of the Domestic Science Department of the Montclair Schools.

Miss Hanson gave instruction today in the preparation of tea and coffee, and the girls were enthusiastic after they had grasped the idea that making good tea or coffee is a scientific task.

WOULD RAISE SPEED LIMIT.

Jersey Auto Commissioner Would Also Imprison Drunken Drivers.

Special to The New York Times.

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 14.—Raise the speed limit to prevent habitual lawbreaking by automobile drivers, advises Job H. Lippincott, Motor Vehicle Commissioner, in his annual report, made public today. He believes that New Jersey might well follow the lead of New York and make the maximum thirty miles in open country and fifteen miles in cities and towns. The limit now is twenty-five and twelve miles.

Mr. Lippincott also advises an amendment to make the penalty for operating a machine while intoxicated a minimum fine of $200, or imprisonment, or both, for the first offense, and imprisonment for further infractions.

$2,363,335 GROWTH IN KENNEDY TRUSTS

INCREASE FOR FIVE YEARS

$104,449 from Standard Oil Stock Paid to Legatees--Philanthropist's Estate Worth $67,137,735.

The accounting by the executors of the trust estates created for the benefit of seven nieces and nephews under the will of John S. Kennedy, the philanthropist, shows that the estates now total $7,241,029, an increase of $2,363,335 over the $4,877,694, the appraised valuation at the time of Mr. Kennedy's death, on Oct. 31, 1909. Under the care of the trustees, William S. and Robert E. Tod, nephews, and Robert W. de Forest, friend of the testator, the estates have flourished in all departments.

An item in the accounting shows that from Standard Oil stock alone $104,449 in cash has been paid to the legatees and that the extraordinary stock dividends declared by various Standard companies since the dissolution of the Standard Oil Trust have increased the principal of the estates in an aggregate amount of $97,206. This latter sum is set aside with the principal of the estates, to be divided equally among Columbia University, the Presbyterian Hospital, the Metropolitan Museum of Art, and the New York Public Library if the beneficiaries die without leaving children.

The report shows that from Dec. 17, 1912, the date of the last accounting, to Dec. 1, 1914, the estates have grown as follows: William S. Tod, appraised valuation $1,786,344, with a present valuation of $2,447,344, and $187,000, paid out in cash; Marion G. Tod, appraised valuation $477,873, with a present valuation of $908,553, and $63,000 paid out in cash; David A. Tod, appraised valuation $552,655, with a present valuation of $908,334, and $63,000 pair out in cash; David A. Tod, appraised valuation $540,413, with a present valuation of $908,312 and $63,000 paid out in cash; Julia B. Wilson, appraised valuation $614,693, with a present valuation of $908,111 and $63,000 paid out in cash; Mabel K. Sinclair, appraised valuation $655,605, with a present valuation of $893,191 and $60,500 paid out in cash, and Mary Anne Nimmo Smith, appraised valuation $250,000, with a present valuation of $267,184 and $17,400 paid out in cash.

All the estates came from the residue of Mr. Kennedy's estate, which was appraised at $67,137,735, about $30,000,000 of which went to charitable, religious, and educational institutions. Mr. Kennedy's widow, Mrs. Emma B. Kennedy, received about $17,000,000, the city house at 6 West Fifty-seventh Street, and the Bar Harbor home.

OUSTS STANDEES AT MOVIES

Gibbs Gets Seat for Himself by Posing as Fire Inspector.

Elwood Gibbs, an engineer in one of the Interborough power houses, strolled from his home, 130 St. Ann's Avenue, the Bronx, to the Crescent Moving Picture Theatre, 596 East 134th Street, last evening, paid his 5 cents and entered to find there were no seats to be had and some fifty-odd men and women standing. Not at all put out, Gibbs summoned the owner, Patrick Meehan, and said:

"I can't let you have all these standees. You'll have to find seats for them or put them out."

"Yes, Sir," said Meehan, wondering who Gibsb might be, and put most of the fifty out.

"Is it all right, Sir!" he asked then.

"Well, there are still three standing besides myself," said Gibbs. "Better get 'em all out."

"Is is all right now, Sir?"

Gibbs agreed that it was and settled down to enjoy the show until Meehan asked him who he was and for credentials. Gibbs said he was an Inspeccor of the Bureau of Fire Prevention, but had forgotten his badge, and started to leave. Meehan, suspicious at last, grabbed him. Gibbs broke away and ran, but a policeman got him. In Night Court Magistrate McQuade fined him $5, which he paid.

By AUSTIN WEST.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

ROME, Jan. 14, (Dispatch to The London Daily Chronicle.)—The toll of death from the earthquake which shook central Italy yesterday morning was estimated late tonight at 20,000.

In addition there are thousands of injured—how many can only be conjectured.

The work of rescue, begun immediately after the catastrophe, continues feverishly, and is constantly being rewarded by the release of entombed victims, nearly all of whom are more or less seriously injured. Often the rescuers are guided in their work by the cries of the victims.

King Victor Emanuel and the Duke and Duchess of Aosta have started on a tour of the stricken towns and villages. The King today superintended the rescue work at Avezzano, where the greatest loss of life occurred. At the time of the earthquake the King was busy in his study at his suburban villa. He went to reassure Queen Helena and the royal children, who were greatly alarmed by the disturbance.

Avezzano an Immense Tomb.

The seismic upheaval was general throughout the territorial divisions of Latium and Campania and in the Abruzzi Mountain regions. Of the 20,000 dead—that is the newspaper Il Secolo's estimate—more than half were killed outright in one town, Avezzano. There, out of a population of 11,279, there are only 800 survivors, and a majority of these are injured and buried under the ruins. In the Avezzano barracks nearly a whole company of the Thirteenth Infantry Regiment lost their lives. Practically the whole town was destroyed.

An official report from the neighboring town of Ajello, in Cosenza Province, says that about 1,000 victims are entombed there. Sora mourns 500 dead and a number of the smaller towns about 200 each, while Cappodocia, amid the romantic Aquila scenery, and Balsorano, midway between the destroyed towns of Sora and Avezzano, shared a similar doom. There is not a house in the city of Aquila that has not been wrecked or severely damaged. The cathedrals at Subiaco, Atri, and Teramo, besides the celebrated Benedictine Abbey at Monte Cassino, all suffered, as did the observatory at the last-named place.

Details of the disaster in the outlying districts continued to trickle in very slowly. This is because of the severe wintry weather and the extensive breakdown in telegraphic and telephonic communication. Nearly all of the stricken districts report that the first and main shock was followed by two shocks less severe. The disturbance lasted fully half a minute, and, like the appalling catastrophe at Messina in 1908, it occurred without the slightest warning even on the seismic instruments.

Ruins Dot Countryside.

The worst destruction happened in Avezzano and among the other Appenine towns and villages between Rome and the Adriatic coast. Forty bodies have been recovered at Tagliacozzo. There also several hundred people were injured. The railway station and bridges and a large number

WILSON ENCOURAGES SUFFRAGE LEADERS

WOMEN TAKE NEW TACK

Congressional Union Now Trying to Bring Local Pressure to Bear on Senators.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—A delegation of women, representing the National Suffrage Organization, talked with President Wilson today in regard to the effort to grant the voting franchise to women in New Jersey, and came away with the belief that the President would indorse the proposal, according to Dr. Anna Howard Shaw. It was said at the White House, however, that the President had given no expression of opinion to the delegation and that anything that he had told Dr. Shaw and the others was of a non-committal character.

Dr. Shaw was accompanied to the White House by Mrs. Medill McCormick of Chicago, Chairman of the Congressional Committee, and Mrs. Winston Churchill of Cornish, N. H., a member of the National Campaign Committee of the Suffrage Association. Dr. Shaw made this statement.

Our representatives from the National American Woman Suffrage Association were most graciously and cordialy received by President Wilson this morning. A year ago, when members of the National Association called upon the President to enlist his support for our national amendment he very frankly stated that the question of woman suffrage was, in his judgment, a matter for the States, and he has consistently maintained and reiterated this attitude of mind on many subsequent interviews.

We did not speak with the President at all this morning upon his attitude toward suffrage as a national issue, but only in relation to the State of New Jersey, where the Democratic Party, as well as all other parties, have indorsed the submission of the woman suffrage amendment, which is now before the Legislature, and if passed will be submitted to the voters for a vote on the 12th of next September.

The President was greatly interested in our statement of the situation in New Jersey, and he confessed that he had been so taken up with national affairs that he had not kept in touch with the status of the suffrage movement in his home State, and agreed that the advance of suffrage was so rapid that it was difficult to keep pace with it. We have come away from our interview with the distinct impression that very shortly the President will come out with a statement favorable to suffrage in the State of New Jersey.

Democrats do not expect the President to make any stand in the New Jersey fight.

The Congresisonal Union favoring woman suffrage is now directing its efforts toward arousing suffrage sentiment in the States of particular Senators, with a view to inducing their support for the constitutional amendment, as introduced by Senator Bristow of Kansas. A mass meeting in Cooper Union to impress Senators Root and O'Gorman will be arranged by Miss Doris Stevens, who will open headquarters in New York.

CREDITOR JUDGE IN GAS SUIT

Court Holds Keppenheimer's Interest in Case Not Disqualifying.

Special to The New York Times.

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 14.—George L. Record, special counsel for the people of Paterson and Passaic, failed today to convince the Court of Errors and Appeals that Judge Ernest J. Keppenheimer is disqualified to pass on the 90-cent gas suit against the Public Service Corporation.

Mr. Record showed that Keppenheimer had a salary of $10,000 a year as President of the Colonial Life Insurance Company which held $200,000 of Public Service securities; that he was a director of the Colonial Life & Trust Co., which had $1,180,600 similarly invested; that two directors o fthe Colonial Life were Public Service directors, and that nearly all the Colonial directors were directors of banks that held Public Service bonds.

It was also shown that the Judge's brother, Gen. William C. Keppenheimer was President of the Trust Company of New Jersey, a big holder of Service securities, and also a Public Service director.

After forty-five minutes' deliberation Chancellor Walker announced the unanimous decision of the Court that Keppenheimer's interest in the Service Corporation was that of a creditor and not disqualifying.

President McCarter of the Service Corporation has testified that 90-cent gas would depreciate the value of the Corporation's bonds and stock.

TANNER REFUSES A PLUM.

Declines $50,000 Appointment in Wendel Estate Appraisement.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Jan. 14.—Republican State Chairman Frederick C. Tanner before leaving the Capitol tonight refused an appointment offered him by Controller Travis, which, it is estimated, would have netted from $50,000 to $70,000 in fees and would not have interfered with his private law practice. Mr. Tanner was asked to act as special counsel to the Controller in the appraisal of the estate of John G. Wendel, the millionaire, who died about five weeks ago, leaving real estate in New York City worth from $50,000,000 to $70,000,000.

After this appointment had been refused by Mr. Tanner, it was given to Francis Winslow, a lawyer of White Plains, who is active in the affairs of the Republican organization of Westchester County.

Controller Travis also announced that George J. Gillespie, a close friend of Charles F. Murphy, the Tammany leader, had been deposed as special counsel to the Controller in the appraisal of the J. Pierpont Morgan estate because in the Controller's opinion progress had not been fast enough in the appraisal. The appointment, which, it is estimated, will yield about $25,000 in fees, was given to John W. Hutchinson, a New York lawyer.

ALIEN BILL ADVANCED.

Senate Adopts Conference Report—House to Take It Up Today.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—The way was prepared today for the President's final decision on the Immigration bill when the Senate, without discussion and without dissent, adopted the conference report adjusting the differences between the two houses. Representative Burnett will call up the report in the House tomorrow, and it is expected that favorable action will be taken, without opposition.

The agreement of the conferees retains the literacy test, to which the President has expressed opposition. But it dropped out the two Senate amendments—one excluding negroes from the country and the other exempting Belgian farmers from the literacy test. The elimination of the negro amendment removes the only source of real difference between the houses, and also obviates what might have been a further reason for the President's possible recourse to the veto.

TO LICENSE COMSTOCK

But Vice Crusader Must Show That Milk He Sells Is Pure.

Special to The New York Times.

SUMMIT, N. J., Jan. 14.—Anthony Comstock, head of the Society for the Suppression of Vice, lives in Beekman Road, Summit, and he is the owner of a cow which gives more milk a day than is needed in the Comstock household, and he sells the surplus to his neighbors.

The Board of Health ordinance says that no person shall sell, deliver, or distribute milk or cream without first obtaining from the Board of Health a license, and Mr. Comstock has applied for his license. The ordinances say further that every milk dealer must have a sterilizing apparatus. The Board of Health will soon make an inspection of all dairy premises, and if by that time Mr. Comstock has not installed a sterilizer he may have to give up his milk business.

TEN HEAD HUNTERS HELD.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MANILA, Jan. 14.—Kalinga headhunters made a raid on a village in the Bontoc country, taking one Filipino head, on Dec. 26. Ten men were captured on Tuesday, and they are believed to be the perpetrators of the raid. Lieut. Tiffany of the constabulary has captured a Moro outlaw suspected of the Schucks murder.

The Assembly has approved the franchise of the first railroad exclusively of Filipino capital and management. It runs sixty kilometres in the Province of Negros Occidental.

The Bontoc country lies due north of Manila, in the Island of Luzon, about 200 miles. The Kalinga sub-province lies just to the east of Bontoc.

DIVORCES H. C. BARBER.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Jan. 14.—Mrs. Elsie Mabelle Barber, formerly Miss Porter of Jersey City, obtained a divorce in the Divorce Court here today from her husband, Horatio Claude Barber, a well-to-do stock broker.

The marriage took place in Jersey City on May 27, 1903. The couple lived in America and Greece. The wife obtained a decree for the restitution of conjugal rights last April, with which the husband failed to comply.

of houses were wrecked in the neighboring town of Bussi, and Cucculo is said to have been razed. At Sulmona, the birthplace of Ovid, the roof of the fine Church of San Domenico collapsed, as did the barracks, and a number of soldiers were killed.

Immense damage was done also at Magliano and Capellè. Caserta, in the Province of Campania, likewise suffered heavily. There are ten dead and 150 wounded at Siola Del Lirimany. At Cassino and Péscas Olida also there were many casualties. The Ceccano Cathedral in the Province of Rome crumbled to dust. At Monte Rotondo, where the Duke of Aosta has gone to render assistance, the sixteenth century tower of the town hall, 150 feet high, crashed down, killing a professor and two collegians. The domes of the principal churches of Zagarola and Pagliano in the Alban Hills have fallen, and a similar fate has overtaken the prefecture at Frosinone. Torre Cajetani and Cittaducale are almost wholly destroyed.

Damage Done in Rome.

In Rome, which long had been regarded as immune from catastrophic shocks, no fewer than fifty palaces and churches were damaged. The giant marble Apostle, which was precipitated from the top of the façade of the Lateran Cathedral, killing a worshipper, turns out strangely enough to be Judas Iscariot. At St. Peter's, the image of the Redeemer, thirty feet high, which crowns the terrace front looking toward the vast piazza, was split in twain, and inside the biggest church in Christendom 150 windows were smashed, including forty-five high up in its world-famed dome. Part of the ancient Claudian Aqueduct also collapsed.

In Rome, Michael Angelo's famous gateway at Ponta del Popolo is torn asunder and the ancient Church of Saint Agatha of Goths, founded by the first German invaders of Rome, is in a perilous condition. The walls of the celebrated Church of San't Andrea Delle Frate are badly cracked. The cupola of the Church of San Carlo has been forced into a leaning position.

At the Basilica of St. Paul's, Outside the Walls, where the great Apostle lies buried, his marble cross was thrown into the road and the splendid mosaics in the apse were rudely split. Two enormous ornamental balls, each weighing 200 pounds, rolled from the roof. The frontage of the Ministry of Posts and Telegraphs was considerably damaged. At the Chamber of Deputies the glass roof descended, burying the tables where the Cabinet ministers were wont to sit.

There is no abnormal activity noticeable in the volcano of Mount Vesuvius, but several craters of extinct volcanoes near Pozzuoli and Sulphur Wells, in the Neapolitan district, are showing signs of renewed life.

TAKE OUT 450 SORA DEAD.

Entire City Tumbled Down—Second Shock There and in Rome.

ROME, Jan. 14.—A further distinct earthquake was felt in Rome about 3 o'clock this morning. In several quarters of the city the people fled from their houses.

At Sora, sixty miles southeast of Rome, in the Province of Caserta, another shock occurred today. The populace, panic-striken, fled to the open country. The town, which had a population of 20,000, was almost entirely destroyed by the quake yesterday. About two-thirds of the houses collapsed under the shock and others, which were cracked, tumbled down later. Rossi Palace fell in, burying twenty laborers who were working in the courtyard. Among the victims in Sora are many of the town authorities and persons of note in the district. Late today 450 bodies already had been recovered from the wreckage in Sora. There are large numbers of injured there.

Dispatches from Ancona say that a heavy storm raged yesterday along the Adriatic coast. There was also a heavy fall of snow. Naples reports a strong tidal wave yesterday in the Gulf of Gaeta, accompanied by seismic disturbances on shore. Venice telegraphs of very cold weather in the Alps, with the snow in deep drifts.

The list of dead, dying, and injured was officially estimated today at 50,000. The full extent of the property loss has not yet been determined. Here in Rome priceless statues, century-old buildings, and structures that for years have been the Mecca of all visitors, have been destroyed or injured.

Though the loss of life, and possibly the amount of damage, may be smaller than it was in 1908, the area of the disturbance greatly exceeds the Mesoina Earthquake, and covers the whole central portion of Italy, extending from aples on the South to Ferrara on the orth.

The earthquake belt is estimated to be about 300 miles long, and extends practically from one side of Italy to the other. In Abruzzi, Latium and Campania the quake reached its highest degree, described by scientists as "catastrophic," and in other places it varied between the seventh and the tenth degrees.

Relief measures for the thousands of persons who have succeeded in escaping from their collapsing homes in safety but are in want and without shelter are going ahead with all possible speed. Special trains have been dispatched carrying physicians and nurses, and government officials have been ordered to provide all necessaries for the stricken people.

Relief committees in each locality that has been stricken are being organized, to work under the direction and in co-operation with the central committee in Rome that is under the supervision of Premier Salandra.

The military has been rushed to the scene, and have established tent colonies in which the homeless thousands may find temporary shelter.

Lines of communication, especially railroad tracks and telephone and telegraph wires, have been interrupted seriously throughout the entire earthquake belt, and the transportation of supplies furnished by the Government and private sources is going forward by automobile and horse-drawn wagons. The roads are covered with a heavy fall of snow.

In every stricken section temporary hospitals have been established, and to these have gone nurses and doctors to care for the injured. The list includes the Duchess of Aosta, who has gone to Monteroduni as a nurse.

Pope Benedict is awaiting a report from Mgr. Sagni, Archbishop of Aquila, on the gravity of the situation and the probable los sof life. He has expressed a desire to go to the devastated district if his presence is necessary to encourage and comfort the distressed.

The anxiety concerning the Province of Potenza seems unnecessary as the latest reports say that while the earthquake damaged buildings there it caused no loss of life. The greatest injury occurred in the villages around the extinguished valcano Vulture.

Direceor Friedlander of the International Volcanological Institute at Naples says the origin of the earthquake is eological and not volcanic, with its epicentrum in the valley of the Garigliano River. The registration of the earthquake at the Observatory lasted for forty seconds and was so violent that the needles broke.

Every train arriving from the Department of the Abruzzi brings hundreds of injured. The refugees are received at the station by the municipal authorities and distributed among hospitals and private houses. Every hospital in Rome was filled o its capacity early in the day

Prince Colonna, the Mayor of Rome, placed at the disposal of refugees esveral hotels, where food and lodging will be furnished at the expense of the city.

Medical men are beginning to talk of the possibility of epidemics among those who escaped. A very large number of people fled from the stricken area and will have to spend some time without adequate shelter. They undoubtedly will suffer from exposure and from lack of food.

The towns of Avezzano, Cappelle, Magliano, Marse, Massadalbe, Collarmele, Cerchio, Celano, Lelli, Paterno, San Felino, Giosmarsi, Sourcola, Capistrello, Antrosano, and Castronovme have been practically destroyed by the earthquake.

Pescina, Ortonamarsi, San Benedetto, Ortucchio, Cocullo, Disegna, Balsorano, Canistro, Civitelladantno, Castellafiumi, Pagliotra, and Sorbo sustained serious damage.

Tagliacozzo, Ovuedoli, Cappadoccia, Santi Marie, Poggio Filippo, San Donato, San Stefano, Rocacerro, Carsoli, Peraoluco, and Trasacco were all more or less damaged. Every one of these towns shows a casualty list.

At Arpino, thirty miles south of Avezzano, 40 persons were killed and 110 wounded. The Cicero Tower at Arpino, in memory of the great Roman orator born there, collapsed as a result of the earth shock.

Late reports say there are 50 dead at Torre Caetani and 20 at Vitalago, and that in the valley of the River Garagliano there are about 200 victims. At Sassa 5 persons were killed and 40 wounded; at Popoli, 2 killed; Antrosano, 7 killed and 30 pounded; Cocullo, 9 killed; Picenze, 10 killed, and Bussi, 6 killed.

KING HELPS AT AVEZZANO.

Mounts Ruins and Directs Rescue—Many Heart-Rending Scenes.

ROME, Jan. 14.—King Victor Emmanuel arrived at Avezzano this afternoon by motor car. He inspected the ruins and watched the work of rescue being carried on by the troops with the assistance of civilians. The persons most seriously wounded are being attended at Avezzano. The others are brought to Rome.

While the King was making his rounds of the ruins he reached a spot where workmen were endeavoring to extricate a child buried in the débris. The King mounted a pile of fallen masonry and superintended the rescue. At that time 200 bodies and 160 injured persons had been taken out of the ruins in Avezzano.

Among the victims of the disaster there are the Sub-Prefect and his family, all the members af the Sub-Prefacture; all the members of the Government and municipal services, ninety-five Caribineers, and Signor Cerri, an ex-member of the Chamber of Deputies.

When King Victor Emmanuel left Rome for Avezzona he was quite without escort, with the exception of Gen. Brusati. He wished to come upon the scene unexpectedly so that he might gain accurate impressions of what was being done to relieve the suffering.

Before leaving Rome the King was reminded of the international situation, it being thought that this might keep him in Rome. To this suggestion the King replied: "The sufferings of my people are nearer my heart than anything else."

The survivors at Avezzano are in a pitiable condition. Hardly one is without relatives in the ruins of the town buried under the wreckage of their homes. The streets of the city are nothing more than huge piles of stone and brick. Through this the rescuers dig wherever they have reason to believe they may find survivors. Their work is enormously difficult.

In the early hours of the disaster many heart-rendering scenes were witnessed. Survivors dug hastily into heaps of plaster and stone, often stained with blood. The gruesome search was only too often successful. In many instances survivors fainted as their dead were brought to light amid the ruins of the home.

"I can best describe Avezzano by calling it an immense cemetery," one refugee said. "From the ruins of the College for Young Women we heard a frantic appeal for help. 'There are 140 of us still alive here; help us quickly.' Soldiers and civilians rushed to the scenes, and when I left were doing their best to cut a way through the ruins."

It is said that 400 soldiers were in the barracks at Avezzano when it collapsed, and that only four of them escaped.

Some of the survivors are in a condition of utter collapse. They do not seem to be aware of the extent of the visitation.

The weather at Avezanno is clear and cold.

Fifty persons came from Carsoli, headed by the Mayor, and rendered first aid at Avezzano. They succored at least twenty injured.

An employe of the municipality of Avezzano who was in the street when the shock came, said that it seemed as if everything fell to pieces at once. An immense cloud of dust arose from the ruins and completely veiled the sky. The few uninjured survivors assembled in Porlonia Square and presently began the first feeble efforts at rescue.

A young Italian driver who left Avezzano a few minutes before the earthquake gave a brief account of his experiences when he reached Rome at an early hour this morning. His first intimation of trouble was when the horses drawing his carriage suddenly refused to go any further. They stood trembling. Presently there came a deep rumbling, a sound similar to the roar of a railroad train going over a bridge. Three minutes later the walls of some quarries along the road had crumbled and were lying in dust-covered heaps. From Avezzano came the cries of the frightened people. Amid the roar of falling houses could be heard the voices of women calling on the saints to help them. The city was under a cloud of dust. To the driver it looked as if the earth had opened to emit columns of white smoke.

This young man tried to drive back to Avezzano, but he could make no headway. He and his horses were blinded by the dust. Soon he saw survivors struggling to make their way from the city. Many had sustained injuries and were dragging themselves through the dust and confusion in pitiable plight. Some were so weak they fell by the roadside. The objective of the refugees was the railroad station, which was soon crowded with a half-frantic gathering of men, women, and children. Before the driver left the vicinity organized efforts were being made to convey the most severely wounded to nearby hospitals.

A passenger on a train which was thrown from the track by the earthquake said:

"Our train was near Lake Fucino. There was a shock of great violence, followed by three others. The train was thrown off the rails and many of the passengers were injured. I climbed out of the train and gazed around on the lake and the surrounding mountains. Where there had been towns I could merely see enormous whirlwinds of dust and smoke. Apparently the towns existed no longer."

Where the Earthquake Killed Thousands

QUEEN ILL, DIRECTS RELIEF.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

ROME, Jan. 14.—After an agitated night, throughout which slight earthquake shocks kept the people in a continued state of wakefulness, Romans today took up their usual avocations, but were ready to drop their work at a moment's notice and rush for safety into the open.

In the Department of Abruzzi, the centre of the disaster, the conditions are heartrending and discouraging, owing to the difficulties of communication. For many hours wounded and dead alike have remained under the débris. From the ruins come continual lamentations and occasionaly agonizing calls for help, which the people on the spot often are powerless to relieve. As at Messina, many children survive whose families were entirely destroyed.

King Victor Emmanuel already is at the scene of the greatest havoc—Avezzano—encouraging the efforts to save lives from the ruins. The Queen, who recently gave birth to a child and is still confined to her bed, is constantly giving orders for the purchase of clothing for the refugees and arranging for housing the destitute. She would have risen and herself gone to Avezzano and the surrounding towns, but was forbidden by her horrified physician. The King siad to an intimate: "It is hard that she should be kept from a duty which she is eager to perform."

One remarkable feature of the earthquake is the large number of churches severely damaged. The Pope has sent instructions to the clergy for the distribution of food and the opening of convents and monasteries to receive refugess. Where churches are unstable, temporary altars are to be erected in safe places

Stories coming from the country reveal many remarkable episodes. One couple were left by the earthquake crouching in a doorway at the second story in a wall. They were surrounded by ruins and they could not be reached with a ladder, as the wall was rocking. Eventually they jumped on a pile of mattresses, the man breaking an arm and the woman a leg. The wall collapsed fifteen minutes later.

In many cases only one member of a family survives—often to abject poverty, the property of the family being absolutely destroyed.

The arrival of the refugees and wounded in Rome strongly recalls the days of the Messina disaster—women half dazed, children crying from hunger, men often unconscious from wounds. Fortunately, the disaster did not occur at night, so the refugees are clothed. The hospitals are overflowing. Public assistance has been generous and abundant.

Avezzano, the centre of the havoc wrought, was famous in the Middle Ages for a castle built by the powerful Orsine family. It was more famous in modern times for the palace built by the munificent Prince Torlonia, who accomplished from there one of the most philanthropic and colossal works fo the last century—draining Lake Fucino, thirty-seven miles in circumference and sixty-five feet deep. The lake is now transformed into rich, cultivated land.

ASKS AID FOR SUFFERERS.

American Red Cross Will Forward Contributions to Italy.

The New York office of the American Red Cross, 130 East Twenty-second Street, under instructions from national headquarters in Washington, issued a notice yesterday that it was prepared to receive, for the Italian Red Cross, contributions to be applied to the relief of the earthquake suffers of Italy. The notice read:

"The numbers rendered homeless by the Messina earthquake in 1908 were upward of 60,000, and the American public responded in relief by raising the munificent sum of approximately $1,000,000 through the American Red Cross. This went far toward relieving the distress. Now there is another opportunity for the charitable givers of the United States, who include many thousands of Italians of our population, to help relieve the thousands rendered homeless yesterday.

"The American Red Cross would be glad to forward funds to the Italian Red Cross for those requiring aid at Avezzano, Caserta, and other places in the earthquake district. Contributions may be sent to Jacob H. Schiff, Treasurer of the New York State Board, at 52 William Street, or the Red Cross office, 130 East Twenty-second Street."

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—The American Red Cross announced today that it would be glad to receive at its headquarters here contributions for the Italian earthquake sufferers, and would forward such money through the State Department to the proper officials in Italy. As there is a well-organized Italian Red Cross, it was said that the American society would not send nurses or doctors, unless requested to do so. None of the workers on the battlefields could be so employed, however, it was said.

FELT IN SWITZERLAND, TOO.

Earthquake Causes Disastrous Avalanches—Heavy Fall of Snow.

GENEVA, Jan. 14.—Earth shocks were felt in the Mont Blanc mountain range and also in the Swiss and Italian Alps along the frontier yesterday morning. They caused huge avalanches, which isolated the Alpine villages and hamlets and destroyed the forests.

From five to seven feet of snow fell on the Bernina, Splugen and St. Cotthard Passes while the snow is three feet deep in the Engadine.

Shocks also were experienced in the Piedmont towns and villages, but the damages cannot be learned as the telegroph wires are down. Slight shocks were felt even in the Tyrolese Alps

ST. CLAIR JURY 8 TO 4.

Couldn't Agree After Actress's Long Perjury Trial.

Twelve tired looking jurymen who for nearly a month have been hearing testimony at the perjury trial of Edith St. Clair walked into the Criminal Term of the Supreme Court yesterday morning and reported that after eighteen hours' deliberation they were unable to agree on a verdict. Justice Davis discharged them and continued Miss St. Clair on $3,500 bail. Benjamin Slade, her counsel, said he would be glad of another opportunity to prove her innocence, but it is doubtful if Miss St. Clair will be tried again.

It is understood that the jury stood eight to four for acquittal. The trial cost the county $10,000, and the proceedings before the trial cost another $10,000, it is estimated. Miss St. Clair was indicted following her repudiation of an affidavit in which she said that her testimony in a civil suit against Abraham L. Erlanger for breach of contract was false and that Max D. Steuer, her lawyer, induced her to testify. Her defense was that she did not know the contents of the affidavit and that Mr. Erlanger, William Travers Jerome, and several theatrical agents conspired to get her to bring charges against Steuer.

BLUECOAT WANTS HER BACK

Lieut. McConville and Wife Both in Tears at Separation Hearing.

Police Lieut. Bernard McConville testified before Supreme Court Justice Giegerich yesterday in the separation suit brought against him by his wife. While he was telling the story of his family troubles his wife wept bitterly and her daughters sought by many endearments to soothe her.

The Lieutenant said he would be glad to have her return to her home and the children, too. In answer to a question he admitted that he was often at fault because he was suffering from gastritis. Then he said that he forgave every member of his family for all that had been done and added:

"I don't want to break up our home. I want all of us to keep together as long as possible. All that I ask is that they treat men with respect."

The Lieutenant wiped his eyes with his handkerchief and appeared to be greatly affected. The case will be continued to-day.

SHOOTS HIS WIFE, THEN KILLS HIMSELF

Mrs. Smith Begged Husband to Spare Her on Account of Their Children.

WOULDN'T GO BACK TO HIM

Real Estate Agent Fired Twice at Woman in Harlem Whom He Had Neglected for Another.

Edward Smith, a real estate agent of 915 Fox Street, the Bronx, killed himself yesterday afternoon after shooting his wife twice. Mrs. Smith was taken to the Polyclinic Hospital and her condition was said to be serious. She and her husband separated nearly a year ago after a quarrel over Smith's attentions to another woman.

Smith shot his wife shortly after 4 o'clock in her apartment on the top floor of a house at 123 West 128th Street where Mrs. Smith, her two children and her mother, Mrs. Ellen Ryder, lived. The shooting followed many attempts on Smith's part to bring about a reconciliation. The husband had called at the house every day for the last three days to urge his wife to live with him again, and she refused each time.

After the shooting, Mrs. Smith, who was conscious for a long time, told the police of the crime. She said that she noticed when Smith called yesterday that there was a wild light in his eye and she became frightened. He asked her to return to him, she said, and she refused.

Her mother was in the room at the time and her 8-year-old son Robert, who had just returned from school and had his books under his arm, was standing beside his mother. When she told Smith that her refusal was final "because of the way he had treated her," Mrs. Smith said, her husband drew a revolver from his pocket and shouted:

"If you won't live with me, you won't live at all!"

"You're not going to shoot me, Ed!" Mrs. Smith said she cried. "Don't, for the sake of the children."

She said that her husband pointed the revolver at her and she, realizing that he was desperate and really meant to shoot, thrust her little boy away from her side. Then there was a flash and she felt pain in her chest. She rose and started toward the door and Smith fired again, the bullet striking her in the left side of her thigh. Mrs. Ryder, her mother, had run to her by this time and she fell into her arms. Mrs. Ryder supported the inured woman out of the room and down to the next floor. On the way down, Mrs. Ryder said later, Mrs. Smith was moaning, "O, he shot me. I shall die; he has shot me." These exclamations were loud enough to be heard by Smith, other tenants who had run to their doors on hearing the sots, asserted, and a moment later a third shot was heard.

Mrs. Jane McLeod, who occupies an apartment on the floor below that of Mrs. Smith, was at her door when Mrs. Ryder arrived with her injured daughter, and Mrs. Smith was carried into the McLeod apartment. One of the tenants on learning what had happened ran to the street and called for a policeman. Policeman Dallard of the West 123d Street station was standing on the corner and ran to the house. He summoned an ambulance from Harlem Hospital and went to the top floor to find Smith. He found the husband lying dead on the floor, his revolver clutched tightly in his hand. The policeman found that Smith had put the revolver in his mouth when he fired.

When the ambulance arrived a few minutes later Dr De Palma said that Mrs. Smith was in a serious condition. She was removed to the hospital, where she told her story to Detectives Caputo and Mancini of the Third District. Mrs. Ryder brought Mrs. Smith's son and her 10-year-old daughter, Ellen, who had been at school at the tim eof the accident, to the Harlem Hospital, and, against the advice of the physicians, insisted on sending her daughter to the Polyclinic Hospital, in eWst Fiftieth Street.

While Mrs. Ryder and the children were away from the 128th Street apartment after the shooting and a policeman was in charge pending the removal of the body of Smith, a woman came to the house and said she was Smith's sister. She told the policeman she wanted to remove the body and was sent to the police station for authority. An undertaker's ambulance called later for the body and it was removed.

At Smith's home in the Bronx last night it was said that he had lived there with his mother and sister, Mrs. Emily Torrington, whose husband was a moving picture actor and was killed in an automobile accident last year. His mother was prostrated on hearing of the shooting and would see no one.

FALLS FROM WINDOW KILL 2.

Man Plunges from Fifteenth Floor of Corn Exchange Building.

The breaking of the safety belts of two window cleaners resulted yesterday in their falling from lofty buildings and being killed.

John Tylutlisi, of 89 Murray Street, was at work in the afternoon in the law offices of Erwin, Fried & Czaki, on the fifteenth floor of the Corn Exchange Building, 15 William Street. He lost his balance and as the strain came on his belt, it snapped and he fell into the court. A wire screen at the third floor failed to stop his body which crashed through the sky-light over the first floor and fell on the desk of William E. Gilbert, in the office of N. L. Carpenter & Co., stock brokers.

MORMONS CONTROL 8 SUFFRAGE STATES

Mrs. Frank J. Goodwin Tells Antis Vote Was Won by an Active Minority.

A SAD CHANGE IN WOMEN

Aeolian Hall Audience Gives $2,000 and Pledges Much More to Fight Movement This Year.

A large and prosperous looking audience gathered at Aeolian Hall last night for a meeting under the auspices of the New York State Association Opposed to Woman's Suffrage. The meeting was advocated as "the first big gun" in the campaign to defeat woman suffrage in this year's four campaign States—New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, and Massachusetts. As far as could be judged from the applause at statements made by the speakers, about one-fifth of those present were suffragists.

They had their opportunity at the end of the meeting when several questions on various topics were asked and answered. One of the speakers was interrupted once, but in general the metting was orderly. An organ recital by Irving Geller preceded the speeches.

Miss Alice Hill Chittenden, President of the State Association, who presided, said that if the opponents of suffrage were defeated next November they would abide by the decision. "And if we win," she added, "we shall rest; and, faith, we shall need it."

Mrs. Frank J. Goodwin, the first speaker, said that woman suffrage had been secured in the Western States, not by pouular demand, but by the activity of a minority. She said the Mormons were largely responsible in Idaho and Utah, and she said that eight of the nine States which are said to be controlled by the Mormon Church have woman suffrage. Then she turned to feminism, which, she said, was not the sweet, easy elevation of womanhood which many suffragists believe, but the demand of restless, discontented, unhappy women for greater economic and social independence and for freedom to interpret the question of motherhood as they see fit.

She referred to various writers, among them Ellen Key, of whom she spoke as "the noblest exponent of feminism," in support of this view. The leaders of the feminist movement in the United States she, characterized as "unbalanced."

"There is a sad and sorrowful change in the nature of woman today," said Mrs. Goodwin. "The desire is not only for the vote, but for political power, and the suffragists would help this world along on stepping stones of smirched and stained womanhood. For if you throw a single teaspoonful of mud at a woman, it sticks and stains. Women are also becoming less religious. Moreover, there is a change in the nature of man—a loss of the sense of responsibility. The world is built on woman's maternal instinct and man's protective instinct, and it is this protective instinct which we are asked to cast to the winds."

Miss Minnie Bronson, General Secretary of the National Association Opposed to Woman's Suffrage, said that suffrage was a receding, not a rising, wave, and ridiculed the boast that half the area of the United States was now under equal suffrage.

"It is population that votes," she said, "not area. Woman's work is the training of the men who will make the laws. The worst grafter had a mother who found something—perhaps bridge whist or woman's suffrage—more interesting than the training of her child."

The suffragists, she added, teach disobedience to laws which they have not helped make.

Mrs. A. J. George, field secretary of the Massachussetts Association, opposed to Woman's suffrage, told the audience that she had just returned from bearing "eight dreary hours" of debate in the House of Representatives. She shaid the suffrage movement began wrong, for it was founded on sex distrust and sex antagnoism. She referred to the recent editorial in the ew York Times which declared that "our grandfathers are the coming men," and said it was to be hoped that our grandmothers were also the coming women. She mentioned a girl of 18 of her acquaintance who had just joined the suffrage movement because she was "sick and disgusted with men."

"A friend of hers," said Mrs. George, "asked me what I thought ought to be done to cure her. I said I though if she would fall desperately in love it would settle the matter."

Mrs. George declared that in Boston, out of 200,000 women entitled to vote for school officialism only 4,000 had done so at the last election.

In appealing for funds to aid the movement Miss Chittenden denied that there were any interests behind the opposition to suffrage, and said that general contributions were needed to keep up the work. The collection which was taken amounted to about $2,000 in cash and several thousand dollars in pledges.

Among the box holders at the meeting were Mrs. Robert Fulton Cutting, Mrs. William Fahnestock, Mrs. David H. Greer, Mrs. Garrett A. Hobart, Mrs. Herbert L. Satterlee, Mrs. B. Aymar Sands, and Mrs. Everett P. Wheeler.

Spanish War Veterans Praise Police

Copies of resolutions praising Police Commissioner Woods and the entire city administration, passed at a meeting of the Abraham Lincoln Camp, No. 91, of the United Spanish War Veterans, many of whose members include police and firemen, were sent to Mayor Mitchel and Commissioner Woods yesterday. The resolutions condemn recent attacks upon "public officials that have given to the people of this city a clean, economic, efficient, and honest administration of the city's affairs," and they pledge the members to "be ever mindful of the fact that no great army can long exist without discipline and respect for constituted authority."

POST OFFICE TO USE AIRCRAFT FOR MAIL

Two Thousand Aviators to Carry Letters on Routes Already Selected.

ARMY WILL TRAIN FLIERS

Government Officials Make Announcements at Aero Club's Annual Dinner.

An opportunity to put 2,000 American aviators to work flying through the air with sacks of first-class mail over routes that have already been picked out by the United States Postal authorities, was described by Second Assistant Postmaster General Stewart at the annual dinner of the Aero Club of America at the Hotel St. Regis last night. Mr. Stewart declared that it would be the settled policy of the Postal authorities "to knock and knock again at the doors of Congress until the support for the Post Office Department's plan would be forthcoming."

He predicted that a bill authorizing the using of aerial transportation for the mails would pass at the next session of Congress and that within two years the postal aviators would be as commonplace as railway mail clerks are today.

Brig. Gen. George P. Scriven, chief signal officer of the U. S. Army, warmly supported the proposal of Assistant Postmaster General Stewart. He declared that it was the immediate intention of the army and navy forces of the United States to ope an aviation school in Texas to supplement the school already established at San IDego, Cal.; and that the army and navy expected very shortly to have four aerial squadrons. Two of these squadrons, he said, were for use on land, to be equipped with teroplanes while the other two squadrons were for marine service and equipped with hydros.

He urged that aerial equipment be sent as soon as possible to the Philippines and to Panama and Hawaii to "serve as the eyes for any artillery action that in these outlying possessions may become necessary."

"We have reached the conclusion," he said, "that the aeroplane is indispensible as the eyes of the artillery and we can no longer afford to remain indifferent to this branch of the service. But we can't look for more than four squadrons of aerial troops at present. After all, aerial troops would be an auxiliary and we can't make them out of proportion to the general establishment and the general establishment is only a provision for a first line of battle or defense. The call for reserves—always more reserves—sounds through our aeroplane plans as through all our military plans.

"The solution is the preparing of men who may serve as highly trained aerial scouts, but who, until war demands their services, are of use in other lines. The Post Office Department's plans are of great value in just that regard. The army, I am able to say, would gladly co-operate by training aviators for the Postal Service at the army schools; we hope sooo to have four of them. More than that, it is our policy to offer to train all National Guardsmen who may seek to become proficient aviators, and to train civilians up to the capacity of our plant."

A telegram was read from the Panaama-Pacific Exposition management proposing, as a substitute for the race around the world, which was abandoned on account of the war, that there be a three-route transcontinental race for San Francisco with Boston, New York, and Washington as starting points. The proposal was received with applause.

Orville Wright, who was to have been one of the speakers, was detained at his home, it was said, with a bad attack of rheumatism which had made him an invalid.

Henry A. Wise Wood, who acted as toastmaster, read a cablegram from London which gave the endurance record of one biplane used in the war.

"These craft," he said, "are counted as fragile and not able to stand punishment. Yet Biplane 123 flew 11,000 miles, was hit by 180 rifle balls, got the marks of 60 shrapnel shells that burst around it, had 25 wires cut by bullets, had 7 holes shot through the radiator, received an explosive shell from a German aeroplane in the fusilage, and finally was brought to earth after all this experience by shrapnel which burst directly against the engine.

"It proved that an aeroplane in war has only two vital spots—the pilot whose hand is needed to direct it and the engine that keeps it going."

Announcement was made that the Robert J Collier Trophy had been awarded to Elmer A. Sperry and Lawrence B. Sperry for the invention of the Sperry gyroscopic stabilizer.

MUST KEEP SEWER CLEAR.

Floods at Times Square Caused by Deposits of Old Iron.

To protect the property in Times Square from floods occasioned by the overflowing of the sewers, the Public Service Commission wrote yesterday to Borough President Marks, requesting him to forbid the use of the sewers in this district for snow removel.

Alfred Craven, Chief Engineer of the commission, has called attention to the fact that when the sewer in Forty-fifth Street, between Seventh and Eighth Avenues, was cleaned out about July 1, it was found that it contained twenty-two long-handled shovels, sixteen short-handled shovels½ a quantity of heavy chain, four manhole covers, and 225 cubic yards of dirt. When this had been removed, the water at Forty-third Street and Broadway fell from sixteen to seven and one-half inches.

The Bureau of Sewers said that Mr. Craven's report was quie erroneous. According to their Inspector, what has actually been removed from this sewer was 31 shovels, 122 paving blocks, 200 tin cans, 150 pieces of old iron, and 96 cubic yards of dirt. The presence of these articles, it was stated, was "probably due to snow removal."

GERMANS IN POLAND SHORT OF SUPPLIES?

Mechanical Transport Service Said to Have Broken Down, with Disastrous Results.

SHORTAGE OF HORSES, TOO

Start Bombardment All Along the Lines—Boyen Fortress in East Prussia May Have Been Turned.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PETROGRAD, Jan. 14, (Dispatch to The London Daily News.)—It is now beyond all question that the desperate trial of strength in Poland has turned against the Germans.

Even Marshal von Hindenburg is recoiling from the stupendous waste of armed force which has been the only result of his second invasion. His constant method of redoubling attacks wherever he found that the Russians' resistance was being reinforced has led to the disastrous wreckage of his magnificent mechanical transport, and with that to the breakdown of the organization of his army, which is also now suffering from want of horses. The German Eastern armies will doubtless continue to fight with stubbornness, but the real initiative, and with it ultimate success, are slipping from their grasp.

It is believed here that the campaign is on the eve of operations of a different character from the headlong advance of the past three months, but there are plenty of signs that the German Staff despairs of devising any strong alternative. Hence the Russian leaders are noting as a very significant fact the continuous stream of published assurances that the German soldier has nothing but personal good-will for his Russian antagonist. No opportunity is missed of urging this chastened view.

Its purpose is obvious, but it does not deflect by one hairbreadth the Russian determination to fight on steadily to complete victory.

PETROGRAD, Jan. 16, (Dispatch to The London Morning Post.)—I have information from the army to the effect that the Germans are preparing another grand stroke. They have brought up their eleven-inch monsters to the Russian front and on Tuesday began a general bombardment, which lasted all night and the day following, along the whole front from their monster artillery, heavy and light guns, Maxims and rifles. That means an imminent attack, which probably is in course of delivery as I write in the early hours of the Russian New Year.

It is noticeable that the Grand Duke's bulletin, dated the last da yof the Russian old year, for the first time includes in the phrase "the whole front" what hitherto has been kept separate—namely the right and left banks of the Vistula.

Evidently the Germans have again been sent in considerable force north of the Vistula. The Russians have made a counter-move in East Prussia, where a whole series of villages eastward from Rosog has been captured.

The position in which the Russian force operating in East Prussia now finds itself seems to indicate that the German fortress guarding the Masurian Lakes at Boyen has been turned.

DRIVE AT RUSSIAN CENTRE.

Germans Retake Several Positions on the Bzura River.

PETROGRAD, Jan. 14.—Important bodies of Russian troops have pushed northward from Warsaw in the movement toward the western end of the East Prussian frontier. They have reoccupied a number of villages between Mlawa and Prasnysz hitherto held by the Germans.

In the centre, at the junction of the Bzura and Rawka Rivers, where fighting has been in progress for more than a month, the Germans have begun a new movement of great vigor. Their activity centres along a line to the east of Sochaczew and Skierniewice. It is here that they have made four distinct efforts to advance during the last two days.

Following a furious artillery action, the Germans occupied the district to the northeast of Bolimow, including the towns of Bin Skupi and Sucha. These positions are three or four miles southwest of Sochaczew and five miles east of the Bzura, from which positions they were reported officially to have been driven out at the point of bayonets.

Russian newspapers are printing statements based on what they say is information from German sources, to the effect that the German staff is preparing public opinion for the withdrawal of German troops from the Warsaw district.

TAKE RUSSIANS BY SURPRISE.

Austrians in Galicia Report Successes at Several Points.

BERLIN, Jan. 14, (By Wirless to Sayville, L. I.)—According to a German news agency, the Austrian forces in Galicia suddenly initiated an offensive movement against the Russians taking them by surprise. The Austrian operations were attended by success at several points.

A statement given out by a German news agency credits the Hamburg Fremdenblatt with the assertion that eighteen Russian Generals have been dismissed from important positions.

CAKES AND TARTS TABOOED.

Germans Exhorted to Blush with Shame if Tempted to Eat Them.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Friday, Jan. 15.—The Daily Chronicle says:

"Baron von Schorlemer, Prussian Minister for Agriculture, has issued a rescript giving official countenance to the movement for economizing supplies of meat. He tells the people plainly that should the war be of long duration they must be prepared for heavy sacrifices. He does not think that agriculturists will fail in supplying the markets, but the supplies will have to be very carefully treated.

"He is realy concerned about pork, and in most serious language appeals to municipalities and communal authorities, as well as to individual families, to do all in their power to lay in a stock of smoked and preserved pork. All kinds of food, he mentions, may be manufactured from pork, and in carrying out the wishes of the Ministry, he tells the nation, the people will all be performing a patriotic duty second only to the work carried on at the front.

"No less serious is an exhortation addressed to the nation by Dr. Harms, Professor of State Sciences at the University of Kiel. It is a very fervid appeal, and the extravagance of his language provokes a smile. Here is a specimen:

"'Do not let a crumb of bread, this gift of God, be wasted. Eat only war bread. Regard the potato as a vegetable which will assist you in holding out. Blush with shame if your desire for delicacies tempts you to eat cakes and tarts. Look with contempt upon those who are so immoral as to eat cakes, and by their greed diminish our supplies of flour.'"

The best-informed newspapers appear convinced that the result will be the granting of greater freedom of political comment, although, as the Temps reramsk in a sarcastic editorial entitled "Liberty," there still exists an unabrogated law relative to the powers of the censor during "a state of siege" which permits the absolute suppression of articles considered undesirable, irrespective of their subject. The Temps says:

"Premier Viviani has already brandished this law over the heads of journalistic complaints. We ought therefore to be thankful to be allowed to print anyting. They might obliterate en bloc; they do so only in detail. Who will now deny that France is a free country?"

ALLIES SHELL BELGIAN COAST.

German Land Batteries Reply and Bombard a Nieuport Suburb.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

AMSTERDAM, Jan. 14, (Dispatch to The London Morning Post.)—The Allies operating in the region of the Yser have lately been advancing more quickly than before, especially north of Lombardtsyde and Nieuport.

They have bombarded heavily the German positions near Westende-les-Bains, acting in co-operation with the British torpedo craft, which have shelled the German fortified positions along the coast. The German batteries answered their fire and shelled one of the suburbs of Nieuport, from which it is clear that the German infantry has been driven out of the Nieuport region. The German fire did not cause much damage.

400 PERSIANS DIED TO SAVE REFUGEES

Only Four Survivors of a Force That Defended a Bridge for Ten Hours.

TURKS KILLED CHRISTIANS

Massacre at Miandoab—Ottomans Occupied Tabriz Only After a Hard Fight—Invasion Continues.

PETROGRAD, Jan. 14.—The correspondent of The Bourse Gazette at Tiflis sends a statement made to him by Schodja ed Dowleh, ex-Governor of the Province of Azerbaijan, Persia, who has arrived in Tiflis. He is one of four survivors of a guard of 400 horsemen who defended the bridge at the entrance to Miandoab, the "Gateway of Persia." They fought the Turks for ten hours, enabling refugees to escape to Maragha, fifty miles south of Tabriz.

Schodja said that all the Christians who remained in Miandoab were massacred.

"When I heard the Turks were advancing," he said, "I posted 1,500 troops in one of the Miandoab forts and 1,200 in another. I myself, with 400 relatives and friends, fought a hopeless battle at the bridge until all but four were killed by the Turks' quick-firers. I then fled on horseback from Tabriz to Julfa.

The occupation by Turkish troops of the Tabriz district derives its strategic importance from the fact that it carries with it a Turkish control of highways and railroads leading to the Russian frontier. These roads, which provide the only practicable routes through Persia, are owned and managed by either the Russian Government or Russian companies which have obtained concessions from Persia.

The occupation of Tabriz by the Turks was accomplished only after a hard fight, in which artillery was employed, according to information which has reached the Persian Legation here. Hassan Ali Khan Gaffary, First secretary of the Legation, said that the Russian garrison at Tabriz offered stubborn resistance, but was compelled to retire owing to the overwhelming numerical superiority of the Turkish forces.

The Turkish forces which occupied Tabriz came from Erzerum, covering 100 miles over a circuitous route through a difficult mountainous territory.

The Russian Government continues to protest against Turkey's violation of Persian neutrality, and intimates that Persian officials have not taken sufficiently energetic measures to prevent this violation.

Russian troops had been garrisoned in Northern Persia since the revolution in that country in 1906-07, under agreement with England, which for a time controlled the southern portion of the country.

LONDON, Friday, Jan. 15.—Yesterday's dispatches from Petrograd say that the Turkish invasion of Persia continues and that the Turks are penetrating further into the country.

The Russians still claim to hold the upper hand in the fighting in the Caucasus, in the vicinity of Kara-Urgan, but the lack of details suggests that the battle, which has now been in progress for several days, has not yet resulted decisively for either side.

MISSIONS FACE A CRISIS.

War Puts Upon American Christians Heaviest Burdens in History.

World missionary leaders, in session at Garden City, admitted in their conference yesterday that a greater burden than in all the previous history of foreign missionary effort rested upon the churches of the United States and Canada. The devastation of the European war imperils work in Asia and Africa, and to some extent in South America, heretofore supported by European contributions. While the Garden City leaders are Protestants, they say they have heard that Roman Catholic world missions, supported in largest part by France, are also imperiled.

Reports given out at Garden City yesterday show that the Protestant foreign missionary enterprises cost $33,000,000 a year and employ 10,000 missionaries. Last year, according to reports made yesterday by the Home Base Committee, Protestants of the United States and Canada contributed $17,938,700, or almost $2,000,000 more than during 1913. Of this $770,000 went to distant lands through home societies.

The great missionary societies of the United States, engaged in foreign work, are in order the Presbyterian, with receipts last year of $2,112,900; the Methodist, with $1,482,500; the Baptist, with $1,114,400, and the Congregational, with $1,082,200. Other large boards are the Methodist South, $874,000; Northern Methodist women, $837,000; the Episcopal, $823,000, and the Foreign Board of the Y. M. C. A. Medical and Educational Work, supported from the United States, takes $466,000 a year.

Christians and Jews of the United States are expecting to be called upon to help out world work, and that in addition to their own work, already the largest of all. Jews have big burdens in the Near East and a possible Palestine State, and Catholics can no longer count on France for much aid. German missionaries in Asia are already being supported by Methodist and other societies of this country. Either vast enterprises must fail, and missionaries return home or starve, or American churches must shoulder a good part of the world burden.

NEW ZEPPELIN'S TRIAL TRIP.

Makes a Successful Flight from Friedrichshafen.

GENEVA, (via Paris,) Jan. 14.—A new Zeppelin airship left Friedrichshafen yesterday on a trial flight of an hour. After skirting Lake Constance, the airship disappeared over the Grand Duchy of Baden, and later returned safely to its shed. Prior to making the trip a German aeroplane made a scouting tour in order to prevent a surprise by French aircraft.

It is reported that the new Zeppelin will soon depart for service on the North Sea.

TWO GERMANS ARRESTED.

Nephew of Gen. Mackensen and a Lawyer Held in Vancouver.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Jan. 14.—Carl Mackensen, nephew of the German General recently decorated by the Kaiser for services in Poland, was arrested today by the police, acting on military instructions. Mackensen was seized on his farm at Langley and will be kept a prisoner of war until peace is restored.

Dr. Redlich, a German lawyer of Vancouver, was arrested at the same time. Both are in the New Westminster Jail.

LONDON, Jan. 14.—More than 200 German officers and seamen, who were rescued after the naval engagement between the German and British squadrons off the Falkland Islands on Dec. 8, arrived today in England and were taken to detention camps.

As the German sailors marched through the streets they appeared to be quite contented, cheering their comrades as the squads separated.

WAR NEWS FROM BERLIN.

Russian Economic Crisis and Depression in British Consols Reported.

BERLIN, Jan. 14, (By Wireless to Sayville, L. I.)—The Russian newspapers Regh, Rvssky Slovo, and Russky Viedomosti, describe the difficulties the Russians are placed in because of the lack of supplies formerly imported from Germany, says a statement issue from the Official Press Bureau here.

"On the other hand," the statement continues, "the newspapers speak of the impossibility on the part of the Russians to export caviar, wood, grain, furs, and spirits. The leather industry is said to be at a deadlock because of the lack of tanning material.

"The London Standard says that considerable amounts of English consols have been sold unofficially below the fixed minimum price.

"The Italian Deputy Belmonte pointed out at a meeting in Milan that victory for France and England would cause Italy's vassalage in the Mediterranean, and that the present neutrality was the cause of Italy's favorable diplomatic situation.

"A report from St. Petersburg says the Russians have withdrawn many Cossack regiments from the front in view of the possibility of riots in the larger towns.

"Christiania reports that the English shot at the Norwegian steamer Hanchen while she was calling at the English port of Blyth, despite the fact that she showed the Norwegian flag."

NURSE IN BELGRADE WHEN SHELLS FELL

NO DRESSINGS FOR WOUNDS

Graduate of Roosevelt Hospital is Going Back with Supplies Furnished by Mrs. Jenkins.

Miss Emily Simmonds, the young war nurse who arrived here from Servia on Monday, yesterday told something about her experiences among the Servian wounded. Miss Simmonds is an Englishwoman, who was graduated as a nurse from Roosevelt Hospital. She went to Servia as a member of the first corps of nurses that started for that country after the war began. She will leave again on the St. Paul tomorrow with hospital supplies, on her way back to Belgrade.

"You see," said Miss Simmonds, who holds the rank of lieutenant in the Servian Army, "being a Britisher, I could not belong to the American Red Cross, and being an American trained nurse, I could not belong to the British Red Cross. But I was in London when the appeal was made for nurses, and I said I wanted to go, but that I was unable to pay my expenses, and Mrs. Helen Hartley Jenkins financed my trip. I was one of eight that started from England on what was called the First English Mission. It took us eighteen days to get to Servia, and we stopped at Kragujevatz, a day and a half's journey from Belgrade, where the wounded were being brought in day and night.

"There was no hospital in the place. There were two old buildings that had been used as barracks, and into these we had to put 1,300 wounded. There were only two Servian doctors, but they were very efficient surgeons, one trained in France and the other in Germany. We remained in the place six weeks, the battles going on continuously at the front, and a steady stream of wounded pouring in.

"There were no beds. For mattresses we used sacks full of straw. In some cases three wooden planks on iron benches took the place of beds, and sometimes we would have to move two of these together to accommodate three men, the least seriously wounded man being put in the middle.

Wounded Lay in Roadway.

"The dressings began to give out early. You see, we had not been able to take much of a consignment with us, and the supply dwindled so that we couldn't dress wounds more than once in eight or nine days, where all required one fresh dressing a day, and some two. After the battle of Valjevo we received so many wounded prisoners that, having filled all the houses, we had to improvise beds of boughs along the roadway, and place the wounded there until room could be made on the trains going to the interior. Peasant women helped feed them while they lay there.

"From Kragujevatz we were transferred to Belgrade, and, of course, there we came to know Dr. Edward Ryan, head of the American Red Cross unit, who is stationed at the hospital there. That hospital, by the way, is as up to date in every respect as is any in New York City. Besides, Dr. Ryan had brought over perfect equipment, which had been largely donated by Mrs. Helen Hartley Jenkins, in co-operation with the American Red Cross, and every wounded Servian treated there could be made fit to go straight to the firing line.

"Dr. Ryan has become a real national hero in Servia, and it was owing to his raising the American flag over the hospital that anything is left of the City of Belgrade. Why, while I was there, shells fell anywhere. People were killed in the courtyard of the hospital. The Austrian troops were so near that we could see them. They were just across the River Save. At night they played two big searchlights on the city, and if a sign of life appeared anywhere shells were dropped on the spot. No lights were allowed in the city, and it was forbidden to appear on the streets after dark. Of course Belgrade being on a hill, the Servian gunners had rather the advantage until their ammunition gave out. I left Belgrade the day before the Austrians captured it. All nurses of English birth were requested to do so.

Great Need of Supplies.

Servia is in terrible need of hospital supplies. When I left Valjevo there were no supplies on hand. There was no absorbent cotton, and there had been no adhesive plaster for weeks. The Servians are a proud people, and they have not hitherto asked for anything from the outside world; but when I asked Col. V. M. Suobotitch, the Vice President and acting head of the Servian Red Cross, what I could especially appeal for he said: 'Will you tell the people over there that we want absorbent cotton, adhesive plaster, gauze, muslin bandages, iodine, and ether?'

"Red Cross flags were absolutely not respected in the bombardment of Belgrade. There were many of them in the city, for many a house was filled with the wounded. The Servians recuperate easily, as they are a wonderfully healthy people. They drink tea and smoke a great deal.

Cigarettes Badly Needed.

"Unfortunately they are experiencing a tobacco famine. You see, the Austrians fired the only tobacco factory there was in Servia, and it was destroyed, so that the country has no tobacco. If cigarettes could be sent over, they would be a wonderful comfort to the wounded.

"The American Red Cross nurses with Dr. Ryan are getting on famously. It is true they have had difficulty with the language. Most foreign nurses who have gone there have had to depend on what they knew of French, but some of them are learing Serb fast. Miss Mary E. Gladwin, who is in charge of the nurses, is a very excellent assistant to Dr. Ryan.

"There are now in Servia a Greek and a Russian nursing mission, and three American and two English. The great need is for supplies. The supplies I am taking back have been given by Mrs. Jenkins, who established the Servian Home here, and who is a very warm friend of the Servian people."

WOULD DEPORT GERMAN

But Judge Finds Prisoner Is One of Interned Crew and Law Prevents.

Complications due to the conflict in Europe confronted Judge Norman S. Dike in the County Court of Brooklyn yesterday when he was compelled to remand a German prisoner to the Raymond Street Jail while he ponders over what disposition to make of his case. The prisoner was Carl Dithloff, a cook on one of the German vessels interned at a South Brooklyn wharf. He pleaded guilty to a charge of carrying a dangerous weapon.

The Judge said to the prisoner:

"Dithloff, the Kaiser needs you, and I am going to give you a chance to go back and help him. I will suspend sentence upon you on condition that you take the first steamer back to Germany."

District Attorney Cropsey called attention to the fact that the prisoner was a member of the crew of an interned vessel and that the law prevented sending him back to the Fatherland.

DIAMOND STOCKS ARE LOW

But Dealer Says $5 a Karat German Stones Are Unmarketable Here.

There were many complaints in the diamond and jewelry trade yesterday that a grave misconception had been created by the reports cabled from London that a German syndicate controlling the output of the diamond fields in German Southwest Africa had offered its stock of 1,500,000 carats to an American concern for 20 shillings ($5) a carat, the normal value being 40 to 45 shillings. As a result of these reports, local diamond merchants found an impression suddenly prevalent that the price of diamonds and the value of their stock had been cut in half, or that a carat diamond could be bought for $5.

The truth of the matter, even if the report from London were true, the merchants explained, would be that rough uncut diamonds of a certain kind had been offered by German holders at a reduction of $5 a carat; but such a reduction would be but an inconsequential bagatelle in the price of the cut stones.

Benjamin Rees, of Zimmern, Rees & Co., said:

"The German diamond fields in Southwest Africa yield small diamonds called in the trade mêlée. These are of such a kind that it would not pay American cutters to cut them, owing to the proportionately high cost of labor here. They are cut for the most part in Antwerp and Amsterdam, where whole families are trained to participate in the work, from the youngest boys and girls up to the father and mother. It cannot be done in this country, where we have only 300 cutters at work.

"Last September, while returning from Europe, I was introduced by a high German official to a representative of the German Regie, the syndicate controlling the German diamond fields. He had come here to try to place the German stock of mêlée. I told him he was on a wild-goose chase. He later found that I had told him the truth, for he was unable to sell the stock here. Far from being swamped with diamonds from Europe, there has been a shortage of about 80,000 carats a week ever since the war began. At present, the great bulk of the rough diamond output, practically all of it, is locked up in the vaults of the syndicate in London. There is absolutely no market in rough diamonds and all the African mines have been shut down.

A man recently gave us an order because years ago when he was in another line of business we refused to spend his money. At that time we believed advertising was not practical for him and would not pay.

MAY LET THE DACIA DELIVER HER CARGO

Britain Asked by State Department to Waive Seizure for This One Voyage.

WILL AVERT $750,000 LOSS

Question of Transfer to American Registry Not Affected—War Risk Bureau Refused Insurance.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Through Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, the British Ambassador, the British Government has been requested by our State Department to permit the Dacia, the Hamburg-American Line steamship recently transferred at Port Arthur, Texas, to the American flag, to make one round trip to Rotterdam without interference so that her $750,000 cargo of cotton can be delivered to its German purchasers within the time limit set in the contracts with the American vendor.

In the latter's behalf it is represented that he made the contracts and engaged the Dacia on the theory that its transfer to the American flag would insure a safe vessel in which to carry his cargo to Europe, assurances having been given that England does not treat cotton as contraband, and accords to this staple product of the South the freedom of the seas.

To avoid the consequences of the delay that would be caused by threatened seizure it was decided to shift the Dacia's route from Bremen, the original port of delivery, to the neutral port of Rotterdam provided assurances could be obtained from England that the ship would not be taken before a prize court on this first voyage.

It was learned tonight that aside from the desire to enable the cotton shipper to deliver his cargo within specified time, the guiding motive that prompted the suggestion for shifting the route to Rotterdam instead of Bremen, was the fact that the Dacia's owners could not obtain insurance from the new American Government War Risk Bureau. Application was made to that bureau and was refused on the ground that this Government had information which led it to believe that the Dacia would be seized if she started for a German port. Application was then made to a New York insurance agent, through whom partial insurance was obtained.

It has been made plain to the British Government that so far as the United States is concerned, if such an arrangement is made, it will apply only to this particular ship, cargo, and voyage, and that it will not in any way jeopardize or prejudice the rights either of the United States or of Great Britain. The British and American Governments have been taken into the confidence of Edward N. Breitung of Marquette, Mich., the new owner, regarding all the circumstances concerning the purchase of the vessel. The facts of the transaction as disclosed by his counsel, Henry S. Hooker of New York, are understood to have impressed both the State Department and the British Embassy, and statements made today indicate that there is less suspicion than previously existed as to the validity of the transfer.

Nevertheless, it is understood that the British Government is not willing to create the precedent of allowing any German ship transferred to the American flag to go to any German port without having a British prize court first pass on the question of the validity of the transfer. It was admitted at the State Department today that a prize court is the only body that can pass upon the facts as to the validity of such a transfer, unless the British and American Governments should reach an independent agreement

On leaving the British Embassy tonight Mr. Hooker made this statement:

"The conference with Sir Cecil Spring-Rice was entirely satisfactory. The facts in this case have been fully and thoroughly presented in London and here. A certified copy of the bill of sale and of other papers required to effect an American registry have been filed with the British Ambassador and the certified check, aggregating $165,000, with which payment was made for the vessel, are on file now with the Department of Commerce. The German Captain and crew have been entirely superseded by an American Captain and crew, and these facts have been fully laid before the British Embassy. I am convinced that there is not now the slightest question as to the good faith of the transaction, either here or in London."

BRITISH NOTE ACKNOWLEDGED

Customs Officers to Supervise Cargoes and Certify Manifests.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Secretary of State Bryan has sent a short note to Ambassador Page at London in partial response to the reply of Sir Edward Grey to the original American note complaining against British interference with American ships and cargoes on the high seas. The announcement was made this afternoon in a communication which read:

"The following is a paraphrase of this Government's reply to the partial answer made by the British Government on the shipping question:

"'The friendly spirit in which the British Government received the American note of Dec. 8 is appreciated. No doubt is entertained by us that the cordial relations between the Governments will continue pending diplomatic discussion. This Government notes with satisfaction that the principles of international law as set forth in the American note are accepted by his Majesty's Government. As the original note is being examined with care by the British Government with a view to replying further and in detail, it would seem premature for me to make further answer at this time.

"'It is the intention of this Government to consider in connection with the further reply of the British Government the points raised by Sir Edward Grey in connection with the preliminary answer.'"

Officials of the Treasury Department believe that most of the difficulties in connection with British interference with American exports are past, and that from now on exporters who act in good faith toward the regulations that have been laid down will be subjected to few annoyances. Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Peters has instructed all customs officers that on the request of shippers they are to supervise the loading of foreign-bound cargoes, and certify the manifests as to completeness and accuracy. The expense of overseeing the loading of vessels is to be borne by the owners of the cargo. This order carries out the Administration plan for providing a reasonable measure of assurance to belligerent nations that cargoes bound from the United States are not of contraband nature.

The supervising customs official will not attempt to determine whether any part of the cargo is or is not contraband of war, but will confine his certification to the assurance that the manfest correctly states the nature of the cargo.

BENEFIT TO GERMANY SMALL.

London Paper Would Welcome Ship Transfers to Our Government.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Friday, Jan. 15.—The Daily News in an editorial on the Dacia transfer, after discussing the legal interpretation of Article 56 of the Declaration of London, says:

"It is argued that this country would suffer if the American Government or American citizens bought up the German ships in American ports. One suggestion is that if these ships reached a German port they might be taken over by their original owners and even converted into cruisers. Obviously that could not happen with ships bought by the United States Government.

"If it were attempted with ships bought by American citizens, then, apart from the German Government having a nice quarrel with the United States Government, the ships would simply be shut up in German harbors instead of American harbors. The loss would clearly be Germany's and not ours.

"Another suggestion is that the purchase price would be so much money to the good of Germany. [illegible] issue would not be a sum of much significance, and it could reach Germany only in the form of non-contraband goods. The result of the transaction, as far as benefit to Germany is concerned, would be just the same as if German shares were sold in America, and indeed nearly the same amount of credit might be raised by mortgaging instead of selling the ships.

"It might be urged that of all German ways of raising credit in America, the one most convenient to us would be the selling of German ships. We, along with the rest of he world, are suffering from a famine in tonnage. Anything which brings more ships into the active world of commerce is to that extent a relief from the terrible exploitation of shipping rings, and a State-owned American line charging reasonable freights might be a very considerable relief."

TAKES A FLING AT US.

German Paper Sure We'll Adopt the British View of Contraband.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

ROTTERDAM, Jan. 14, (Dispatch to The London Daily News.)—Germany evidently is getting tired of trying to secure the sympathies of the United States, for the tone of the comments on the British reply to the American note is almost as hostile to America as it is to England.

For instance, the Hamburger Fremdenblatt makes no claim on the friendship of America in the following words:

"In short, England's answer to her American cousin confirms the old view of justice which the possessors of power in London seem to hold for their own convenience. 'Everything is allowed,' they seem to think, 'which is of use to us, and everything which is not intended for us or for the aid of our allies is contraband.'

"We are convinced that this also is how the answer will be viewed in Washington. The politicians of the United States are just as cold calculators as their business people. What they do they will only do for themselves.

"A few days ago a message was published in America that there had been a landslide in the Panama Canal and as a result the great battleships of the United States had been forced to stay in the Atlantic. We do not think the report of a landslide in the Panama Canal has the slightest foundation, but we think with one of the Vienna papers that it is only a manufactured story from Washington which for diplomatic reasons wished to have their great fighting ships on the east coast in case relations between Washington and London should take an unfriendly turn.

"President Wilson has a far-reaching means of helping along peace by forcing John Bull to a recognition of the rights of nations. He only needs to forbid the export of war material from the United States, which alone makes England and France capable of carrying on the war further."

OFFERS TO SEND SEIZED SHIP.

Britain Willing to Let the Schneefels Bring American-Owned Cargo.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—The British Government has offered to allow the former German ship Schneefels, now lying at Gibraltar, to proceed to an American port with her cargo of goods destined for the United States, if she is recognized as a British vessel upon her entry.

The Schneefels was seized by a British cruiser last August and was taken before a British prize court at Gibraltar, declared to be a prize and forfeited to the British Government. Her cargo, however, having already been purchased by the American consignees was held to be neutral and not subject for condemnation.

As there was no neutral ship at Gibraltar free to bring this cargo to the United States the British Government consented to allow the Schneefels to continue her voyage to the United States under conditions that British registry be recognized.

State Department officials so far have not found their way clear to agree, because of the uncertainty surrounding the transfer of flags by belligerent-owned ships, and the question is still under consideration.

SWEDISH SHIPS RELEASED.

Complaint That Charges on Detained Lumber Exceed Selling Price.

LONDON, Jan. 14.—The Foreign Office announced today that the Swedish vessels Canton and New Sweden, from New York for Gothenburg, had been released. The New Sweden left New York Dec. 5, loaded chiefly with cotton, and was detained at Kirkwall, Orkney Islands, on Dec. 21. She was then taken to the mouth of the Tyne on Dec. 28.

Official Reports of War Operations

FRANCE.

PARIS.—(Night Report)—Last night our troops were successful in a sudden attack with the object of overwhelming the trenches recently constructed by the Germans to the northeast of Fouquescourt, north of Roye, in the Department of the Somme.

The attacks of the enemy in the region to the north of Soissons have been stopped.

As has been said in the communication of this morning, the flooding of the Aisne River, which destroyed several of our bridges, had rendered very precarious the communications of our troops operating on the first slopes of the right bank. We were thus prevented from sending them reinforcements. This has been the essential cause of the withdrawal of those troops, which were fighting under difficulties.

We were obliged to abandon several cannon as the result of the breaking down of a bridge. We have rendered all of them unfit for use.

The Germans have made prisoners, particularly of wounded men, whom, in the withdrawal movement, we were not able to take with us. On our side we have made a number of important prisoners, not wounded, belonging to seven different regiments.

To sum up, the success is a partial one for our adversaries, which will have no influence of the operations as a whole. In fact, by reason of the obstacle presented by the Aisne and the dispositions which we have taken, the enemy will be unable to utilize to the south of the river, the success which is purely of local character.

On the rest of the front there is nothing to report.

(Day Report)—In Belgium the firing of our artillery was interfered with by the fog; nevertheless the cannonading yesterday was very spirited in the vicinity of Nieuport and around Ypres. Certain detachments of Belgian troops blew up, at a point to the southeast of Stuyvekneskerke, the buildings on a farm which were serving the enemy as a depot for his ammunition.

Between the Lys and the Oise, in the region of Lens, our artillery were successful in dispersing a group of German pioneers on the outskirts of the hamlet of Angres, and it bombarded effectively the German trenches to the southeast of the chapel of Notre Dame de Lorette.

To the north of Soissons there was determined fighting all day yesterday. The engagement was localized to a section of ground situated to the north of Crouy. We hold only the first slopes of these hills. On our left in this field our counter attack made slight progress, but without succeeding in recording a material advance. On the centre, we retained our positions around the village of Crouy in spite of the repeated efforts of the enemy to dislodge us, but on the east, in front of Vregny, we were obliged to yield.

The continued flood stage of the River Aisne, has carried away several of the regular bridges as well as some of the temporary foot bridges which we threw across the river. The lines of communication for our troops were consequently made uncertain. Under these conditions we established ourselves on the south bank of the river, in the region between Crouy and Missy, with bridge heads on the north bank in our possession.

Along the remainder of the front on the River Aisne, there was yesterday nothing more than artillery exchanges.

In Champagne, the region of Perthes continued to be the scene of local engagements for the possession of German trenches on the second and third lines of defense. To the north of Beausejour we blew up some of the enemy's positions to make impossible his laying of mines. The Germans, believing they were being attacked, manned their trenches. We then opened a violent artillery and infantry fire on these positions.

There is nothing to report on the rest of the front.

GERMANY.

BERLIN.—In the western theatre of the war, in the dunes near Nieuport and southwest of Ypres, artillery combats are going on. The enemy directed an extremely strong fire on Westende, which they will soon have entirely destroyed. Their torpedo boats disappeared quickly, as soon as they received our fire.

In continuation of their activities on Jan. 8, northeast of Soissons, our troops again made an attack on the heights of Vregny and cleared this elevated plain of the enemy. In a pouring rain and deeply sodden clay, trench after trench was taken by storm until after dark, and the enemy was driven back to the border of the elevated plain. Fourteen French officers and 1,130 men were taken prisoners, and 4 cannon, 4 machine guns, and a searchlight were captured—a brilliant feat for our troops under the very eyes of their uppermost war lords.

The total results of the fights on Jan. 12 and 13 northeast of Soissons were 3,150 prisoners, 8 heavy guns, 6 machine guns, and plenty of war material.

Northeast of the Camp of Chalons, the French attacked again yesterday in the morning and afternoon, with strong forces, to the east of Perthes. They penetrated, at certain places, our trenches, but were repulsed by energetic counter-attacks and driven back with heavy losses into their own positions, leaving 160 prisoners in our hands.

In the Argonne and the Vosges nothing of importance has occurred.

In the eastern theatre of war, Russian attacks to the southeast of Gumbinnen, in East Prussia, and to the east of Loetzen, have been repulsed, and many hundreds of prisoners have been taken.

The situation in Northern Poland is the same.

Our attacks west of the Vistula are being continued. Nothing of importance has occurred on the eastern bank of the Pilica.

RUSSIA.

PETROGRAD.—Yesterday we made progress on the right bank of the lower Vistula, our troops changing positions in a manner favorable to them. The cavalry of the enemy operating in this region was repulsed, leaving Serpetz in the possession of our vanguard.

On our other fronts nothing has occurred other than skirmishes and artillery duels. Our reconnoitring parties have been active.

On the left bank of the Vistula, isolated German attacks were easily repelled by our fire.

On various portions of our Austrian front, the enemy tried to cannonade our position with heavy guns, but the efficient fire of our batteries soon silenced the Austrian artillery.

To avoid any false understanding of our operations in Azerbaijan during the last few days, the General Staff of the Caucasus Army deems it expedient to give the following explanation:

From the beginning of the decisive action in the principal region of this theatre of the war, it appeared necessary to regroup our troops. In accordance with this we proceeded in Azerbaijan to concentrate our troops at certain places, which demanded the evacuation of several points we had occupied previously.

This rearrangement of our forces was not under pressure of the enemy, but in accordance with a specially devised plan. During this operation no important action took place, except an engagement which our advance guard had near Miandous. Thus we did not evacuate Azerbaijan, but adopted changes in position answering better the new developments.

TURKEY.

CONSTANTINOPLE.—Assisted by Persian troops our army is steadily advancing in Azerbaijan Province, Persia, in order to deliver the country from the Russian yoke.

We have had further notable success, occupying advanced positions of the Russians in the vicinity of Tabriz.

A number of tribesmen of the British Army of occupation in Egypt, have surrendered to our vanguard.

AUSTRIA.

VIENNA.—All hostile attacks on our strong front along the Nida River have failed. There have been no important engagements in the other war theatres.

AMERICAN APPROVED RAZING OF LOUVAIN

HAD TO VIOLATE BELGIUM

Indorsed German View of Dire Necessity—Speaker Probably Edwin Emerson, War Correspondent.

As impressions of an American officer who witnessed the happenings in Belgium on the occasion of the German invasion, the Berliner Tageblatt of Dec. 11 publishes an account of an address delivered in the German-American Institute on the previous evening by "Acting Adjt. Gen. Emerson of New York," who, it explains, obtained a furlough at the beginning of the war and visited the eastern and western battlefields as war correspondent for American newspapers. The Mr. Emerson here referred to is possibly Edwin Emerson, who has been a correspondent of The New York World. The officer, it appears, delivered his address, as guest of the German-American Economic Union, to an audience that crowded the auditorium.

The Berliner Tageblatt's article follows:

"Concerning the violation of Belgian neutrality, the American officer asserted that the march through Belgium was a matter of life or death for Germany. Either you or I! For every one regarding the matter objectively, he said, the method of procedure adopted by Germany was simply self-evident. By means of vivid lantern slides, Mr. Emerson illustrated the first battles in Belgium, especially the storming of Liége. The brilliant capture of Liége, he said, was not only suppressed for three whole weeks in London, but had been continually denied. On the other hand, throughout England and wherever the English cable led, the announcement was spread that Gen. von Emmich had been killed. When the speaker tried to cable from Germany to America that he knew absolutely that von Emmich was still alive and well, the dispatch was simply intercepted by the English censor.

"Noteworthy was the information which Mr. Emerson gave concerning the conduct of Burgomaster Max of Brussels, and of the bombardment of Louvain.

"It was due solely to the American Minister at Brussels, he said, that the same things did not happen there as at Louvain. For the Brussels Burgomaster, Max, had given the City Guard orders to shoot at the Germans, and they were deterred from doing so only through the American Minister. In Louvain, unfortunately, there was no American Consul who could restrain the populace from shooting from their homes upon the Germans, taken in the rear.

"'In Louvain itself,' said the speaker, 'it was admitted to me by inhabitants of the place that their firing had been a tremendous mistake. They would never have done it, these Louvainers told me, had they not received secret instructions from Antwerp that a sortie from Antwerp had been successful and that the Germans were hastily retreating toward Louvain. When, therefore, by chance coincidence a column of footsore Germans arrived at Louvain that same evening, the cheated inhabitants of Louvain thought they had completely scattered and fleeing troops of the defeated German Army to deal with, and they immediately fired upon the supposed fugitives.

"'I should like to remark, in this connection, moreover, as a military man, that if I were taking part in a war and hostile inhabitants fired upon my troops from the rear, I should give orders to act just as did the Germans in Louvain. Indeed, our American soldiers in the Philippines always acted in that way.'

"In connection with the tales of alleged cruelty and brutality on the part of the German officers and soldiers the speaker said:

"'I was at the front more than a month, and I saw countless prisoners of war and spoke with many [illegible] ly and without the interference of the German guards set over [illegible] complained of inhuman treatment by the Germans. Nor did I see a single inhuman act of a German officer or soldier toward unarmed persons. In all that time I did not see a single drunken soldier, although there is an abundance of wine at the French front.'"

Edwin Emerson acted as war correspondent in the Spanish-American war, the Colombian-Venezuelan war of 1901, and the Mexican civil war. He took an active part in the Colombian-Venezuelan war, being decorated by President Castro with the Order of Bolivar for gallantry in action. He received public commendation from President Taft for his part in the relief work after the San Francisco earthquake.

Mr. Emerson was an editor of Army and Navy Life in 1910. In 1911 he commanded the First New York Field Artillery, with rank of Captain. He was detailed to the United States General Staff and served on a confidential mission to Mexico in 1911, accompanying Gen. Huerta in his Chihuahua campaign. He served as Acting Adjutant General of the New York Division Staff in 1913, and returned to Mexico on a confidential mission for the General Staff in 1914.

He has served as war correspondent for Leslie's Weekly, Collier's Weekly, The Illustrierte Zeitung, The New York World, The Chicago Daily News, The Westminster Gazette, and other papers. He is a member of the Army and Navy Club, the Press Club, the Harvard Club, and the National Arts Club, and has written several books about various wars he witnessed.

A. LEO WEIL ARRESTED.

Pittsburgh Lawyer and ex-Graft Hunter Accused of Bribery.

Special to The New York Times.

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 14.—A. Leo Weil, the attorney who was arrested at Parkersburg, W. Va., yesterday on complaint of the District Attorney, is the man who assisted District Attorney Blakely a few years ago in the prosecution of the grafting Councilmen of this city, and was instrumental in the sending of many of them to the penitentiary. Mr. Weil is charged with offering a $10,000 bribe to C. H. Bronson, a brother-in-law of Gov. Hatfield. Mr. Bronson is a member of the West Virginia Public Service Commission and it is alleged that the bribe was offered to influence his action in regard to a suit against the commission brought by the Manufacturing Light and Heat Company, for which Mr. Weil is acting as the attorney.

Mr. Weil's law partner, Charles M. Thorpe, said today there was no justification for the arrest and denied that his partner had done anything wrong. Mr. Thorpe hinted that at the hearing of the case it would be shown that the whole affair was instigated by a high State official who had a personal grievance against Mr. Weil.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan. 14.—Leo Weil, the Pittsburgh attorney charged with attempting to bribe C. H. Bronson of the Public Service Commission, reached here with Sheriff Hill this morning and was taken to the office of Justice C. W. Dering, who released him on $25,000 bail for a hearing Jan. 19.

The complaint alleges that the offense was committed November 13 last, about which time Guy Biddinger, a detective, and C. D. Elliott, former Adjutant General, are said to have conferred in a hotel here with Bronson and W. H. Kilmer, another member of the commission. A telephonic device is said to have recorded conversations which involve State officials and other persons to such an extent that further arrests are expected.

SAYS BRYAN FEARED 'MONEY TRUST' BANK

Indorsed Minister Sullivan and Wanted Jobs for Democrats.

EX-OFFICIALS ON THE STAND

Robert Monks in Letter Tells of Offer to Furnish Santo Domingo Contracts for $5,000.

Testifying yesterday at the Waldorf before James D. Phelan, Special Commissioner for the investigation of the charges against James Mark Sullivan, United States Minister to Santo Domingo, W. E. Pulliam of Pacific Grove, Cal., formerly Receiver General of the Dominican customs and predecessor of Walker W. Vick in that office, criticised the conduct of William J. Bryan, Secretary of State, in connection with the difficulties between American officials in the island and their relations with the Banco Nacional. He said Mr. Bryan appeared to be obsessed with the belief that the "Money Trust," represented by the National City Bank, was behind Santiago Michelena, the Santo Domingo banker from whose bank the customs funds were withdrawn at the instance of Minister Sullivan.

Mr. Pulliam said that Michelena enjoyed a reputation in Santo Domingo comparable to that of Jacob H. Schiff in New York, and that the Banco Nacional, to which the funds were transferred, was regarded as a joke on the island. Mr. Pulliam said that this bank failed to live up to the requirements of the Santo Domingo Government that 50 per cent. of its capital stock should be paid up in cash.

Mr. Pulliam said he thought the whole trouble was due to the fact that Michelena beat the Banco Nacional in the bid for a loan early in 1913, and that the difficulties in connection with the receivership were due to the transfer of funds to the Banco Nacional on the instance of Minister Sullivan.

"They had no credit," he said, "and they wanted the receivership funds to establish a credit for themselves."

Mr. Pulliam said that he himself had never given any encouragement to the advances of Frank J. R. Mitchell, President of the Banco Nacional, even when the suggestion was made from the War Department in Washington that he assist the Jarvis interests. Mr. Jarvis was Vice President of the bank and was said to be interested in various commercial enterprises on the island. Mr. Pulliam laid his removal in the Spring of 1913 to the influence of Jarvis and his supporters.

After his removal, said Mr. Pulliam, he had warned John E. Osborn, Assistant Secretary of State, and Gen. McIntyre, head of the Bureau of Insular Affairs of the War Department, not to become involved with the Banco Nacional.

"But," he went on, "among the early changes in Mr. Bryan's administration was the summary discharge of W. T. S. Doyle of the Bureau of Latin American Affairs on account of charges filed by Frank J. R. Mitchell."

The witness said Mitchell had told him that he knew of the changes to be made among the American officials before they were made, and that Secretary Bryan had said to Senator Chamberlain that his objection to Pulliam was the latter's friendship with Michelena.

"That is what incensed me so much," said Mr. Pulliam, "to know that the Administration would lend its exclusive ears to one particular faction only in Santo Domingo politics."

Walker W. Visck, who succeeded Mr. Pulliam as Receiver General, showed what purported to be a photograph of a letter sent him by Secretary Bryan on Aug. 20, 1913, shortly after Vick became Receiver General, in which the Secretary of State said:

"Now that you are acquainting yourself with the situation, can you let me know what positions you have at your disposal with which to reward deserving Democrats?"

The same letter referred to Minister Sullivan as "a strong, courageous, reliable fellow."

John L. Mann, formerly Assistant Professor of Engineering at Dartmouth and later Director General of Public Works of Santo Domingo, showed a letter from Robert Monks, a New York contractor, declaring that the writer had been called on by a man who said that Monks's firm for a consideration of $5,000 could get contracts in Santo Domingo for a period of four years and that the men to see were S. M. Jarvis of the Banco Nacional and William C. Beer of the Union League Club. Commissioner Phelan has asked Mr. Monks to testify at the hearing.

Mr. Mann's testimony in general, as well as tat of Mr. Pulliam, supported what Walker W. Vick had said on the two previous days as to the relations between Minister Sullivan and the Banco Nacional.

The hearing will be resumed at 11:30 o'clock this morning in Room 515 of the Waldorf.

VAUGHN NOT CONFIRMED.

Senator O'Gorman May Be Holding Up Another Appointment.

Special to The New York Times.

SAG HARBOR, N. Y., Jan. 14.—Friends of W. T. Vaughn, whose name was sent to the Senate last Friday by President Wilson as appointee to the Postmastership of this town, are worrying over the failure so far of the Senate to confirm Mr. Vaughn's appointment. Mr. Vaugh belongs to the anti-Tammany wing of his party, and it is feared here that this may lead Senator O'Gorman to oppose his appointment.

The Post Office here is an important one because of the presence of two big manufacturing concerns. The salary of the Postmaster is $2,400 a year, with an allowance for clerk hire. The Assistant Postmaster receives $1,600 a year and one clerk, protected by the civil service, gets $1,100. These two offices have been held for nearly thirty years by the Misses French, nieces of Stephen B. French, once a Police Commissioner of New York.

There was a contest for the office of Postmaster, which Mr. Vaughn won, obtaining the indorsement of Congressman Lathrop Brown of this district and a majority of the citizens. The Democratic County Committee indorsed a rival candidate, however.

Among Mr. Vaughn's supporters is Daniel B. Vermilye of the old banking family of that name, which for three-quarters of the last century had its counting rooms at Wall and Nassau Streets.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—No opposition to the nomination of W. T. Vaughan as Postmaster at Sag Harbor, L. I., has developed here so far. County Democratic leaders at Sag Harbor have told Senator O'Gorman that they wanted time in which to file reasons against the appointment, and it is presumed that the Committee on Post Offices and Post Roads will delay action until the protests are received.

GAVE THE WRONG NEW YEAR.

Russian's Reservation Puzzles the Claridge Managers.

A man with magnificent black whiskers parted in the middle, and who said he was Sascha Ivanovsky, came very near getting into a pet at the Claridge night before last, according to a story told at that hotel yesterday. It had to do with a New Year's reservation.

On Jan. 3 Henry L. Merry, the managing director of the hotel, received a letter signed by Mr. Ivanovsky, asking him to reserve for him a table for five for New Year's Eve. Mr. Merry turned the letter over to John Pokorney, the maitre d'hôtel, with the remark that it was a long time ahead.

On Wednesday night Mr. Ivanovsky, accompanied by four women, appeared at the hotel and demanded the table he had reserved. As the main restaurant is reserved for the exclusive use of the members of the Dance Club after 11:30 o'clock, no such reservation was found. Mr. Ivanovsky protested that he had written, and that he had received a reply telling him that his reservation had been made. The maitre d'hôtel searched his letter file, and produced the letter. Then it was found that Mr. Ivanovsky wished to celebrate the Russian New Year's Eve, which is due about thirteen days after the one that Broadway has made famous.

Miss Grace Field, President of the Dance Club, relieved the situation by inviting the party to be the guests of the club, and they apparently became reconciled to the situation. Yesterday the management was digging out from an encyclopedia the difference between the Julian and the Gregorian calendar.

PERMITS WIRELESS CODE.

Government Removes Restrictions on Hawaiian Station.

The Marconi Wireless Telegraph Company of America announced yesterday that at a conference between the officials of the Navy Department and representatives of the company, the restrictions against coded wireless messages between the United States and the Hawaiian Islands were removed, placing that service on the same basis as cable and wireless service on the Atlantic.

The wireless service between San Francisco and Honolulu was opened to the public on Sept. 24, last, and was announced as the first link in the Marconi trans-Pacific wireless chain. On Oct. 16, the Hawaiian station transmitted a wireless message filed by a newspaper correspondent reporting the arrival at Honolulu of the German gunboat Geier. An explanation, demanded by the Government, was accepted on the ground that the message was transmitted in the regular course of business in the absence of the censor. Restrictions were placed on coded messages, however, which remained in force until yesterday.

Plea for Russian Poles.

Urgent appeals for the relief of Russian Poles have been received by the American-Polish Relief Committee of 487 Fifth Avenue, in letters which were four weeks on the way from Warsaw. It was stated that many women and children are facing starvation.

Gifts of money were urged, as funds can still be cabled to this region with a minimum of delay. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Harkness Flagler made a gift to the Committee of $1,000. Miss Elizabeth A. Smart sent $15, "J. R. A." $10, and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred T. White $500.

Aid for Women and Children.

Charles Elliott Warren, President of the Lincoln National Bank, acknowledged yesterday additional subscriptions totaling $57.84 to the Belgian Women's Dollar Fund. Of this amount H. M. Mainwaring gave $30, and Miss Ruth H. Eckerson contributed $18.30.

The fund for the relief of the women and children of France, subscriptions to which should be sent to Mrs. Whitney Warren, 16 East Forty-seventh Street, now amounts to about $53,000. Of recent subscriptions Mrs. Moses Taylor gave $10 and Miss Mary Markham $15.

Mercy Fund Sends Supplies.

The Committee of Mercy is sending material valued at $10,000 on the Rochambeau, of the French Line, which sails Monday. The consignment consists of clothing for women and children of France. It is estimated that food and clothing to the value of $60,000 have gone to Europe through the Committee of Mercy. This is incidental to the general relief being distributed in Europe by the Committee of Mercy Fund. Among the contributions acknowledged by August Belmont, Treasurer of the committee, yesterday, were $100 from Mrs. C. C. Graham of St. Louis, $25 from an anonymous giver, and $15 from C. E. Snyder of Herkimer, N. Y. Subscriptions should be sent to Mr. Belmont at 200 Fifth Avenue.

American Women's Fund.

The American Women's War Relief Fund, the Administrative Committee of the Committee of Mercy in Great Britain, which controls the American Hospital at Paignton, England, has made a report of work in that institution. Hundreds of wounded have been cared for at the hospital, and the committee has donated several motor ambulances to the British Army Medical Staff, and has put in successful operation an employment scheme for the benefit of women out of employment.

Subscriptions will be remitted to London through the Committee of Mercy. Among well known women on the committee are Mrs. Reginald Brooks, Mrs. Arthur Scott Burden, Miss Katherine B. # $32,000,000 MERGER OF BANKS EFFECTED

Sum Represents Deposits of Chatham-Phenix National and Alliance Trust.

TERMS NOT MADE PUBLIC

Century Takes Over Branches—$10,400,000 of Assets Moved After Business Hours.

The expected merger of the business of the Mutual Alliance Trust Company with that of the Chatham and Phenix National Bank was effected late yesterday afternoon, when the trust company Direceors accepted the offer made on behalf of the Chatham.

Preparations for the immediate transfer of the books, cash, and assets were made, and by midnight the cash had been counted and moved, as well as about $10,000,000 in securities. The money moved was only about $400,000, as most of the cash was on deposit in other banks, principally the Chatham.

At the same time arrangements were completed for the sale of the trust company's two branches by the Chatham to the Century Bank, which is controlled by the same interests as the Chatham. The branch at 266 Grand Street will be consolidated with the Jefferson branch of the Cenutry near by. The branch at Lenox Avenue and 116th Street will be continued as at present. The main office at 35 Wall Street was closed last night.

Under the agreement, the Chatham took over the deposit liabilities of the Mutual Alliance and all its assets except the real estate. When the assets have been liquidated to the amount of the deposits, the balance will be liquidated by a committee for the benefit of the trust company stockholders, along with the real estate.

The terms of the sale were not announced, but it is understood that the Chatham is to pay 3 per cent. on the balances of the deposits taken over at the end of six months, except those on which the Mutual Alliance paid more than 2 per cent. interest and those of persons already depositors in the Chatham also. The Century Bank took the two branches over from the Chatham on the same terms.

Frank V. Baldwin, Vice President of the trust company, becomes Vice President of the Chatham. R. B. Minis, another Vice President, becomes Vice President of the Century. H. A. Clinkunbroomer, Treasurer, becomes cashier of the Century. F. H. Hornby, Secretary, and F. B. French, Assistant Secretary, become assistant cashiers of the Century. James H. Parker, President of the trust company, is to be made a Director of the Chatham, as is also William O. Allison, a Director and former President of the National Reserve Bank, which was taken over some time ago by the Mutual Alliance.

The deposits of the Chatham and Phenix will be increased from about $24,000,000 to $32,000,000 by the merger, thus adding to its growth of the last few years.

Louis G. Kaufman, President of the Chatham, who put the deal through, with the assistance of Nathan J. Miller of the Stock Exchange firm of N. J. Miller & Co., a large stockholder in the Mutual Alliance, became President of the Chatham National less than five years ago, when its deposits were about $7,000,000. He brought about the merger with the Phenix National in 1911 and that of the Jefferson Bank with the Century Bank, of which he is Chairman. The Chatham was established in 1850 and the Phenix in 1812.

PAUL DRAPER'S RECITAL.

An Interpretation of Schubert's "Muellerlieder" in Little Theatre.

Mr. Paul Draper gave the first of three song recitals in the Little Theatre yesterday afternoon. It was devoted entirely to Schubert's cycle of twenty songs called "Die Schone Müllerin." It is in the interpretation of such cycles that Mr. Draper is at his best. Thus, at his first recital two months ago he sang Schumann's "Dichterliebe."

Mr. Draper yesterday gave more pleasure by the character of his interpretation of Schubert's songs, its intelligence and insight, its denotement of their varied spirit and contrasting emotional significance, than he did by any quality of voice or any purely sensuous charm of tone. He possesses little such, and there seemed to be even less at his concert yesterday than when he was heard before. Mr. Richard Epstein played Mr. Draper's accompaniments with much skill and taste, with unusual sympathy.

TWO MISSIONS TO SERVIA.

John W. Frothingham Sends Doctors, Nurses, and Supplies.

John W. Frothingham has privately financed two surgical and nursing missions to Servia. The first, which is now stationed at Skoplje, consisted of three surgeons, three male nurses, and three women nurses, and the second, which is going out on January 20, consists of one surgeon and a nurse, who are taking 196 cases of hospital supplies.

"The mission that started on November 4 was in charge of Dr. Rudisjicinsky, and all the surgeons were of Bohemian birth, though of American nationality," said Mr. Frothingham yesterday. "They took with them a considerable quantity of supplies. I have learned that they are doing good work. Dr. Czaja, a Pole by birth, is in charge of the second expedition. The supplies that will go with him are mostly absorbent cotton and bandages, together with a few cases of underclothing and a case of drugs."

The money for these two expeditions has all been contributed by Mr. Frothingham and members of his family.

Trial of Private Banker Discloses How Teller Identified Illiterate.

L. W. Schwenk, head of three private banks at 130 East Seventh Street, Bedford Avenue, Brooklyn, and Jamaica, L. I., whose deposits, when they were taken over by the State Banking Department on July 23, totaled $700,000, was placed on trial yesterday before Justice Davis in the Criminal Term of the Supreme Court on a charge of receiving deposits when he knew that the bank was insolvent.

Interesting details of east side banking methods were disclosed when Anna Kowalek, of 94 East Sixth Street, the complainant, took the witness stand. Most of the depositors in the Schwenk bank were not able to read or write, so each one received a password of his own choosing for identification when he came to withdraw deposits. In Mrs. Kowalek's case the password was "Golden Heart."

Assistant District Attorney Isidor Wasservogel and Special Assistant District Attorney Duschkind are prosecutting the cases against the bankers.

You may have noticed that the Ifs of life usually relate to failure, not to success.

When a man fails, he usually begins to think of what might have been if only he had done this or if only he had done the other thing.

The Ifs of Failure should be provided against in the beginning—and in a building enterprise we are all the provision that is necessary.

Conreid Grand Pianos
In the January Clearance

These exquisite little Grands are essentially musicians' pianos. Despite their small size, which allows them to be placed in the living rooms where space is limited, they possess wonderful power and sweetness of tone.

Now, ten of these delightful Pianos are put into the January Clearance for the almost purely sentimental reason that their cases are a little rubbed or scratched—due to having been on our floor during the Christmas season. Otherwise they are in perfect condition, and at their new price offer a rare opportunity.

Besides these Conreid Grands (which were made especially for GIMBEL BROTHERS after two years of careful search on our part for the best small grands at about $500), the January Clearance of Used Pianos contains

CARRANZA OFFICERS ORDER TEXANS SHOT

State Department Makes Strong Demands in Behalf of Four American Cattlemen.

BRYAN PROTEST ON OIL

Spanish Ambassador Reports Further Loss to His Countrymen—Generals Would Rule Mexico.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Senator Shepard of Texas tonight urged the State Department to make vigorous representations to the Carranza Government in behalf of four, American citizens, all residents of Texas, who are held under arest by the Carrancista authorities at Nuevo Laredo and sentenced to be shot. Senator Sheppard was tonight notified of the predictment of these men in dispatch from Covey C. Thomas of Cotulla, Texas, and immediately brought the matter to the attention of Secretary Bryan. The State Department sent instructions to its agents in Mexico to make a strong appeal in behalf of the men.

The telegram to Senator Sheppard stated that the four men were held by th military authorities at Neuvo Laredo for alleged violation of the military export reglations, that have been arbitrarily established by the Carranza authorities. The men sentenced to be shot are Hadley White, William White, William Burris, and Terrell Bobo, all Texas cattlemen. The men are charged with having attempted to send cattle out of export duty levied by the Carranza Mexico into Texas without paying the Government.

Secretary Bryan has sent a vigorous protest directly to the Carranza authorities at Tampico against their threat to close the great oil wells in the vicinity of Tampico, because the foreign operators refused to pay a heavy assessment levied by the Mexicans. At the same time the matter was brought to the attention of Gen. Carranza himself.

Most of the oil plants are owned by American and British capital. From time to time lately there have been complaints against decrees of the Carranza officials, reports coming directly from State Department representatives as well as through the interested foreign embassies.

The latest advices indicated that the Mexicans were preparing to shut down all of the plants unless the money demanded was forthcoming.

The Spanish Ambassador, Señor Riaño, made representations personally to Secretary Bryan today in behalf of Spanish subjects who, he is advised, have been mistreated, and Spanish interests ,damaged at Puebla, Mexico. His complaint was based on information from the Spanish Minister in Mexico City, who reported mills and other Spanish property had been burned and otherwise damaged several weeks ago. He had no report, however, that the situation was continuing.

CARRANZA TELLS OF GAINS.

Says Villa Is Evacuating Saltillo—Monterey Force to Return.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—The Carranza agency here tonight made public the following telegram from Laredo:

"Gen. Luis Gutierrez wired Nuevo Laredo today from Tunnel Station, a few miles southeast of Saltillo, that the Villistas were evacuating Saltillo and retreating in the direction of San Luis Potosi. He reports that the Villista force that entered Saltillo was under the command of Gen. Angeles and numbered only 6,000 men."

Another report given out by the agent said Gen. Maclovio Herrera had shot and killed Gen. Soldivar, of Villa's army, when the latter, with a party of disguised soldiers, entered the Carranza lines in a fogan d tried to assassinate Gen. Herrera.

The Carranza agency also issued the following statement:

"Gen. Carranza, from Vera Cruz, denies that Tampico is threatened by a Villa force, and says that the officers of the gunboat Guerrero, reported deserting to Guitterez forces, are still loyal. Gen. Pebla onzales took Valles, on the outskirts of San Luis Potosi."

BROWNSVILLE, Jan. 14.—Gen. E. P. Navarrete, Carranza commander at Matamoras, the Mexican town opposite here, tonight announced that Carranza troops, which last night and today came to Matamoras, would be returned at once, and that four trainloads of refugees which arrived at Reynosa, a Mexican border town westof here, also would be returned to Monterey.

Gen. Navarrete explained that the recent troop movement from Monteray was due to lack of ammunition, which, he said, had been replenished. He asserted there were no Villa troops along the railroad between Monterey and Matamoras.

WITHDRAWS BRIBERY CHARGE.

Zapata Chief Does Not Accuse Americans—Senora Iturbide Escapes.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Gen. Manuel Palafox, Minister of Agriculture in the Gutierrez Provisional Government's Cabinet in Mexico City, has withdrawn the allegations he made against John R. Silliman, personal agent of President Wilson, and against Louis Canova, another special agent of the State Department, with respect to the escape of Gen. Iturbide from Mexico City. It was alleged by Gen. Palafox that Messrs. Silliman and Canova had received money to take Iturbide out of the country. This Palafox now says he did not mean to say. Palafox is a Zapatista.

The denial of Palafox was received from Mexico City today in the form of a signed statement.

Gen. Iturbide, who is now here, received a telegram tonight from his wife saying she had managed to make her escape from Mexico and was safe at El Paso, from which place she has taken a train for Chicago en route to Washington.

CONVENTION TO RULE A YEAR.

Villa and Zapata Generals Purpose to Guide Officials.

Special to The New York Times.

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 13, (via El Paso, Jan. 14.)—Gen. Palacios Moreno, Secretary of the convention, told THE NEW YORK TIMES correspondent this evening of a project now before that body of the greatest importance, as it provided for a new Government during the preconstitutional period, which is fixed as one year, terminating Jan. 1, 1916

The main feature of the project is that it establishes the sovereignty of the convention in the broadest manner, requiring that Cabinet Ministers be appointed by the convention on nomination by the President and may be dismissed by a majority vote of the same assembly without specific cause, if the tendency of their policies is thought to run counter to the revolutionary principles. The Ministers shall be responsible to the convention and no Government act shall be adopted without the approval either of the Minister in whose province the matter lies or of the Cabinet Council in full session.

According to the project, the President might also be dismissed by the convention, but only in specific cases defined in the project, the chief being the contingency of the President's openly disregarding the convention's decisions.

MEXICAN MINES WORKING.

American Predicts That Villa Will Soon Pacify the Country.

A well-known American mining man who did not wish his name to be used reached the Vanderbilt yesterday after a journey of eight days from Mexico City. For four days and nights he traveled between the capital and El Paso in a Pullman car that carried no food, no lights and no water. It was hitched on to the end of a freight train.

"I have been in Mexico City since October, and I can say that I believe Villa now has the situation in Mexico in hand," said the traveler. "Things are quiet in the capital. The talk about Villa's exacuating it is all rot. Villa is in control, and the new cabinet is a good one.

"Business, however, is very quiet. The peso was worth only 14 cents when I left. The mines, all of which are in Villa's territory, are all working. Carranza has Tampico and the coast ports, but his tenure will be only for a short time. Villa can be depended upon to clear up things pretty soon.

"I was in Mexico City when Carranza evacuated the place, and the sights to be seen were disgraceful. Carranza's men were shooting coachmen off their boxes, and lassoing their horses and taking them. His officers were holding up people and taking their pocketbooks and even their overcoats, and looting was going on everywhere, though in this only two Americans suffered, their houses being stripped of everything. When Zapata's men came in they gave the city the first taste of real order it had had since the departure of Heurta."

THINKS CHRISTABEL SHOULD BE DEPORTED

PRESENTED CASE UNFAIRLY

Had to Protest Against Suffragist's Appeal, Asserts Stindberg's Widow—Reports Audience Was Packed.

It has been suggested that the Carnegie Hall meeting at which Miss Christabel Pankhurst, the young English suffragette, was heckled on Wednesday evening was packed for the purpose, either by her friends or to make it exciting and attract attention or by her enemies.

The two women who did a great part of the heckling both said yesterday that they were overcome by their feelings at the moment and that it was impossible for them to refrain from interrupting.

"I went to the meeting with the pleasantest feelings," said Mme. August Strindberg, widow of the Swedish poet-dramatist who has been here for the past five weeks and who claims her best friends amon the English people.

"I had never heard Christabel Pankhurst in England and my going was due to a complimentary feeling. But when I heard what she said I could not contain myself. When I feel strongly I must express myself, whatever happens.

"There was nothing but hatred, hatred, hatred in the talk. It seemed to me that it was so contrary to the feeling that was being shown in America which is sending help to the wounded of all nations. There were no arguments; it was cheap, but with great cleverness in working upon the points that would appeal to Americans—they had been studied carefully and appealed to as some women appeal to their husbands to get a new dress, but it is not a straightforward honest way. The compliments she gave America were insults.

"I was sorry to have been obleg dto speak, and with Mrs. Ellis (Mrs. Haverlock Ellis,) beside me, but I was very glad that afterward she said she felt exactly as I did."

"It was a very god example of dodging and endurance," said Mrs. Charles E. Knoblauch, who sat in the front row at the lecture, and whose feelings also overpowered her. "I thought I might ask some questions at the end of the lecture when I went, but I had no idea of saying anything that I did. It simply burst out. I should have said more if Mr. Knoblauch had not held me back. He asked some questions himself. Miss Pankhurst broke the neutrality we are supposed to keep here, and I consider that she should be deported. There was nothing that she said that was founded on fact. I admit, though, that she was exceedingly clever at dodging.

"She said something about the Belgian women, and I said:

"'How about the Boer women?'

"'I am coming back to that,' she replied, but she never came back. She was coming back also when I asked her about the English marching through Portugal, but she never got back to that either.

"They spoke of me at the meeting as the German woman, but I haven't a drop of German blood in my veins. My ancestors fought in the Revolution, and Mr. Knoblauch fought in the Spanish war I think we are pretty good Americans. There were no arguments at all given in Miss Pankhurst's speech. She dodged everything."

Miss Pankhurst, looking very rosy and well, yesterday spoke enthusiastically of the meeting.

"It was magnificent," she said, "and proved conclusively, I think, that there is a strong feeling here for the Allies. The opposition was much more serious than it is at home. There, if they come to scoff, they usually remain to pray. The audience showed plainly that if it was needed America would come forward to defeat Prussian militarism.

"The sympathy shown for the Allies yesterday was wonderful. When I said that the 'British fleet is guaranteeing the liberty of the world' there was more applause for that than for anything else."

SEIZE QUEEN OF SHEBA GEMS

Jewels Said to Have Been Egyptian's Smuggled In, Says Government.

Special Treasury Agent Howard D. Esterbrook made a seizure yesterday in a Maiden Lane jewelry store of two quaint pear-shaped diamond earrings from A. Antikadjian, an Armenian diamond broker of Constantinople, who was offering the jewels for sale. The Federal official maintained that the jewels had not been declared and seized them because he believed that they had been smuggled into the country.

Antikadjian contended that he was entitled to bring them in free of duty, as they were antiques and had once belonged to the Queen of Sheba. He said that the earrings were purchased from an Egyptian Princess in whose family they had been handed down as heirlooms from the time of the first of the Pharaohs, and were formerly attached to two large, flat, square-shaped emeralds, which had been bought by another broker. He showed them to the Inspector at the pier on his arrival, who passed them, the Armenian said.

Officials who saw the diamond earrings later in the Collector's office said they were cut in a manner unlike any jewels that had ever been seen there before. Owing to the diamonds not having any lustre, it was roughly estimated that they were worth about $65 a carat. They weighed 18.60 carats, which would make their total value about $1,200.

The Armenian broker was examined by Collector Malone and told the same story as he had to Agent Esterbrook. He was represented by B. A. Levell, his counsel. The Collector ordered the Queen of Sheba's jewels to be locked up in the safe in the Custom House until the case comes up for hearing after experts have examined them.

Antikadjian arrived here on the French Line steamship Touraine from Havre on Oct. 19, but did, it is alleged, not show the earrings to the Customs Inspectors when his baggage was examined on the pier.

The seizure of the jewels by the Treasury agent was made through a rumor which reached the Custom House that a broker from Constantinople was going about offering diamonds for sale, and Customs Officers Isaac Wilson and C. J. Coffey were detailed to look out for him. The brokers informed Collector Malone that several diamond merchants had come over from Constantinople since the outbreak of the war and opened temporary offices in the Maiden Lane district.

Observers Predict Trouble When Governor and Bosses Clash—Steam Roller Injures Emerson's Feelings.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Jan. 24.—The Republican machine stepped in today and took control of the State Senate. With a cohesion that appears to spell doom to any reform not pleasing to the Republican organization which Gov. Whitman may have in view, it rode roughshod over Lieut. Gov. Edward Schoeneck and setting aside Senate precedent tok out of his hands the appointment of the Senate working committees by means of a resolution introduced by Senator George F. Thompson of Niagara.

Lieut. Gov. Schoeneck, who yesterday ventured to rebel against a more or less peremptory order from Senate Leader Elon R. Brown that he assume responsibility for a slate of committee assignments prepared in advance by Senator Brown without consulting him, took gamely today the medicine handed to him by the members of his own party in the Senate. In a statement made public tonight the Lieutenant Governor asserted that as long as the Republican organization was willing to assume the undivided responsibility for the day's work, he had no reason to complain.

"I do not believe," he said, "in a system of deception and fraud under which a Lieutenant Governor is held responsible for the naming of committees chosen by some one else. Whether I was in favor of certain committee assignments or not, does not enter into the situation. If I help to make the designations then I may properly be held responsible for them. If I am not consulted I should not be asked to accept responsibility. That is all there is to it. The Senate was entirely within its right in doing what it did."

"The action today demonstrated beyond doubt that there will be thirty-three votes out of a total of fifty-one in the Senate for any measure advocated by Gov. Whitman," said Senator J. Henry Walter of Syracuse, who through out proceedings acted as floor leader.

"What has occurred here today means big bunches of trouble for Gov. Whitman, the moment there is a clash between hi mand the Republican organization over legislation," said one of the Independent Republicans in the Senate, pledged to stand by the Governor through thick and thin.

This latter prediction of coming trouble was indorsed by an important Republican leader who is not a member of the Senate. Speaking to a NEW YORK TIMES correspondent, this leader said:

"That differences will arise before long should be apparent to any one at all familiar with what is going on behind the scenes. I suppose they will blame Barnes when the split comes. As a matter of fact, however, it will not be of Barnes's making. He is far too big to engage in any small and sordid game of patronage grabbing or meddling with legislation."

In the eagerness of the Republican leaders to have the G. O. P. steam roller make a clean job of it in a hurry, Senator James A. Emerson of Warren County, whose brother "Lou" is one of the most influential of the Old Guard leaders in the Republican organization, was run over. His elimination as Chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, a place to which he considered himself entitled by seniority, was not altogether painless, although in the Republican caucus last night he joined with his Republican Senate colleagues in making the nomination of Senator Henry M. Sage of Albany for that coveted place unanimous. Today, when the list of Finance Committee members was read in the Senate, Mr. Emerson found, to his utter dismay and disgust, that his name did not even appear in the second place on the committee.

Senator Emerson was so angry that he threatened to resign, but he finally agreed to leave the matter for future adjustment.

The slate of committee assignments prepared by Senator Brown went through, although there was objection to the adoption of the Thompson resolution to take the appointing power from the Lieutenant Governor.

"It stands without precedent in a year when the Lieutenant Governor is of the majority party, and I regard it as a serious reflection on the presiding officer," said Senator Whitney of Saratoga.

"To set the Senator's mind at rest," said Lieut. Gov. Shoeneck, "I will say that I concur in the action of the caucus."

The resolution was then adopted by a vote of 27 to 12, all the Democrats voting against it.

Tried and true organization men were placed at the head of all the important committees. Senator Ogden L. Mills, who was a leader in the fight against the leadership of William Barnes last Fall, was made Chairman of the Committee on Indian Affairs, which is at the bottom of the list. The committee seldom meets.

FINANCE.—Sage, Hewitt, Walters, Emerson, Whitney, George F. Thompson, Hill, Bennett, George L. Thompson, Brown, Ramsperger, Cullen, Wagner.

JUDICIARY.—Walters, Spring, Gilchrist, Horton, Halliday, Christman, Burlingame, Walton, Newton, Brown, Foley, Carswell.

CODES.—Newton, Gilchrist, Walton, Slater, Bennett, Lawson, Carswell, Walker, Josephs.

BANKS.—Marshall, Lockwood, Hill, Mullan, Dunnigan, Carroll.

RULES.—Brown, Walters, Sage, Argetsinger, Wagner.

Conservation, Wood; Public Education, Lockwood; Public Health, Whitney; Military Affairs, Stivers; Labor and Industry, Spring; Revision, Burlingame; Penal Institutions, Halliday; Printed and Engrossed Bills, Lawson; Affairs of Villages, Jones; Agriculture, Wilson; Privileges and Elections, Constrnan; Public Printing, Mullan; Indian Affairs, Miles.

Not less than 141 bills were introduced in both houses of the Legislature today. It came near making a new record. The Senate bills alone numbered 80. Nothing was heard in either house, however, of the measure to reorganize the Tax Department. It was said in the Executive Chamber that the bill would accompany a special message from the Governor which would be sent to the Senate and Assembly at the session on Monday night. The Governor, it was said tonight, had been assured that the Tax Department bill would go through without a hitch.

No step was taken in either Senate or Assembly to start the much-heralded investigation of the Public Service Commissions. Many persons at the Capitol are mystified by the delay, concerning which Gov. Whitman declined to comment this evening. It was suggested, however, that the delay may be due to a desire on the part of the Governor to do nothing at present that will interfere with the effectiveness of the Grand Jury investigation into the Subway accident or afford opportunities for immunity baths to witnesses.

WAGNER ATTACKS MESSAGE.

Says Governor Has Lent Himself to a Patronage Grab.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Jan. 14.—Asserting that in framing his policy for a general reorganization of the State departments, Gov. Whitman had lent himself to an "iconoclastic and unconscionable plot, hatched by the Republican organization," for the purpose of grabbing patronage, Senator Robert F. Wagner, Democratic leader in the Upper House, in a speech from the Senate floor today denounced the Governor's annual message.

"The important thing in the message is the recommendations with which it bristles to rip out departments and grab off places," said the minority leader. The Republicans in the Senate listened to the speech in silence and no attempt was made by an Senator of the Governor's own party to come to his defense. Senator Wagner said in part:

"In the main the message must be criticised as a simon pure Republican organization's demand for patronage and office. I hope the Governor of the State has not been led to believe that his message proclaims any novel proposals or any new reforms. If one will but examine the Assembly Journal of a year ago, he will find legislation which the Governor now proposes, introduced by Republican members.

"The Governor is a good deal like the offender who attempts to prove his alibi before committing the offense. He begins his message by stating 'It is not my purpose to recommend to your Honorable Body legislation popularly known as 'Ripper Legislation,'' to the end that offices and places now held by members of one political organization may be filled by members of another organization.' That is his pre-established alibi. After this declaration the message proposes a programme for the wresting of offices from Democrats and placing them in the hands of Republicans for which the word 'ripper' is only a mild term."

Gov. Whitman to-night declined to make any comment on the attack made on his message by Senator Wagner.

WHITMAN MAKES 22D AN ENGINEER CORPS

WILL NOW NEED MORE MEN

Although All Officers Are Not Placed, 500 Men Will Be Required for the Authorized Strength.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Jan. 14.—In affirming the order for the reorganization of the Twenty-second Regiment, Gov. Charles S. Whitman to-night directed that the name of the body be retained and that the new formation of two battalions of engineers be known as the "Twenty-second Corps of Engineers."

Gov. Whitman paid tribute to the record and proud traditions of the regiment and emphasized that the only reason prompting the issuance of the order of reorganization, was a desire on the part of the State to conform to the National Guard, regulations of the War Department.

The military law of the State confers upon the Governor the power to order the reorganization of any State force to conform with War Department requirements. The reorganization of the Twenty-second was ordered by Gov. Martin H. Glynn on Dec. 23, in accordance with recommendations by Maj. Gen. John F. O'Ryan, commander of the National Guard of the State.

"Protest has been made," Gov. Whitman said, "against the carrying out of the order of reorganization, on the ground that the effect is to wipe out a military organization of the State forces, distinguished by long and honorable service, with a notable history of attainment, and about which cluster sentiments of affection and loyalty which are an invaluable asset in our National Guard service.

"After a careful investigation of this matter and after hearing personally the distinguished officers of the veteran organization of the regiment and others interested, and considering the plans of reorganization proposed, I find that the effect of the order is not to wipe out this organization and I will not permit it to interfere with the regiment's numerical designation in which its members and veterans have just and proper pride.

"In order to conform to the desires of the War Department, which has authorized the creation of two battalions of engineers for the State, it is proposed that the Twenty-second Regiment, having undertaken to supply the required element of engineer troops shall by a reorganization of its units conform to the desires of the War Department.

"The so-called disbandment is incidental only to a reorganization into these two battalions. This does not provide places for all the officers of the regiment, hence the officers unassigned to the reorganized battalions will, temporarily at least have to remain on the reserve list. As to the enlisted personnel of the regiment, the authorized strength of the two battalions will absorb not only all the enlisted men upon the roll of the regiment, but will require additional enlistments of from 400 to 500 men to bring the battalions to the authorized strength."

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Jan. 14.—Assemblyman John J. Ryan, Democrat, of New York City, the youngest member of the Legislature, today introduced a bill providing for the abolition of the death penalty in the State and substituting life imprisonment. Gov. Whitman said today that he had not changed his views in favor of the retention of the life penalty. He said he spoke from long experience gained as District Attorney.

MALLETT INDIGNANT AT ANIMAL SOCIETY

Threatens to Go to Court When His Protest Is Called Unwarranted.

HORSES AND MULES IN WAR

President Wagstaff Deplores Their Doom to "Such Frightful Suffering and Slaughter."

William A. Mallett, who brought charges several months ago against the Humane Society and tried to have its charter revoked, and Frederick Stephens, President of the Olin J. Stephens Company at 138th Street and the Harlem River, enlivened the annual meeting of the society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals at Madison Avenue and Twenty-sixth Street yesterday. They didn't like the report of an investigating committee appointed to hear their charges of undue activity of the Society's agents in interfering with their drivers and wagons.

The special committee, consisting of Gordon Knox Bell, Chairman; Lorillard Spencer, G. Howard Davison, Walter L. Suydam, Mrs. Richard Irvin, Mrs. Theodore G. Veetor, and Mrs. Joseph E. Wivlers said in their report:

"That the complaint of Mr. Mallett was unwarranted; that he is a man of hasty temper and bad judgment; that he has confused our agents with those of another humane society, for whose activities we are not responsible, and that his subsequent conduct toward that society, both by deed and in the public press, does not tend to convince your committee of his sincerity."

When Mr. Mallett objected to this reference to himself, Lorillard Spencer's suggection that it be stricken from the report of the committee was approved.

"The ladies are better humane agents than the men, and I know it," continued Mallett. "I'd rather have a committee composed of one-half of the women members to decide on my protest."

"Why do you retain your membership in the society?" interrupted several of the women members.

"I'm here to get a square deal, and if I can't get it here, I'll go to court and prove it," Mallet retorted.

Mr. Stephens wanted the society to adopt a policy of issuing summonses instead of making arrests, and to prosecute the owners and not the drivers of horses. Henry Bergh, Treasurer of the society, told him that an agent had no option but to make an arrest under the law in a case of cruelty.

President Alfred Wagstaff, in his annual report, announced that Miss Edith C. Bowdoin had presented to the society two automobiles for its work, and that a new hospital for animals had been opened at 114 Lwarence Street, Brooklyn. Commenting on the use of horses in the European war, President Wagstaff said:

"It is a deplorable fact that tens of thousands of horses and mules have been purchased in the United States to take the place of countles sanimals that have been wounded or killed in battle. The societies of the country have been powerless to stop this traffic, which the Government at Washington tells us is not contraband of war in the sense that the purchase of horses and their embarkation for foreign ports can be stopped. All we can do is to protest against this decimation of our horse population, doomed to such frightful suffering and slaughter, and to use every effort to minimize the hardships incident to long journeys in railroad cars and on steamships."

The society's work for the year included 1,891 arrests and prosecutions, 6,578 animals suspended from labor, 9,876 complaints of cruelty investigated, and 93,356 calls made for unwanted, sick, and injured animals. The expenses, $210,000, exceeded the society's income, but it received several small bequests.

170 HELD TO BE DEPORTED.

Steamship Lines Still Paying for Aliens Held Up by War.

There are 170 Germans, Austrians, nad Russians awaiting deportation at Ellis Island, of whom fifty are in the hospital. The Germans and Austrians cannot be sent back on account of the war and the Russians must wait until the ice breaks in the Spring so they can get to Archangel.

Meantime the United States is charging the steamship companies which brought the immigrants here 24 cents a day for steerage passengers, 35 cents for cabin passengers, $1.25 for adult patients in the hospital, and 75 cents for children.

The steamship companies have not decided what to do in the matter, but probably will pay the bills for six months and then protest to Washington.

The Cunard Company before the war fought the payment of hospital charges for aliens who developed diseases after leaving their ships and won.

Liner That Was in Collision Here.

The Atlantic Transport steamship Manitou arrived from London yesterday with a dent in her bow and a few plates strained, the result of a collison on Christmas Eve with the British cruiser Cleopatra off Beachy Head. A call of "man overboard" was heard by the officers on the Manitou and the emergency boat was lowered. After pulling about for an hour and a half it returned to the ship without picking up the man who was believed to have fallen overboard from the Cleopatra.

Baff Witnesses All Bailed.

Joseph and Jacob Cohen, who were arrested in connection with the Baff case and who were later indicted and held in $25,000 bail on an assault charge, were released on bail supplied by a surety company yesterday after Judge Rosalsky in General Sessions had reduced the amount to $12,500. Harry Cohen, their brother, who was detained as a witness, is also out in $5,000 bail and "Big Izzy" Switzky and other witnesses are out in $1,000 bail.

SAYS WILSON CLAIMS A REPUBLICAN IDEA

ANSWERS INDIANA SPEECH

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Yesterday's attack in the Senate on President Wilson for his Indianapolis speech was repeated in the House today, when Representative James R. Mann, the Republican leader, took the President to task. The interesting feature of Mr. Mann's remarks was his denial of the truth of the President's statement that the Republicans in Congress, who had been clamoring for a tariff commission to make a scientific revision of tariff schedules and had criticized the Democrats for not providing for such a body had been entirely ignorant of the fact that the new Interstate Trade Commission had been empowered to serve as a tariff commission.

Mr. Mann charged the President, in plain language, with lifting credit for his own party for this tariff commission legislation. The President had spoken of this legislation as "scientific handling of the tariff" and contended that, although the Republicans had voted for the paragraph, they had not noticed that the Democrats had put it in the bill. "It has the full powers which will guide Congress in the scientific treatment of international trade," he said. "Being a schoolmaster by profession, I am glad to point that out to the class of uninstructed Republicans, though I have not always taught in the primary grade."

Commenting on this passage, Mr. Mann said the President claimed to have sneaked something into the Trade Commission bill that was not understood by Congress. If a man should arise in the House and do that, said Mr. Mann, he would lose caste as an honorable legislator and man. He then went on to tell in detail the history of the conference stage of the Trade Commission bill.

"When the Federal Trade Commission bill was before the House," said Mr. Mann, "Mr. Stevens of Minnesota, the ranking Republican member of the Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce, which reported this bill, said: 'The Commission will have plenary power to investigate under the acts now existing as to the Bureau of Corporations. It can obtain any sort of information it may find necessary under that section.'

"Mr. Stevens said," continued Mr. Mann, "that the exporters asked to have this power extended as to all corporations doing business with foreign countries. The bill as introduced in the House contained language giving to the proposed Trade Commission all the existing powers, authority, and duties of the Commissioner of Corporations. But as the Senate passed the bill they left that provision out. The Senate provisions left the broad power which had been included in the House bill. And when the bill went down to conference after consultation with the Republican leader on the floor of the House, Mr. Stevens, the Republican member of the including this language in the conference report and it was put in and under that the President now claims in part the power of a Tariff Commission."

This statement was greeted by applause on the Republican side of the House.

"These changes under which the President claims he has the power of a Tariff Commission," Mr. Mann added, "were inserted on the motion of the egntleman from Minnesota, Mr. Stevens, the Republican member of the Conference Committee. Put one over on us? We did not know what was being done, but after all we did it." Here again the Republicans applauded.

Mr. Mann went on to say that Mr. Covington, then a Representative from Maryland and now Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, was also one of the conferees, and, with Mr. Stevens, often consulted with him [Mann] in regard to the bill which all understood was to be treated as a non-partisan measure.

"Now," said the minority leader, "what I want to know is whether the President will use the power which he thought he had obtained by a sneak. Will you give him the money to make a tariff investigation as to facts, and will he do it?"

DOG TOO SMALL TO MUZZLE.

Mr. Wertheimer Shows Prize Pekingese to Court and Is Freed.

"I am willing to pay well for a muzzle small enough to fit this dog without endangering its life," said Herbert N. Wertheimer, a wealthy exporter of sponges, of 118 East Thirty-eighth Street to Magistrate Marsh in the Yorkville Court yesterday when arraigned for having the dog in the street unmuzzled. As he spoke he held up a little bundle of brown fluff from which peeped the tiniest eyes. It was Nellie Winkfield, six inches high and weighing five pounds, a prize Pekingese, with a pedigree as long as that of a Chinese Mandarin.

Patrolman Lawlor summoned Wertheimer to court, while he was walking with his wife at Fifth Avenue and Seventy-Fifth Street on Wednesday night and leading the dog on a leash.

"I have bought seven of the smallest muzzles made," said Mr. Wertheimer, "and I have had some especially made, but I cannot get the muzzle small enough. The little dog gets its paw in a large muzzle and has almost choked to death several times. The small muzzles will not stay on for there is not enough head on the little thing to hold it. I would be glad to comply with the law, which I believe is a good one, but I'll have to discover something in muzzles to do so."

Magistrate Marsh suggested that Mr. Wertheimer carry a muzzle with him to demonstrate to police officers that he respects the law, and dismissed the complaint.

MISS STOTT'S WILL FILED.

Bequests to New York Charities and Relatives in Ireland.

The will of Miss Sophia Frances Stott, who died in this city on Nov. 26, 1913, was filed for probate yesterday at the Surrogates' Court. Several charitable bequests are made, and the balance of the estate, which totals $43,000, is distributed among a number of relations, chiefly in Ireland.

The New York Bible Society, the Children's Aid Society and the New York City Mission and Tract Society each receive $500. The rector and vestrymen of St. George's Church, are to receive $3,000 for the use of the endowment fund; St. Luke's Home for Agéd Women, receives $5,000 with which to endow a room, to be called "St. George's Rest," the occupant of which is to be designated by the testator's friend, Bertha Howard Minturn. St. Luke's Hospital receives $7,500 with which to endow a bed subject to the approval of another friend, Waldron Post Brown. The residue, amounting to about $20,000, is left to the New York Protestant Episcopal Mission Society.

MRS. SAGE OFFERS PRINCETON $250,000

ATTACK ON PAID COACHES

President Hibben Would Have Undergraduates Run Athletics Without Outside Assistance.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., Jan. 14.—The offer of Mrs. Russell Sage to donate $250,000 to Princeton University provided a similar amount is raised by July 1, was the weightiest matter before the Board of Trustees at its meeting today. The fund is being raised with a view to erecting a new university dining hall on the campus. Toward the needed $250,000 already $75,000 has been raised, of which the sophomore class has contributed $30,000.

President Hibben in his annual report expressed the hope that paid coaches in athletics would soon disappear. Athletics are suffering from an over-organized system of coaching, he said, and he believed that more responsibility should be placed on team Captains.

"If undergraduates should be released from unnatural domination of their sports by graduate coaches," he said, "intercollegiate sport would be liberated from the abnormal incubus of a superimposed system which tends to make puppets of the players.

"Our athletics not only in Princeton, but throughout the country, are suffering from an over-organized system of coaching. I hope that the time may soon come when the paid coach will disappear. He and his ever-increasing number of assistants, all of whose expenses prove a heavy drain upon the athletic treasurer and tend to keep up the gate receipts of intercollegiate contests at an abnormal figure, render intercollegiate sport an unduly expensive affair.

"Particularly in the game of football, the captain of the team should be the sole responsible person for the management of his men, devising and directing their play in practice games so that in the critical situations of a great contest he and his team will rise to the occasion and win or lose with honor.

"It is quite absurd, when one comes to think of it, that the control of the team in all preliminary games should be in the hands of a body of men who are relegated to the side lines when the play is on. After all it is an undergraduate affair and the game should be planned and played by undergraduates. If you place upon them the responsibility, they will respond to it, for it is certain that responsibility always provokes efficiency. That men may be resourceful in time of emergency they must be schooled in the art of resourcefulness by some stimulation of their latent powers of ingenuity."

Prof. Dina Carleton Munroe of the University of Wisconsin was called to the Chair of Mediaeval History by the Trustees.

A special committee was appointed by the board to consider the question of continuing compulsory week-day chapel service. The committee will report at the next meeting of the trustees in April. The undergraduates are back of a movement urging that they be not required to attend chapel service during the week.

Henry C. Frick of Pittsburgh was elected a life trustee of the university. The degree of Doctor of Laws was conferred upon John G. Johnson of Philadelphia.

Cash gifts amounting to $42,779 were reported as received since the last meeting.

ASSAIL STORAGE BILL.

Meat Packers Say It Would Increase Cost of Meat.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Chicago meat packers were heard today by the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee on the MacKellar Cold Storage bill. This measure provides that beef shall remain in cold storage no longer than seven months, and imposes a penalty for offering for sale or selling it when it has been stored for a longer time.

The packers contended that regulation by the Government of the cold-storage business would result in no benefit to the consumer of beef and of beef products, and eventually would result in an increase of price without corresponding improvement of quality. Those who were heard were George L. McCarthy, Secretary of the American Meat Packers' Association of Chicago; F. J. Gardner of Swift & Co., and W. B. Farris, representing Morris & Co. of Chicago.

Mr. McCarthy said he spoke for 225 packing companies and firms and 200 associate members. His association had nothing to do, he said, with the purchase of meat or its products.

"As far as the trade is concerned," he said, "we believe that this bill is unnecessary and will not accomplish the objects sought, which is to promote the public health and prevent the sale of food which has deteriorated in cold storage.

ATLANTIC GALES CONTINUE.

Incoming Liners Tell of Terrific Seas and Damages.

According to the reports of incoming liners there has been no cessation in the gales on the Atlantic for the last two months. The officers of the British freighter Strathcarron, which arrived yesterday from Cardiff after a twenty-one day voiage, reported terrific gales on the passage. A week ago, when the ship was north of Bermuda, the steam steering gear carried away and she fell off into the trough of the sea going over on her beam ends.

Capt. Gull of the Italian steamship Verona, which arrive yesterday from Naples, said that the weather had been the worst he had ever experienced, including three days of terrific gales in the Mediterranean.

The Brazilian liner Merity from Rio Janeiro had her steering gear put out of commission in a northwest hurricane by the big seas that swept over her side. Before reaching Quarantine the Merity nearly had a collision with the outward bound steamship Colon of the Panama Railroad line and later narrowly missed colliding with the Mallory steamship Sabine.

CHICAGO'S ATHLETIC STAR WINS JUMP

But Loomis Is Outrun in Two Other Events in Millrose A. A. Games.

Ten thousand persons, the largest crowd that ever attended an athletic meet in Madison Square Garden, last night placed the stamp of approval on Joe Loomis, the Chicago A. A. all-around athlete, who won three titles in the low hurdles, high jump, and 100-yard sprint in the last national outdoor championships at Baltimore. He was the chief feature in the Millrose A. A. games. Three times the Westerner, who is not a speed artist, opposed the best athletes in the East, and once he was successful in demonstrating his superiority over his field. First honors in the running high jump handicap were taken by Loomis when he leaped over the crossbar while it was raised 6 feet 1 inch. In this event the triple title holder had as an opponent Gene Jennings of the Millrose A. A., indoor high jump champion, who failed to win a place.

Loomis made his successful début before the athletic enthusiasts of New York in the fifth heat of the 70-yard dash, handicap. With a stride that is not unlike the lope of a kangaroo the tall Westerner overcame big handicaps of three opponents, rivals in this trial, yet he won with ridiculous ease. But in the semi-final the tables were turned on the great all-around athlete, and he was pocketed badly five yards from the finish, when it appeared he would certainly be placed, and he was not one two three.

Again in the 70-yard low hurdles, in which Loomis was on the honor mark with Jack Eller, the Irish-American A. C. champion, the blonde lad was placed in his heat, but in the final he was beaten off by three opponents, first place going to Walter Bursch of the New York Athletic Club, who had three feet allowance. Eller was second, with Frank Brady of Columbia University, also off three yards, third.

Few athletic enthusiasts could recall when so much attention was paid to an athlete as was showered on Loomis last night. He was truly the cynosure of all eyes. While he was competing nothing else could command the attention of the spectators. He was freely applauded almost every step he took.

No first-class athlete in the United States resembles Loomis. He is a tall, thin lad, very athletic looking, and were he a little broader he would look like Bombardier Wells, the Adonis of the boxers. Jack Donaldson, the world's champion professional sprinter, had a stride something like that of Loomis, who takes one step to the ordinary athletes' two. He is so tall that he simply steps over the low hurdles. While Loomis undoubtedly was the principal attraction, a number of other features were crowded into the four hours of competition.

Ted Meredith, Meadowbrook A. A., Philadelphia, world's record holder at 880 yards, 800 meters Olympic champion, and quarter mile national title holder, once more demonstrated he is the best of the world's middle distancers when he won the 600 yards invitation scratch race from a select field in the fast time of 1:13 3-5. It was first announced that the sturdy Quaker lad had run the distance in 1:13 2-5, which would have equalled the world's indoor record made by Tom Halpin, who finished second to Meredith last night. The correction was not noted until fifteen minutes after the race had been run. Homer Baker, international champion at a half mile, first to get away, was third across the finish line in this event. Dave Caldwell, the sensational Cornell half miler, running for the Boston A. A., and Hugh Hirschen of the Irish-American A. C., made up this field.

Baker and Caldwell made a false start, and would have been penalized five yards had not Meredith, Halpin, and Hirschen insisted they start from the scratch mark. After making a bad break and escaping punishment, Baker again "beat the gun" when the start was made, but his lead was short-lived, for on the first turn Meredith and Halpin had caught him. Meredith set the pace from that stage, and he won by three yards from Halpin, while Baker was five yards behind the Boston A. A. athlete. The Quaker boy ran better than ever before in a race in New York.

Sydney Leslie, the young Long Island A. C. distance runner, came out of a long retirement just in time to gain possession of the Rodman Wanamaker Trophy by winning the special two-mile run. With a 40-yard allowance, Mike Devanney, unattached, was second, and Casper Scheffler, Long Island A. C., third. As the Long Island A. C. already had two legs on this trophy, by virtue of the victories of Willie Kramer and Leslie's triumph last year, the Brooklyn club gains permanent possession of the [illegible] bronze statue.

Hannes Kolehmainen, the great Finnish runner, for the second time within a week was unable to go the full route in a handicap contest. At a mile the Irish-American A. C. representative was in evident distress, but he continued on for two more laps before retiring.

Leslie was overlooked when the Finn quit, but he was out in front, running easily and all the time increasing his lead. Devanney and Horton of the New Yorks gave keen contention for a time, but in the last three laps they were unable to cope with him.

He won easily by about seventy yards, with Devanney holding a small lead over Scheffler. Horton, considered a good candidate for first honors, was unplaced.

Charles De Stefano, Ozanam Association, won the ten-mile road race held in connection with the games. He had a handicap of three minutes. Arthur Roth, Mohawk A. C., which club won the team trophy with 13 points, was second, and in addition was fast time man, covering the route which led around Central Park in [illegible] minutes [illegible] seconds. Third place was captured by [illegible] Millrose A. C., first scratch man to finish, crossed the tape in tenth position. The summaries:

PLAYERS NOT TO TESTIFY.

Only Club Owners and League Officials to Figure in Anti-Trust Suit.

CHICAGO, Jan. 14.—Every club owner in the American and National Leagues, the Presidents of the leagues and some minor league club owners, will file affidavits giving the organized side of baseball in the Federal League's anti-trust suit, next week, it is said. Ball players themselves will not be asked to testify on the side of organized baseball. B. B. Johnson, President of the American League; August Herrmann, of the Cincinnati Nationals, and Chairman of the National Commission, and President Charles Thomas of the Chicago Nationals, already had prepared affidavits, and to-day C. A. Comiskey of the Chicago Americans and Robert Hedges of the St. Louis Americans, questioned by attorneys for organized ball here, gave their testimony.

The text of the affidavits was not made public, but in a general way they are said to contain statements declaring that baseball under the national agreement is not a trust; that it has proved a blessing to ball players and denies the Federals' charges.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 14.—The affidavits of President Lannin of the Boston American League Club, William F. Baker, President of the Philadelphia Nationals, and Connie Mack, manager of the Philadelphia Americans, to be used in connection with the Federal League suit against organized baseball, were taken here today by George Wharton Pepper, counsel for the National League. The nature of the testimony was not made public, but it is understood that all the magnates denied the Federals' charges and declared that organized baseball under the national agreement is not a trust.

Cincinnati to Give Veteran Catcher $6,000 a Year.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 14.—Charles S. Dooin, former manager of the Phillies, announced to-night that he had accepted the offer of Manager Herzog of Cincinnati and that he was ready to sign a contract with that club at any time. Herzog stated over the telephone from his home in Maryland that his offer, which was for a two-year contract at $6,000 a year, still stood. He added that he would immediately communicate with Garry Herrmann, President of the Cincinnati Club, and that he hoped to have a contract ready for Dooin's signature within a short time.

Earlier in the night President Baker of the Phillies had announced that he would accede to Dooin's request and ask for waivers on the former manager.

J., Jan. 14.—John "Dots" Miller, captain of the St. Louis National League Club, reached his home here today from the tour of the All-American and National League ball players, accompanied by his bride, who was a Miss Thoroman of St. Louis. The ball player was married in San Francisco just before the teams sailed for the Hawaiian Islands. Later in the day Miller had a conference with Dave Fultz of the Players' Fraternity over matters of interest to the Players' Union. Miller will rest here until the call for Spring training. He said that the Hawaiian Islands enlisted a number of capable baseball players.

W. Zimmerman for the Superbas.

NEWARK, N. J., Jan. 14.—William Zimmerman, the Newark International League outfielder, will get a chance to play with the Brooklyn team of the National League this season. It is understood that the contract offered this year is more favorable.

CRESCENTS DEFEAT IRISH-AMERICANS

Extra Period Necessary to Give Brooklyn Hockey Players a 4 to 3 Victory.

An extra period was necessary to decide the Amateur Hockey League championship game last night between the Crescent A. C. of Brooklyn and the Irish-American A. C. At the end of the second period of the contest each team had scored three goals. Without a rest the rival sevens resumed their struggle, and after nearly six minutes of hard playing Martin scored the deciding point for the New Moon representatives and registered a 4—3 victory.

It was the first defeat for the Irish-Americans this season, and the result placed them on even terms with the Crescent and dropped them a point in the championship race. The result was somewhat of a surprise, as the Winged-Fist aggregation had shown better early season form than their opponents, and while a close contest was expected, the final honors were expected to rest with the Irish-Americans.

During the early stages of the contest there was little rough play, and it was not until the latter part of the second period that the first penalty was inflicted. Two Crescent A. C. players were benched for deliberately tripping their opponents, and the Brooklyn team had only five men on the ice. It was then that the keen rivalry between the teams was apparent, and except for the liberal interpretation of the rules by the referee and his assistant the number of penalties would have been much larger.

Before the first few minutes of play had expired, the spectators were treated to some lively work, and tumbles were frequent. Both goal tenders were called upon to repel the determined attacks of the rival forwards, and many excellent stops were made. The puck was carried backward and forward with interesting regularity, when Lovat made a hard drive at Kelly, the Irish-American goalkeeper. The latter stopped the shot, but lost his footing, and, while floundering around in front of his net, Hallock shot the rubber in the net, scoring the first goal for the Crescents. This unexpected score was followed by a rally on the part of the Winged-Fist players, and a concerted attack resulted in a goal, which was scored by Klemmer on a pass from Cree, making the score even.

There was no let-up in the aggressive attacks of the opposing teams, and several good shots narrowly missed finding a resting place in the net. A pretty passing run by Abrahams and Cree resulted in a second goal for the Irish-Americans, Abrahams scoring the point. The first half ended shortly after, with the Irish-Americans leading by one goal.

The Crescents lost no time in equalizing the score when the second period started. After Kelly had stopped a sizzling shot from Hallock he failed to drive the rubber out of the danger zone and Crovat skating up on the left wing found an opening and experienced no opposition in netting the puck. McCarthy, after a run down the side, had a clear space for a goal shot, but missed by a good margin. Most of the play was in the Crescent territory and it was only the excellent work of Smart that prevented the Irish-Americans adding to their score.

Play was furious and after several unsuccessful attempts the Winged Fistites again went into the lead when McGrath tallied on a short pass from Cree. Rough work on the ice resulted in full penalties for Browne and Crovat, both of whom were detected tripping. After escaping a couple of lucky shots the Crescents again attacked their opponents' stronghold, with the result that Hallock scored on Browne's rebound, bringing the score to a tie.

A lively tussle was witnessed in the extra period before Martin scored the winning point for the New Moon seven. The line-up and summary:

| I. A. A. C. | Positions. | Crescent A. C. |
|---|---|---|
| Kelly | Goal | Smart |
| McCarthy | Point | Ballen |
| Claffy | Cover point | Browne |
| Cree | Rover | Sturrell |
| Klemmer | Centre | Martin |

Goals: First period—Hallock, Crescents, during scrimmage, 11:10; Klemmer, Irish-Americans, on pass from Cree, 15:50; Abrahams, Irish-Americans, on pass from Cree, 18:16. Second period—Crovat, Crescents, unassisted, 2:01; McGrath, Irish-Americans, on a pass from Cree, 7:25; Hallock, Crescents, unassisted, 15:36. Third period—Martin, Crescents, from scrimmage, 5:50. Penalties—Crovat, Crescents, 2 minutes for tripping; Klemmer, Crescents, 2 minutes for tripping; Browne, Crescents, 2 minutes for tripping; Abrahams, Irish-Americans, 2 minutes for tripping.

Referee—E. G. Garon, Hockey Club. Assistant Referee—Stewart Paton, Hockey Club. Timekeepers—W. J. Croker, Wanderers, and Artie Wood, New York A. C. Goal Judges—Frank Ellison, Hockey Club, and Tom Howard, Jr., Hockey Club. Time of game—Two periods of twenty minutes each and one extra period.

Bull Stars in Cutler's Victory.

Cutler School's team won its fourth straight game in the New York Interscholastic Hockey League at St. Nicholas Rink yesterday by defeating Horace Mann's team by the score of 11 to 0. "Johnny" Bull, the Hobey Baker of scholastic hockey, as he is known among the students, scored six of Cutler's eleven points. Bull has been instrumental in winning most of Cutler's games. In the four games won, Cutler has scored fifty points, against none for her opponents. Although the game yesterday was one-sided, Bull's thrilling dashes down the ice and his smashing drives with the puck kept the spectators excited. The line-up:

| Cutler School. | Positions. | Horace Mann. |
|---|---|---|
| [illegible] | Goal | Raymond |
| Marsh | Point | [illegible] |
| Bull | Cover Point | [illegible] |
| [illegible] | Centre | [illegible] |
| Hawkins | Rover | [illegible] |
| [illegible] | Left Wing | [illegible] |
| McPherson | Right Wing | [illegible] |

Two Big Hockey Games Tomorrow.

The St. Nicks, Amateur Hockey League champions, will leave tonight for Boston, where they will play the Boston A. A. seven tomorrow night. While the Santa Claus team is playing the Hub aggregation, Harvard will be playing Princeton at the St. Nicholas Rink in the first big intercollegiate game here.

Harvard squash tennis players were again returned winner in the interclub tournaments yesterday, capturing nine out of twelve matches played in the two divisions. The Squash Club showed marked improvement in the Class B matches against Heights Casino, winning four out of five. The second Class A contest scheduled between Princeton and Heights Casino was abandoned, owing to the withdrawal of the Tigers from the tournament.

Led by E. S. Winston, Captain, the Harvard Club representatives played brilliantly in the Class A competition. Most of the matches were decided in straight games, and showed the Crimson players to a distinct advantage. M. L. Cornell was the only Columbia victor in Class A. He defeated E. du Pont Irving of Harvard after three hard games.

In the Class B division the Columbia Club players made a much better showing, and held their opponents even up to the last match. Strebeigh and Kellock of Columbia came through with victories over Morrison and Forster, respectively, while Appel, Coleman, and Dana scored the winning points for Harvard. The summary:

Old Board of Officers Re-elected, with August Belmont at Head.

The Jockey Club held its annual meeting yesterday at the office of the club, in West Forty-first Street, and re-elected August Belmont Chairman, F. K. Sturgis Vice Chairman, H. K. Knapp Secretary and Treasurer, A. Daingerfield Assistant Secretary. F. R. Hitchcock, H. K. Knapp, and Andrew Miller were re-elected Stewards for two years. They were also appointed a License Committee for one year. The annual reports of the officers were accepted. Spalding Lowe Jenkins of Baltimore was elected a member of the club.

H. K. Knapp tendered his resignation as Chairman of the Committee of the Breeding Bureau, and F. K. Sturgis was selected to fill the office.

The resolution of the Stewards of the Jockey Club as to fair associations was amended to read that no fair association would be permitted to race without the approval of the Stewards of the Jockey Club for more than five days in any one year.

The application of William Bowell for reinstatement was denied. The applications of Thomas McTaggart, Edward Taplin, and Frank Adams for jockey licenses were referred to the License Committee. The temporary licenses granted various jockeys and trainers in 1914 were confirmed.

Gould Hall in Basket Ball Final.

Defeating the team representing the Psi Upsilon Fraternity by the score of 22 to 20, the Gould Hall five yesterday won the privilege to play Delta Upsilon for the interhouse basket ball championship of New York University. The championship carries with it a silver cup, the gift of Dr. John P. Munn, the President of the Athletic Association. The game yesterday was the fastest played in the series, the losers leading throughout the first period but being outclassed in the second. Seven teams have been eliminated from the number of the contestants. The line-up:

| Gould Hall. | Positions. | Psi Upsilon. |

Collegians to Play Y. M. H. A. Five.

Seton Hall College basket ball team will play a return match with the representatives of the Ninety-second Street Young Men's Hebrew Association, the Mohegans, in the gymnasium of the Y. M. H. A., Ninety-second Street and Lexington Avenue, tonight. This game was arranged in response to an insistent request by followers of the teams who were fortunate to witness the previous game between these teams last month, when, after a thrilling game, the divinity students were beaten by a single point, 31 to 32.

Drummie and Leonard at Fairmont.

Young Drummie's ten-round draw against Patsey Cline three weeks ago makes him a dangerous opponent for Benny Leonard, whom he boxes tomorrow night at the Fairmont A. C. Leonard tried himself out for this bout last Monday night and proved he is in condition by stopping Shepherd in four rounds. Drummie is the sparring partner of Young Shugrue, and one of the hardest hitting boys of his weight in the game. In the semi-final of ten rounds, Johnny Allen of Bridgeport will oppose Eddie Morrissey, and there also will be a ten-rounder between George Leahy and Mike McTigue. Leahy is the middleweight who made a fine impression at the Fairmont A. C. two weeks ago.

E. T. APPLEBY WINS FROM BROTHER

Scores 300 to 236 Victory Over Francis S. Appleby in National Class B Billiard Tournament.

The play for the national amateur Class B billiard championship at the Amateur Billiard Club last night brought together two brothers, Edgar T. and Francis S. Appleby, and the former won in an interesting match, the score being 300 to 236. It was this match which the followers of billiards had been looking forward to, and it proved one of the best contested of the tournament. There was no love lost between the brothers as far as billiard affairs were concerned, each putting forth his greatest endeavor to gain the victory. It is considered by many that the championship this year lies between these two, and as Edgar Appleby has already lost one game, his defeat of his brother last night promises to tie things up for the championship.

Francis Appleby appeared to be as much or probably more upset in stroke through playing against his brother than if he had been pitted against the strongest of the other contestants in the tournament. For twenty-two innings last night he struggled along with no counts to speak of, his attempts at control of the ivories resulting in disaster. And all of the time his elder brother Edgar was counting up points rapidly, taking full advantage of the poor play which opposed him. And it was well that he did make the most of that opportunity, for eventually his brother began to gain the control he was seeking and pulled up so well that he was not more than 40 points behind.

From the first inning until the twenty-second Francis Appleby scored only twenty-eight points and of those fourteen came in one inning and his average was only slightly better than 1, which is particularly poor considering that only recently he averaged 40 in a game at Daly's. He was all at sea and missed some of his tries by wide margins. From the twenty-second inning he began to have a little better execution and the lead of 100 which his brother had obtained dwindled materially. His start was too late, however, and he was never really a dangerous competitor.

The play of Edgar Appleby was pretty balk line. He several times gathered the ivories for good runs, the best being thirty-two and he gave excellent exhibitions of the close nurse, working the ivories along the lines for many fast counts. His play was a little too fast it seemed and therein lay the reason for the breaks. With a perfect position he would miss the simplest kind of a shot.

Then, too, he missed many counts through not taking all that the position allowed before there was a drive. The remarkable feature of his play was his open-table work in the gather shots, and then he was invincible. No position was too difficult, and many of his tries evoked the applause of the spectators.

There was a tendency to play a little too much in the open table without working the spheres back to the rails, and this brought several line-ups which were solved by brilliantly executed massé shots. Both of the players, in fact, showed a particular aptitude in counting by such a method. The scores:

Edgar T. Appleby—[illegible] Total—300. High runs—32, 30, and 25. Average—5 25-55.

Another close billiard game was played in the afternoon, when "Hal" Coleman scored a victory over Charles E. White by a total of 300 to [illegible]. During the early innings both contestants played an admirable game, and then in the latter half the slump in execution took the game down far below par for the class. At no time were the players widely separated, it being decidedly a nip-and-tuck match, with the advantage wavering from one player to the other, and finally resting with Coleman. It was a careless follow shot that lost for White. In his last turn at the table he had a good chance to run out the game, the ivories being in perfect position. He did count 6, and then on the next attempt, which was the easiest kind of a short follow, he failed to complete the carrom by the margin of a hair, and Coleman with a good leave ran out the game.

The high run of the game was by White, when he gathered in [illegible] counts in the eleventh inning. It was pretty billiards and was characteristic of his play in the first part of the game. At one time his average was just a little short of 8, and Coleman, too, was well up, so that the indications were that the match would produce a new high average, the highest of the tournament being only a bit over 6, which is considered hardly fair for a Class C tournament. The scores:

H. A. Coleman—[illegible] Total—300. High runs—26, 26, and [illegible]. Average—[illegible]

YALE LETS OUT NOTRE DAME

Football Schedule Too Heavy with Westerners On It.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Jan. 14.—Yale's football schedule for next season was announced tonight by George Carrington, President of the Football Association. A single change from the date list of last Fall was made, the Springfield Y. M. C. A. College being substituted for Notre Dame.

Yale regretted giving up Notre Dame, but felt it necessary to drop one of the strong elevens from the list, which made the schedule topheavy last Fall and brought Yale to the Harvard game physically exhausted. As Notre Dame was defeated the most decisively of all the strong opponents, that college fell a victim to the guillotine.

Springfield has not played Yale for several years, but has been several times on the Yale schedule, has always played progressive football, and is welcomed back as a sportsmanlike eleven from a small institution.

There is no truth in the rumor that Virginia has refused to meet Yale again because of Faculty objection.

Yale will open her season Sept. 26, five days before the opening of college, and will close it, as usual, the Saturday before Thanksgiving, in the Harvard Stadium, Yale's only one of the nine scheduled games which will be played away from home.

It was also announced tonight that the following will act as assistants to Head Coach Hinkey: Dr. "Billy" Bull, '88; Talbott, Captain of the 1914 eleven; Wheeler, coach of last year's freshman team; Cornish, quarter back a year ago, and Brann, end of last year's team.

Marting, centre on the 1913 eleven, will be permanent coach of the freshman team. The schedule:

Sept. 25, University of Maine at Yale; Oct. 2, University of Virginia at Yale; 9, Lehigh at Yale; 16, Springfield Y. M. C. A. at Yale; 23, Washington and Jefferson at Yale; 30, Colgate at Yale; Nov. 6, Brown at Yale; 13, Princeton at Yale; 20, Harvard at Cambridge.

PENN DROPS CARLISLE.

Redskins Had Been on Quakers' Football Schedule for Many Years.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 14.—Four new games, Pennsylvania State, Pittsburgh, Albright, and West Virginia, are on the University of Pennsylvania 1915 football schedule announced here today. For the first time in more than twenty years the Carlisle Indians do not appear. Their annual visit, accompanied by the Indian girl students and the school band, has always been looked forward to here with much interest. Other teams dropped from last year's schedule are Gettysburg and Swarthmore. All games, with the exception of the Dartmouth contest, which will be played in Boston, and the match with the Naval Academy at Annapolis, will take place on Franklin Field.

It was also announced that George Brooke would remain as head coach, but with Byron Dickson as field coach, would work under the direction of an advisory board of coaches headed by Ernest Cozzens, a member of the Football Committee.

The complete schedule follows:

Sept. 25, University of West Virginia; Sept. 29, Albright; Oct. 2, Franklin and Marshall; Oct. 9, Pennsylvania State; Oct. 16, Navy at Annapolis; Oct. 23, University of Pittsburgh; Oct. 30, Lafayette; Nov. 6, Dartmouth at Boston; Nov. 13, Michigan; Nov. 25, Cornell.

Brown Football Schedule.

PROVIDENCE, Jan. 14.—The Brown football schedule for 1915 issued today is the most interesting in years. Brown retains her excellent position in the Yale and Harvard schedules, and, as usual, ends with a Thanksgiving Day contest with Carlisle. The chief innovation on the schedule is the substitution of Syracuse for Cornell in the big mid-season contest. Other changes are the substitution of Williams and Trinity for Wesleyan and Norwich. The schedule follows, games not otherwise designated being played in Providence: Rhode Island State, Sept. 25; Trinity, Oct. 2; Amherst at Amherst, Oct. 9; Williams, Oct. 16; Syracuse, Oct. 23; Vermont, Oct. 30; Yale at New Haven, Nov. 6; Harvard at Cambridge, Nov. 13; Carlisle, Nov. 25.

Commercial Swimmers Win Meet.

The swimmers from St. John's Prep met defeat yesterday in the dual meet with the Commercial High School by the score of [illegible] to 11 at the Fourth Avenue Baths, Brooklyn. Commercial won the relay race easily and took first in every other event except the plunge for distance, which was won by Guerin of St. John's, who went 50 feet in 25 seconds, while it took Brown of Commercial 28 seconds to go the same distance. The summaries:

Plunge for Distance.—Won by Guerin, St. John's, 50 feet in 25 seconds; Brown, Commercial, second, 50 feet in 28 seconds; Goodstein, Commercial, third, 40 feet.

Former Cornell Athlete Dead.

NEWARK, N. J., Jan. 14.—Joseph Grant McCollum of 31 East Park Street, a former Cornell 'Varsity football star, died at the Newark Private Hospital last night of pneumonia. McCollum was 29 years old and an engineer with the Public Service Corporation. He was prominent in athletics at Cornell and made the freshman crew. He played tackle on the 'Varsity eleven three years. He was a member of the Corelus, Phi Kappa Sigma, and the Cornell Club of New York.

TIDE SWEEPS ON NEW GOLF COURSE

Special to The New York Times.

ABSECON, N. J., Jan. 14.—The first tournament of the new Seaview Golf Club was brought to a conclusion today, when W. Ernest Shackelford of the home club won the chief cup by defeating J. C. Parrish, Jr., of the National Golf Links of America, 4 up and 2 to play, in the thirty-six-hole final. The quality of golf was generally good, but at times both men were inclined to be a trifle wild off the tee.

Before the morning half was run off it was necessary to declare the sixth and seventh holes temporarily out of commission, as the early high tide had flooded the seventh tee and surrounded the sixth green. The deficiency was made up through playing the seventeenth and eighteenth holes twice. The condition did not last long, however, for the sandy soil quickly absorbed the surplus water.

Shackelford went out in 41 as against 44 for Parrish, the home player being largely superior in driving and putting. He finished 4 up at the end of the morning round. Although the same quality of golf was not particularly noticeable in the afternoon, Shackelford was able to maintain his advantage of four holes. Parrish fought hard and at one time was only 2 down. The feature was Shackelford's negotiation of a stymie on the eleventh green. He was twenty-five feet away with a curling down-hill putt and brought it off spectacularly. The local club will run off another invitation tournament in the Easter season. Summary:

FORDHAM'S CREW CALL.

Thirty-five Men Come Out for College's Entrance in Rowing.

The first candidates that have ever reported for crew work at Fordham University assembled in the Maroon "gymn" yesterday. About thirty-five men reported to Acting Manager MacCormack. Because of the unfinished condition of the indoor quarters the squad was sent out on a run through Bronx Park. Most of those on hand were of a tall, sturdy build and found no trouble in keeping the pace in the two-mile jaunt. Several other men are expected out as soon as the real crew work is started.

As Coach Mulcahy intends to restrict the work to developing a four-oared crew this Spring, a speedy process of elimination will be started almost immediately. When the crew project was first broached at Fordham, a general spirit of skepticism was evident, but following the rapid work accomplished by the temporary management, the sport has gained a larger majority of the students to its support.

Boys' High Beaten by Commerce.

Commerce High School swimmers had an easy time winning the dual contest with the Boys' High School team at the West Sixtieth Street Baths yesterday afternoon by the score of 43 to 10. Commerce took first in every event and the best Boys' High could get was two second and four third places. Minors, a 13-year-old freshman on the Boys' High team, took two third places for his school. The summaries:

160-Yard Relay.—Won by Commerce, (Albanus, Herbert, Callahan, Hamilton;) Boys', (Bryan, R. Shoenberg, Barr, S. Shoenberg,) second. Time—1:30.

The University of Pennsylvania swimming team will compete with the C. C. N. Y. team in local pool tonight. The local team has swam all the other teams in the intercollegiate league and Pennsylvania's showing will be closely watched by the other collegians. Jones will have to make a record plunge to beat Schumacher. After the swimming events the water polo teams of the colleges will compete.

Penn Crew Immune from Typhoid

PHILADELPHIA, Penn., Jan. 14.—When Coach Vivian Nickalls called out the University of Pennsylvania oarsmen in Weightman Hall, he announced that the men will be innoculated with typhoid vaccine. About twenty have already been vaccinated. Nickalls declared they are now immune from typhoid fever, which last year broke up a powerful crew. This is said to be the first time on record that the members of a crew have been innoculated against typhoid. More than 150 candidates reported for the first call. Seven members of last year's 'Varsity crew, Chickering, Butler, Garvin, Capt. [illegible], Littleton, Marcy, and Foster, [illegible] were among the number.

Poly Prep's Big Meet Tomorrow.

Poly Prep will stage its annual indoor track meet tomorrow night at the Fourteenth Regiment Armory. The games promise to be the biggest scholastic event of the season. Most of the school boy stars of the East have entered the meet representing all the important high and prep schools of the city and nearby towns. One of the features will be the graduates' relay between Poly Prep and Erasmus. The Erasmus team will have Ollie De Gruchy as its anchor man, while Allen Van Winkle will run as anchor for the Poly team. It is expected that the eight pound shot record will be broken by George Bronder, the national title holder with the javelin. The record is [illegible] feet 3 inches. Bronder has done 56 feet in practice. The games will start at 8 o'clock.

LISTENING TO THE PEOPLE AND LEADING THE PEOPLE.

There is an interesting comparison between the present positions of the President that was and the President that is. From Washington the people are told what to think, and are taught to look to their leaders even for their daily bread. According to the spokesmen for the Administration, and even according to the authentic words of the leader of the Democratic party, the people are dependent upon politics and the politicians for the success of their activities. The mainspring of the nation is at the Federal Capitol, and the people are invited to vote themselves prosperity.

It is an alluring programme, but ex-President TAFT, looking backward in order to look ahead, discovers that the road to the promised land leads in the wrong direction. Mr. WILSON invites the people to press along in the way that they have been headed, and under the same leadership. Mr. TAFT thinks that he sees a reaction from excess of zeal in the interest of the people, since they have discovered that it has landed them in hard times. The path to prosperity lies now not in restraint of profit, but in encouragement of production. Plutocracy has been sufficiently controlled, and compelled to moderate its disproportionate gains. The railways have been overregulated, and the pressure upon them needs to be relaxed. Capital in all its forms has had its discipline, and the people will retain their advantage. The need of the future is the removal of hobbles upon honest and hard-working capital in the shape of limitations upon privilege to another favored class.

Trades unions are here to stay, said Mr. TAFT, but organized labor is asking too much. Organized labor is a minority, but it thinks it holds the balance of power, and procures laws as much in its favor at the expense of the rest of the community as ever capital did. Instead of legislating social justice labor now secures discrimination in its favor, both through gifts by law and through depriving others of their rights. Workmen's compensation is a right principle, but there are cases in which too much is given under it. Combination for the protection of wage earners is their right, but combination against other wage earners is a wrong. Benevolence by dynamite and the boycott, with the assistance of legislation discriminating in favor of combinations against which such acts have been proved, is conspiracy for wrong, the lawmakers being virtually parties to the conspiracy. There must be the same rigid supervision of conspiracies by labor against labor as there has been of capital when guilty of capitalistic excesses. The legalization of labor's wrong is as much an offense against the people in their entirety as was the abuse of the law by capitalistic combinations. Yet one of the most recent and most boasted of the acts of the present promoters of prosperity was to provide a Trade Commission law further to vex capital with uncertainties regarding its regulation, and to pass the Clayton law with a privilege and exemptions for law breakers.

It is an interesting contrast. Is the leader of the Democratic party the leader of the people in the direction they wish to go, or in the direction he thinks they ought to go? Indeed it is a fair question whether the President is really the leader of his party, for bold words are spoken in challenge of a position hardly compatible with leadership of the entire people. Comparing his proposals of legislation with the utterances of the people affected by them, it is sure that, whatever his personal position either as President or as partisan, he is rather exhorting the people as to these matters that deriving authority from their enthusiasm, which is plentifully deficient.

On the other hand, the President that was is gaining daily as an exponent of what he learns by listening to the people. Utterances of Judges and findings of juries are setting up the old freedom of equality for all as a rival of the new freedom of privilege for some at the expense of many. The new freedom really is new privilege for a different class, and a license of freedom from the restrictions upon lawlessness. The law is degraded when it is turned from the protection of equality of all, and the regulation of universal conduct, to the support of acts both immoral and inhumane. Mr. TAFT makes no mistake if that is what he hears when he listens.

The difficulties of Mr. WILSON as a leader are apparent, and will rather grow as he proceeds with his impossible task of producing prosperity by methods abhorrent to men of business. The Sherman act was a declaration of law, not a declaration of revolution. If the Trade Commission enforces trade customs it will alter nothing. If it regulates business in a revolutionary manner it will do more harm than the futile attempt to make the Sherman act do the same thing, which was perforce abandoned when that fact was appreciated. In principle the same is true of the Clayton act. If in fact it is a license to labor to proceed in the manner which has produced battles and murder and unlimited crime it is a calamity. If it is a fraud upon labor by false pretense trouble will result from that. Listeners to the people do not hear upon these subjects the things which the leaders preach.

THE NAVAL PROGRAMME.

The Naval Committee of the House of Representatives has included a new hospital ship, to displace the wornout Solace, in its building programme, which may confidently be expected to receive the approval of the House and to be accepted, with slight amendment, by the Senate. Only two battleships, but those of the superdreadnought type, are provided for with sixteen new coast submarines and a large seagoing boat of that type, and six submarine destroyers. More had been asked for by the General Board, but that body never expects to get all it asks for. The country will be satisfied with the programme, but there must be two more battleships and many more submarines next year, when it will be necessary, also, to make provision to increase the number of enlisted men.

The main thing to do to improve the efficiency of the navy is to make the best of what we have and what we can get in the regular way without a large increase of the annual appropriation. There is no complaint that the appropriation is too small.

CASSIDY.

Of the two political culprits sent to Sing Sing Wednesday to serve terms of imprisonment JOSEPH CASSIDY is by far the more distinguished, and it is not to be denied that he gained his distinction by the exercise of large natural gifts. He lacks the breeding and education of his companion, WILLIAM WILLETT, member of a long-honored family and supposedly fitted by training to fill a Supreme Court Judgeship. When WILLETT wanted to be a Judge he applied to CASSIDY for permission to appeal to the Queens County voters for election. CASSIDY'S permission was all that was then required in that county. It was boss-ruled, and CASSIDY was boss. He was also a boss of extraordinary power and audacity. To his rule many otherwise decent people felt it needful to submit. WILLETT paid CASSIDY'S price and obtained his nomination. For the exposure of the "deal" credit is due to Mr. WILLIAM BERRI, who published the facts in his newspaper, The Standard Union of Brooklyn, and kept at the matter persistently, in spite of all the obstacles placed in his way, until he had forced an investigation. It is common report that many Judgeships are bought, and such scandalous rumors will persist as long as Judges are elected instead of being appointed by an executive personally responsible to the people. But the buyers and sellers of Judgeships are so rarely punished as to make the Cassidy-Willett incident memorable.

Obviously CASSIDY is the principal culprit, the conspicuous figure in the prosecution, the potent personality. Weak, vain men like WILLETT are common enough in all walks of life, but Cassidys are happily not so common. There are always more than enough, to be sure, because none is needed. It is common to say of such a man as CASSIDY, when his rascalities have brought him to grief, that his abilities, if exerted in another channel, might have made him a useful citizen. That conventional remark will not often bear strict examination. It is founded on a sentimental idea of humanity which is frequently misleading. While it is not true, probably, that a man can actually be born to bossism, the vocation of JOSEPH CASSIDY for corrupt politics was always unmistakable. He had the personality, the blunted conscience, the capacity to get at the weaker side of men, the cupidity, the contempt for law, and the inborn sense of leadership associated with his trade. He had no ideals and in the true sense he had no politics.

The spectacle of a CASSIDY thus brought to justice is encouraging. It will serve to restrict somewhat a kind of traffic which cannot be wholly abolished until the power of corrupt bosses is destroyed by the short ballot backed by a thoroughly purged and invigorated public opinion. To Queens County, so long sadly misgoverned, it is an earnest that the new era of reform is to last. Too much credit cannot be given to Mr. BERRI in this matter. He had nothing to gain and something to lose, for the forces of evil have not failed to give him trouble. He has pointed the way for other good citizens.

REDUCE THE SCHOOL BOARD NOW.

This city ought to have a revised charter. That will take time. Meanwhile, an amendment of the present charter reducing the Board of Education from its unwieldy proportion of forty-six members to nine is called for. The question of introducing a bill for the amendment will come up before the Board of Estimate today. That body has already approved the report of its Committee on School Inquiry, prepared by Prof. GOODNOW, now President of Johns Hopkins University, which favors the smaller board. The Public Education Association of this city also favors it, representing the opinion of the best educational authorities of the country.

New York City's School Board grew to its present bulk by a purely mechanical process, due to the growth of the city in its several parts and the consolidation of these parts in 1897. As in other cities with large Boards of Education, it has become increasingly difficult to obtain members of broad abilities to serve upon it. Its very unwieldiness has tempted politicians to exploit it. Yet it is of importance to 800,000 school children and their parents that the board should be composed of a few experienced and able men. A bill revising the educational chapter of the charter should by all means be presented to the Legislature with the official sanction of the city.

MR. BORAH'S SPEECH.

Mr. MCADOO will not be a candidate for the Presidency before the next Democratic Convention. CHAMP CLARK'S name will not be presented. The convention will listen to a nominating speech and a number of seconding speeches and will then renominate WOODROW WILSON by acclamation. No man who has been elected to the Presidency has been denied a renomination for half a century, with the exception of Mr. HAYES, who announced that he would not be a candidate; and the rule will not be broken in President WILSON'S case.

That being so, it is rather hard to understand the flutter that has been created by that passage in the President's Indianapolis speech which suggested an ambition to succeed himself. If he did mean that he was a candidate, it was nothing more than was tacitly assumed by everybody. It was, however, what might be called an official shying of his hat into the ring, and that it provoked an immediate answer from Senator BORAH is not surprising. Mr. BORAH and Mr. CUMMINS are the Senate's candidates for the Republican nomination. Mr. CUMMINS is not likely to go into the convention with any votes except those of Iowa, but Mr. BORAH'S strength will probably be larger, and he is entitled to appear as the Republican spokesman.

Mr. BORAH had no trouble in showing the absurdity of the President's charge that the Republican Party had not had a new idea for thirty years. He was effective, too, in exposing that strange touchiness which makes the President suspect a conspiracy whenever anybody disagrees with him, and that feeling which makes an attempt to "break the solidarity of the Democratic team" a species of majestätsbeleidigung. It might have been better if Mr. BORAH had refrained from claptrap about how President CLEVELAND'S Administration produced hard times, when everybody knows that the hard times were already impending at the end of HARRISON'S Administration and that CLEVELAND simply fell heir to them; but that is part of the stock in trade of every Republican orator, and it will be too much to expect even a Republican of Senator BORAH'S intellectual stature to disdain it.

Mr. WILSON fell below his own standard at Indianapolis and Mr. BORAH rose above his standard. At the same time nothing that Mr. BORAH said in his long speech summed up better what old-fashioned Americans criticise in this Administration than one casual sentence that Senator CUMMINS tossed off before Mr. BORAH began:

> I am simply objecting to the President's position in trying to run the United States. It appears in every utterance that falls from his lips.

CAPITAL PUNISHMENT.

Abolition of capital punishment is something everybody would favor, were it not for certain obvious objections. Why would it not be a good idea for everybody to join the Anticapital Punishment Society which has just been launched, and to sign articles binding themselves not to commit murder? Abolition of capital punishment by the abolition of murder is the plan to which there can be no objections, not even by murderers. If they really gave the subject attention they would see that membership in the Anticapital Punishment Society is better than the electric chair, and something would be accomplished better than even the abolition of capital punishment. All that is necessary is to bring 9,113,279 inhabitants of this State to this reasonable view, and then the matter would be settled without even applying to the Legislature.

A mere law abolishing the electric chair would still leave it possible that sudden death might overtake greater numbers of unoffending persons than now lose their lives by methods which are "unfair to the individual," to borrow the Anticapital Punishment Society's euphemism. Murder, it may be submitted, "works a very great injury upon the public," much greater even than the infliction of capital punishment upon murderers. It is quite sure that the sentiment against murder is even stronger than the sentiment against capital punishment. The Anticapital Punishment Society therefore would occupy an even stronger position if it would proceed to accomplish its ends by becoming the Antimurder Society, with a universal membership. It would still be possible for members with subconscious weaknesses, or practitioners under the unwritten law, or those who are regardless of the wrongs to which society is subjected by capital punishment, to resign their membership, and take the lives which are forfeit to their idiosyncrasies. It might be well to keep the theory of capital punishment alive for such few abnormal cases of irresponsibility.

The fact that killing without law precedes killing by law is the ugly fact in the way of the theory that the abolition of capital punishment is as safe as it is humane. It is true that the taking of life does not restore life, but it is a deterrent to the taking of lives as yet untaken. The abolition of murder is the best way to abolish capital punishment, and the only way without any objection. That way is favored by all.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

A Famous Heckler Is Heckled.

Even in this peaceful land, Miss CHRISTABEL PANKHURST succeeded in causing excitement at a public meeting, and did it, too, though her announced subject—to which she stuck much better than was to be expected—was one now rather tiresome here, because long since settled for everybody, one way or another. It would be difficult for a speaker not deep in the secrets of the European chancelleries to increase, at this late day, our stock of information as to the rights and wrongs of the war, and there was little indication in anything said by Miss PANKHURST in the brief intervals when she was allowed to deliver bits of her prepared oration to indicate that her presentation of the British case would have contained anything unfamiliar.

Fast-following questions from unsympathetic auditors, however, gave the young militant an opportunity to turn what might have been a dull meeting into one decidedly interesting, from beginning to end, for they enabled her to demonstrate a quickness of mind, a readiness of repartee, and an ability to think on her feet that won appreciation even from hearers not at all sympathetic with her peculiar beliefs as to the best way to get "votes for women." Herself persistently subjected to the "heckling" to which she and her kind have so often resorted at home, she very successfully held her own, giving to every inquiry an answer which, if not always inspired by profound knowledge and extensive information, at least met the requirements of the situation and confused or silenced her opponents.

Thus, when somebody, to her demand for American aid to England, replied, with a reference to the Revolutionary War, she neatly turned the tables by saying, "Oh, that was a war between English people and a German King!" a statement in which there was quite enough truth to raise a laugh against the Teutonic interrogator.

Of course Miss PANKHURST did not neglect the opportunity to contrast her method of dealing with hecklers and that so often adopted in her own country when she and other militants asked what they hoped—not vainly—would be embarrassing questions. She had a good right to do that.

They Know Their Own Name.

Geographic boards and other learned bodies that have assumed, sometimes with and sometimes without authority of law, the task of determining the correct form and spelling of proper names, have little or no excuse for not heeding promptly a demand made by the people whom most of the world have fallen into the habit of calling "Servians." The right appellation, those people insist, is "Serbians," and the name of their land, or of what large and crowding neighbors have left of it, is "Serbia."

These assertions, as it happens, are true. They would be true if they had no better support than the mere preference of those making them for "Serbia" and "Serbians" over "Servia" and "Servians," for the real name of any race or nation is the one it chooses for itself. The "Serbians," however, have another argument which, while not really stronger, is different and makes a different appeal. Not only are "Serbia" and "Serbians," or "Serbs," pleasing to their ears, but those forms have both historic and etymologic confirmation, both of which are lacking for the now commoner names.

What the "Serbians" find particularly offensive in "Servia" is that it suggests a false derivation from a word indicative of a characteristic which this race of fierce fighters has never exhibited. They have suffered defeats in more than a few wars, they have lost territory to several conquerors, but something of independence and nationality they have preserved even through their darkest days, and very recently their inveterate disinclination to "serve" has been as troublesome to Austria as it has been again and again in the past to their ancestral foe, the Turk.

To ears Occidental, "Servia" is a little more euphonious than "Serbia," but that is not a sufficient reason for offending a proud people. Next, perhaps, we shall be asked to substitute a "b" for the "v" we have put in the name of Cuba's capital. That, too, should be done at the request of those with a right to ask it, and next the Italians may be after us to cease miscalling practically every Italian city of which we have occasion to speak. Of all such grievances, theirs is quite the cruelest.

Effects Like Those of a War.

There is something grimly ironical in the fact that while Italy is with difficulty keeping out of a war which many of her people are eager to enter, there occurs an earthquake which inflicts upon a considerable part of the country disasters that reduce it to about the same condition as Belgium's. Towns have been wrecked as if by the bombardment of big guns, thousands have been killed, and a greater number of thousands driven ruined and helpless into their devastated fields, all for no fault of their own.

The earthquake, too, will add new burdens to those, already sufficiently heavy, that are carried by the neutral nations. For of course the stricken inhabitants of the Alban and Volscian hills will have to be helped through the Winter, and again it will be to the United States that the first and the loudest call for assistance will be made. Probably the seriousness of the disaster has been exaggerated in the first reports, as was the case after the destruction of Messina, but the situation at best is more than bad enough, coming as it does at a time when the resources of charity have already been subjected to such heavy drains. Yet inevitably funds for the Italian sufferers will be raised here, where those sufferers have so many relatives and compatriots.

It is too soon to hazard conjecture as to the exact nature of the disturbance. The whole of Southern Italy and the neighboring islands are actively volcanic, and their mountains are in a state of almost continuous readjustment to changing strains and stresses. Both Vesuvius and Etna have doubtless played a part in the calamity, but the relation between volcanic eruptions and earthquakes is not well understood, and it is not safe to say that either is the cause or the effect of the other. More probably both are the effects of the same great underlying cause—the slow cooling of the earth.

ART NOTES.

Paintings by Modern French Artists on View at Anderson Galleries.

A collection of paintings by modern French artists belonging to the estate of Henry A. Bateman of Baltimore, with a few additions from other consignors, is on public exhibition at the Anderson Galleries until the date of the sale, Jan. 22. The catalogue contains a number of the names prominent on the list of Barbizon masters, and some of the examples are signed and sealed, but are not of first importance. They will give the individual buyer a chance to decide for himself what he likes and to act accordingly. He very well may like the little "Bull at Liberty," not because of Troyon's name attached to it, but because he so emphatically is tearing over the ground, dust flying from his heels, and spume from his lips, and the joy of animal spirits in every line of his clumsy bulk.

Isabey's "The Cavalier," from the Yerkes collection, is also a picture that gives pleasure by the nice relation of the color values and the vivacity of the characterization. A little French village scene is given to Corot, but hardly does justice to that master's powers. It is inscribed on the back to Sensier. Among the more modern works is the "Head of a Girl," by Mary Cassatt, the clear blue of the eyes giving the leading note of the color scheme. Paul Baudry is represented by a very elaborate version of the "Mother and Child," there is a cool and agreeable example of Thaulow, and an entertaining painting of two girls reading a love letter by the English painter, Frederick Walker, who was the Little Billee of "Trilby."

The exhibition of the German Association for Culture at the Municipal Art Gallery will be prolonged until Jan. 27, the Trustees of the gallery having asked for the extension of time.

HAGENBECKS BOTH ALIVE.

Report of Their Death Denied—Some German Food Prices.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Some time ago you announced the death of the two German menagerie owners, Messrs. Heinrich and Lorenz Hagenbeck of Hamburg. If I am not mistaken, you received the news from a professor of St. Louis, who had written to Mr. Hagenbeck, but received no answer.

Previous to that such news had been published. As my relations with the Hagenbeck family are very close, I asked my family for details.

Today I am in a position to say that Messrs. Heinrich and Lorenz Hagenbeck are not only enjoying the best of health, but that up to Dec. 16, 1914, neither of them had been called for service in the German Army.

Mrs. H. Hagenbeck, in a letter dated Dec. 16, 1914, writes me as follows:

* * * "Heinrich may have to enlist any minute, but only to drill the recruits in Hamburg. It is true, however, that Mrs. John Hagenbeck of Colombo (John himself is at Java) has been sent to the English Detention Camp at Rangalia, near Nuarelia, together with other German women and the aged Mrs. Consul Freudenberg, who has lived in Colombo for over forty years." * * *

If you would inform your readers about this you would not only oblige me, but you would also show that you can publish facts besides the opinion of an Englishman.

I take this opportunity to state that eggs in Hamburg are not 25 cents apiece, as published in your paper, but 12 pfennigs, i. e., 3 cents each for strictly fresh eggs. Cold storage eggs are not known in Germany. Sugar is 24 pfennigs (6 cents) a pound. A German pound is 10 per cent. higher than an English pound. Live fish cost from 5 to 8 cents a German pound; rice, 7½ to 9 cents, &c. It seems to me that conditions in Germany are not at all so bad.

PAUL LOEWENBERG.

"Picture Puzzles" for Wounded.

So many urgent requests come to me from England to send picture puzzles to the wounded sailors and soldiers in the many hospitals that I am led to beg that if any persons have puzzles which they have tired of, they will send them to me to forward. Today comes a letter (addressed to a lady in England and sent by her to me) from a Captain in the English North Sea Fleet, on secret service, expressing utmost gratitude to her for the "great boon" of three picture puzzles.

Thus the thought of so many brave men exiled for months, only "watching and waiting," in the North Sea, strengthens me to beg that any who have puzzles to spare will send them to me at 163 Brattle Street.

Mrs. LUCIEN CARR.

Dogs Under Leash.

It is a wonder to me that the dog problem was not solved long ago. If each person owning a dog was obliged to keep that dog at home, there would be no difficulty. If every dog when out of the house was put on a leash, there would be no child bitten, unless such child was trespassing, and no need of muzzles. I have a leash at my front door and another at the back, and it is only a second's work to snap the dog on it. As things are now, though, I have no surety that a dog with the mange, or even a mad dog, may not come by and hurt my dog.

Automobile Noises at Night.

I live on the first floor of a modern apartment house and almost every night we are awakened by the chugging noise of automobiles that stop at our building throughout the night, the result being that my entire family is awakened at all hours and the condition is almost unbearable.

Would it not be possible to draft an ordinance compelling all automobiles to shut off their engines when stopping at a building after a certain hour, say 10 or 10:30 P. M., and also make it unlawful for chauffeurs to use their auto horns under the same conditions?

PRESS ON SHIPPING BILL.

From The Charleston News and Courier.

President Wilson's Indianapolis address was especially disappointing in what it did not say with reference to the pending Ship Purchase bill. He was exceedingly scornful of those who have declared themselves in opposition to the measure. But the only thing which he himself said in its favor was to point to the soaring ocean freight rates, with the declaration that "The merchants and the farmers of this country must have ships to carry their goods, and just at the present moment there is no other way of getting them than through the instrumentality that is suggested in that shipping bill."

We are satisfied the country is predisposed to support the President in this business as in most others. But as matters now stand the confidence of those who do so is subjected to a very severe strain.

Discerns Little Support.

From the Ohio State Journal.

We note very little support for President Wilson's ship purchasing scheme in the newspapers, and they no doubt represent the business opinion upon the subject. There are two objections to the proposition: (1) it launches the Government into a private business, with all the unpleasant and perilous vicissitudes attending such a venture; and (2) there is plenty of shipping capacity already at command for all needs of our export trade.

Texas Support for Bill.

From the Houston Post.

There is much that might be said in review of the President's address, but we prefer to speak particularly and in approval of his shipping bill, because ordinarily it is a measure which The Post would oppose. As a general thing, The Post looks with apprehension upon all innovations which involve the principle of Government ownership. The shipping bill, however, is a relief measure that if made effective at this time would prove of tremendous value to American producers without committing us to a Government owned or a Government subsidized merchant marine as a permanent policy.

Unless Congress speedily enacts the shipping relief bill, it is easy to see that privately owned ships are going to extort from our commerce not less than $60,000,000 on the cotton of the present season, in excess of what would be a reasonable charge, after making allowance for the increased hazard.

The truth of the matter is, the opposition to the shipping bill comes from the advocates of a permanent subsidy, which the American people do not approve.

Ship Subsidy in Disguise.

From the Richmond News Leader.

As The News Leader has shown in previous discussion of the subject, the proposition that the Government go into the ship owning and operating business involves the rankest sort of ship subsidy in disguise. The disguise is a specious and confusing provision that the business shall be conducted by a corporation controlled by the Government, thus by indirection levying a ship subsidy tax on the people in lieu of a direct one in the shape of a flat, open ship subsidy Congressional appropriation.

The roundabout and the straight way are equally obnoxious to a time-honored and oft-iterated Democratic principle. They amount to the same thing in the end, with the balance in favor of the latter, if a Democratic Congress is to repudiate or abjure that principle. Democratic support of the proposition is no less support of ship subsidy because it is given under cover and the result sought to be attained is veneered with the plea of emergency.

Calls It "Grotesque Plan."

From The Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

Some most singular and illogical arguments are advanced by the supporters of the Administration's grotesque plan for the appropriation of some thirty or forty millions of public money for the purchase of merchant ships to compete with privately owned ships in the carrying trade of the country.

These advocates of the public ownership of ships, to be operated without regard to the necessity of earning expenses, as a means for reviving American shipping, are now busily engaged in pointing out the alleged shortage of tonnage for the carrying trade and the alleged high rates which are being charged for the carrying as arguments for the Government to enter the shipping business.

It does not seem to have occurred to those who bring forward these arguments that the passage of the proposed bill will not add one single ship to those now afloat and available for the carrying trade.

An Emergency Measure.

From The New Orleans Times-Picayune.

The Ship Purchase bill, as we understand it, is purely an emergency measure, taking no privilege or opportunity away from private enterprise. Its sole purpose is to provide the country with shipping imperatively needed to carry on its foreign commerce at a time when the lack of shipping is producing paralysis of that commerce and forcing up the transportation charges upon such tonnage as is handled to almost unprecedented levels.

Congress may take cognizance of existing conditions and pass this bill as a measure of relief; or it may refuse to meet the emergency and permit the virtual blockade to continue. It is not easy to see how the elder statesmen can find profit or advantage in long-winded discussion of theories, or in a filibuster that might force an extra session and pretty surely would place the breaking strain upon the public patience.

DR. DERNBURG'S DENIAL.

Not Questioned by Amherst Student—Was by Dean, Says Amherst.

Referring to the editorial article in your today's issue, "Invited His Own Confusion," I would say that no question has ever been addressed to me at Amherst by any of the students there. I talked for forty minutes after prayers and there was no discussion of any kind.

Germany has always kept her treaty obligations up to this date and will continue to do so. She has broken no more treaties than the United States has, and I would have considered it an impudence if a young student at Amherst would have in any way doubted the honesty and sincerity of my country.

DR. DERNBURG.

The Amherst Statement.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Mass., Jan. 14.—The Amherst Press Club issues this statement:

AMHERST, Jan. 14.—Dr. Dernburg gave a lecture in the chapel and afterward met members of the Faculty for a conference. Dean George D. Olds of the Faculty asked the following questions.

"In view of what you have said in regard to military necessity as being sufficient reason for the violation of the neutrality treaty, what value to Belgium had Germany's promise to reimburse Belgium and restore her sovereignty upon condition that she allow the passage of the German Army?"

Dr. Dernburg seemed decidedly nonplused and finally evaded the question by saying that he did not blame Belgium for fighting and, in fact, would have done the same if he had been in the same position. The foregoing is verified.

New York's Gaping Crowds.

Why is it that the ordinary New Yorker must stop and gape at everything that goes on in the street? This afternoon while walking up Fifth Avenue I was attracted by a huge crowd lined up on each side of the avenue, so large a crowd that I supposed there was a parade passing. But when I reached the point of interest and looked about to see what is causing all the furor, what did I see—a parade, a collision, an arrest? Nothing so exciting as any of these. I saw a woman struggling to crank her car.

NEED OF DEFENSE.

Responsibilities of Nation Prescribe Its Proper Arming.

In a letter recently brought into print George Foster Peabody, who is well known as a patriotic and public-spirited citizen, points out that if Belgium had, like Luxemburg, decided not to attempt to protect itself with an army or with fortifications, the German forces would have passed through Belgian territory on their way to the invasion of France without any "necessity" for devastation. Belgium would, in this manner, like Luxemburg, have saved the lives and the property of its citizens. From this example in recent history Mr. Peabody reaches the conclusion that it would be wiser for the United States, in like manner, to avoid making provision by troops and by fortifications for national defense, or at least to minimize such provision. By this policy, according to Mr. Peabody, our country would be saved from the risk of the losses attendant upon war.

It is probably true that if the United States should frankly abandon any intention of defending its coast or its territory, and should permit its territory to be utilized by a foreign power as such power might find convenient, there need be no loss of life, and possibly no material loss of property, to American citizens. I doubt, however, whether the citizens of the Republic will be prepared to accept the policy advocated by Mr. Peabody.

The Government is under obligations to maintain not only the lives and the property of its citizens, but their liberties and the independence and the honor of the Republic that these citizens have established. I do not believe that Americans are willing to leave the Republic which was created by their ancestors, and which has been maintained through much expenditure of American life and of American treasure, to be left subject to the will, practically to the domination, of any foreign power that might have interests or that might make interests on this side of the Atlantic. Poor little Belgium has sacrificed much in its attempt to maintain its liberty, but it has at least saved its honor and its manhood. The United States are not a poor nation, and with our hundred millions of people it is not proper for us to be classed with the weaklings among nations, but if we are not to be so classed we must be prepared to maintain not only our own independence, but the policies in regard to world matters that we believe to be right.

We must bear in mind also that we have upon us not only the duty of defending our own shores, but, according to the present interpretation of the Monroe Doctrine, of protecting against European aggression the whole territory of two continents. South America and Mexico constitute for us a larger Belgium. England is now doing all in its power to fulfill its obligations for the protection of the independence of Belgium, but if England had had its forces in readiness Belgium need not have been devastated. We have taken the ground that no European power shall undertake to secure redress by the use of armed forces for such grievances as may have been caused to its citizens in Mexico or South America. Such a position places upon us the responsibility for securing the redress that may be due.

A nation has no right to assume a responsibility that it is not prepared to carry out. It is, therefore, essential, if the Republic is to protect its liberties and to fulfill its obligations, that it should maintain forces adequate for the purpose. It is the hope that after the present European war is brought to a close some progress may be made toward the establishment of a world's court the decisions of which can be enforced by an army made up by contingents from the various States taking part in a world's federation.

This is the aim, and a very legitimate aim, of the men who are preaching the gospel of the world's peace. With such a federal organization, however, the United States will be called upon to provide as its share of the federation army a force proportioned to its national wealth and to its hundred millions of population. The necessary measures should be taken now toward the organization of such force. The Republic must fulfill its obligations, and this cannot be done under the policy of disarmament advocated by writers like Mr. Peabody.

Gunda's Long Imprisonment.

Concerning the captivity of the elephant, Gunda, I recall a saying of Philip Gilbert Hamerton, I think, to the effect that "It is a poor way to cure the excesses of the human mind by benumbing it."

Gunda's mind is, of course, not a human one; but according to naturalists the mind of an elephant is of high order, and I should think this saying might be applicable to it also. The benumbing would explain why, when partially released from chains, Gunda does not immediately sport and prance. Several years of the kind of close confinement to which he has been subjected is likely to induce a habit and a considerable amount of dullness; there is where the pity lies. It is recorded that after many years of imprisonment, a human being may be so dulled and discouraged that he returns to his cell from sheer inability to resume normal life.

Gunda's constant nosing of the bars of the gate that leads into the open seems to contradict the idea that he is as yet reconciled to his captivity; he seems still to have some feeling, and a good deal of it. Greater freedom for him has been promised by the authorities at the Zoo; are their promises not binding, and have they no more moral responsibility than the lower animals?

In Honor of Andrew H. Green.

I suggest the name of "Andrew H. Green" for one of the New York schools. Besides being the Father of Greater New York, he was a School Trustee, President of the Board of Education, and, in the highest sense, an educator.

THE BRITISH VOLUNTEERS.

We are coming, Mother, coming
O'er the seas—your Younger Sons!
From the mighty-mouthed Saint Lawrence
Or where sacred Ganges runs,
We are coming for your blessing

We are coming, Mother, coming
For their spirits rise to beckon
At the whisper of your name;
And we come that you may knight us
By your accolade of flame!

For the death is less to feel
'Tis the Saxon's old appeal,
And we come to prove us worthy
By its ordeal of steel!

OPPOSE SHIP LINES RUN BY GOVERNMENT

Chamber of Commerce Votes Unanimously Against Supporting Alexander Bill.

SUBSIDIES ARE FAVORED

But Some Members Are Against Plan to Petition Congress to Form Ship Guarantee Bond Fund.

The Chamber of Commerce in a special meeting yesterday went on record as opposed to the Alexander bill now being considered in Congress for the establishment of a freight steamship service owned and controlled by the Government. Irving T. Bush, Chairman of a special committee on the American Merchant Marine, supplemented the report made to the Chamber last week with further arguments against Government entrance into the shipping field, and afterward the members voted unanimously against the bill without debate.

A reception by no means so favorable was then accorded a recommendation made by the special committee that Congress be petitioned to form a guarantee fund for bonds issued against steamship property as a measure to promote the upbuilding of a merchant marine from private sources. The committee suggested that if the sum being considered by the authorities at Washington for acquiring vessels, $30,000,000, be invested in interest-bearing securities and administered by a central board along lines followed for years in the real estate field in guaranteeing mortgages, the result would be beneficial to American shipowners.

"In my opinion," said he, "there is no room for comparison between mortgages on steamships and on real estate. In case of the latter stable properties are the subject of mortgages, while quite different conditions surround the shipping business. A steamship company may have years of excellent earnings followed by other years when traffic conditions preclude the earning of a satisfactory income. Ships depreciate rapidly.

"Unlike real estate mortgages, a steamship mortgage under present laws may not be constantly a first lien on the property. Certain claims made against a vessel underlie any mortgage that may be placed upon it. I have learned that the steamship Robert Dollar, which was transferred from a foreign to the American flag, had to be manned immediately with four quartermasters at $70 a month, an extra engineer at $70 a month and three water tenders at $75 a month, whereas water tenders are unknown in the British merchant marine. These additional wage costs were made necessary by the maritime laws of the United States. The total increase of wages on the Robert Dollar was $690 a month.

"The way to bring the best results in increasing our merchant marine, in my opinion, is through legislative action which will make possible the operation of American ships on the same cost basis as the ships of competing nations. If we desire to have our ships subsidized, let us seek a subsidy under its proper name and not by a roundabout method."

William Harris Douglas, a member of the Bush committee, replied to Mr. Ring by stating that the guarantee fund would, indeed, be a form of subsidy, but that it was necessary to gain Government support in some form and the measure proposed by the committee was a practical one. In the end the part of the report referring to the guarantee fund was sent back to the committee for further consideration.

FIGHT OVER COENTIES REEF.

Attempt to Include It in Rivers and Harbors Bill Is Opposed.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—With the apparent purpose of strengthening the Rivers and Harbors bill, which will be bitterly fought in the Senate, the Committee on Commerce today decided to include in that measure Senator O'Gorman's separate bill for the blasting away of Coenties Reef, near Hell Gate, before the new subway tunnels are dug under the river at that point. Mr. O'Gorman opposed this inclusion of his measure, and was supported by Mr. Burton of Ohio, who led the successful fight last session against the "pork barrel" features of the River and Harbors bill. Mr. Burton is opposed to the inclusion of new projects in the bill, which he thinks should provide for a systematic carrying out of important existing plans.

Mr. O'Gorman's original purpose in presenting his bill separately was to hasten action. But the delay in the House, which has passed the bill with an amendment requiring further action by the Senate, has tended to weaken that objection as applied to anything that might occur now.

TO CONTINUE EXCHANGE SUIT

Chicago Members Make Attempt to Have Government Withdraw.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—The Department of Justice will carry to a conclusion the suit for an injunction to restrain the Chicago Board of Trade from fixing arbitrary prices at which commodities shall be sold when the Exchange is closed, it was learned today, following a visit to Attorney General Gregory and his assistant, George C. Todd, of H. S. Robbins and Secretary Merrill of the Board of Trade. The Government holds that the practice complained of is in violation of the Sherman law, and the decision may have an important bearing on the action of other Exchanges which have attempted to fix prices by agreement of the managers, in lieu of the usual methods in an open market.

The suit against the Chicago Board of Trade was instituted early in 1913, and the Exchange has since ended the practice. In view of this, the officials of the Exchange came to Washington to ask that the suit be discontinued.

PREDICTS END OF ALL WAR.

Gov. Clarke of Iowa Sees a Blessing in the Present Struggle.

DES MOINES, Iowa, Jan. 14.—The Federation of the World, practical disarmament of the great powers and a long step forward for the "brotherhood of man" are among the probable results of the European war, according to Gov. George W. Clarke in his inaugural address here today. Notwithstanding the horrors of the war, the Governor said he thought mankind would be better for it in the end.

"It is an appalling price to pay," he said, "but beyond this world war lies, in all probability, the death of militarism, the practical disarmament of the great powers of the earth, the removal of the crushing burdens of great armies and navies, the disappearance of hereditary rulers and the entrance of more perfect democracies."

STEVENS FUND GROWING.

Two $10,000 Gifts and $5,000 from Jacob H. Schiff Reported.

Two $10,000 contributions for the Stevens Tech Fund were announced at yesterday afternoon's rally luncheon of the campaign volunteer corps in the Machinery Club. The name of the giver was not revealed.

Yesterday's total of subscriptions was $44,580, which carried the grand total to $753,362. Among yesterday's contributions was $5,000 from Jacob H. Schiff.

SOCIETY DOES FEATS IN TENTED CIRCUS

"BARKER" LAUDS FREAKS

Pink Lemonade and Professional Acrobats—Ball Ends Benefit for Lenox Hill Settlement.

Fifth Avenue was treated to a real old-fashioned circus yesterday, and society turned out by the hundreds, as people do when a circus strikes town, to gaze and wonder at the dashing, daring, death-defying feats in the ring. The circus was staged at Sherry's, under distinguished patronage, and the proceeds are to be devoted to the Lenox Hill Settlement.

It was the first time, perhaps, that New York society ever appeared in such a "stupendous aggregation of daring stunts," and it proved to be as complete an event as society ever attempted to give. There were three performances during the day—a matinée at 3 o'clock for the children, a second at 9 o'clock, and a third performance at 11, the two latter for the grown-ups. There was dancing after the performance at night, which placed the function under the category of a circus ball. Scores of people were turned away at the night session.

A Real Circus Band.

At midnight the scene under the canvas tent was a dazzling spectacle, with society, bejeweled, in the boxes and packed in the elevated tiers of seats, the ringmasters in their scarlet coats, the attendants in sapphire blue uniforms and powdered wigs, a real circus band, crashing out lively airs, while fair equestriennes, in gauzy petticoats and the glitter of ornaments, jumped through paper hoops. The atmosphere of the circus was complete, even to the snapping of the ringmaster's whip, the loud jokes and guffaws of the clowns, and the voice of pink lemonade and peanut vendors, mingling with the call of the inevitable "barker," who could be heard, just outside the sideshow tent, exclaiming:

"Step this way, ladies and gentlemen, and view the greatest galaxy of freaks the world has ever seen."

The first suggestion of the surprise in store was when the guests stepped from the elevators on the third floor, where circus posters, in flaming colors, covered the walls of the corridor. The approach to the circus tent was made under a canvas awning. The large ballroom's transformation was well-nigh perfect, even to the circle of lights directly below the apex of the tent, which always seems to place a halo over the heads of the trapeze performers in the eyes of the small boy. The band played in an elevated gallery. All of the boxes and seats, the former draped in old rose velvet and gold braid, were arranged in tiers exactly the same as at a circus performance, and there was the same mysterious entrance, under the musician's stand, where all the interesting events, the horses, ponies, acrobats, and equestriennes, came from.

Just before the close of each performance, the typical circus announcer, in his frock coat and silk hat, and nasal twang, invited the audience to visit the side-show, the admission to which was only fifty cents. The freaks here, as well as many other of the interesting circus features, were obtained from Barnum & Bailey's. The freaks were grouped around on tables, selling their photographs, while dowager and débutante looked on wonderingly, munching peanuts, with now and then a sip of pink lemonade, to wash the peanuts down.

Marvelous Electric Lady.

First came the marvelous electric lady, then the tallest man on earth, seven feet nine inches high. Baron Paucci, known as the "smallest perfect man on earth," came next. He is only twenty-seven inches high, and was very popular with the feminine contingent, selling his photographs like hot cakes. The attention of the spectators was next directed to the hair-raising knife throwers, after which came the troupe of East Indian fakirs, who swallowed swords, and did other amazing tricks. The doll wheel was popular, too, for, as the barker announced, "somebody wins a doll every time the wheel goes round." Nearly everybody who tried his luck won a doll.

Just outside the tent containing the freaks was the Somali tribe, made up of a dozen or so natives, who entertained crowds last Summer at Coney Island. Fifty cents was charged to see them dance and throw spears, the marble room being used for this feature.

The hit of the circus stunts was the kicking mule, announced as "Marvelous Maud; Mad, Man-eating Mule." A Carnegie medal, or the cash equivalent, was to be awarded to "any lady or gentleman mastering the mule." The troupe of trained ponies, too, amused the throng of little folks of society who assembled at the afternoon performance. There were also Mlle. Estelle, equestrienne; La Belle Petite Florence, a dancer; the Field brothers, buck and wing dancers; Signor Moutard, ventriloquist, and the Tumbling Turners, fresh from the Nouveau Cirque, in Paris. Gilbert Haight, billed as the Amityville cowpuncher and champion lariat thrower, of East Islip, was well received by his friends.

Society Amateurs in Ring.

The exhibitions in the circus ring by society amateurs at the evening performance added to the success of the occasion, especially the burlesque on a prizefight between Chalmers Wood, Jr., and E. Roscoe Mathews, who were assisted by trainers and seconds, including Eliot C. Bacon, Richard Whitney, Matthew Morgan, and George B. Post, Jr. Reginald B. Rives was the promoter, Roger Poor announcer, and Gilbert Haight was the policeman. Francis W. and Edward A. Crowninshield acted as ringmasters.

Anderson Dana and Mr. Rives appeared in the scene with the kicking mule and a bareback riding act, and Edward Delafield posed as a lion.

Sherry's entire establishment was practically given over to the circus ball, the small ballroom suite being used for the dancing, with two orchestras. Supper was served in the main restaurant.

Some of the young society women who sold programmes, lemonade, and peanuts were the Misses Ruth Cutting, Mary Alexander, Katherine Steward, Dorothy Battie, Helen Hamilton, Claire Bird, Edith Mortimer, Muriel Winthrop, Marjorie Curtis, Susan Fish Dresser, Margaret La Farge, and Sara and Olga Wiborg.

Mrs. E. Roscoe Mathews was Chairman of the Entertainment Committee, and associated with her in the management of the affair were Mrs. John Jacob Astor, Mrs. Oliver Iselin, Mrs. Nathaniel B. Porter, Mrs. George Draper, Mrs. Nicholas Biddle, Mrs. Gordon Knox Bell, Mrs. Laurence Rainsford, and the Misses Mary Pyne and Marion Clark.

Some of the Boxholders.

Many dinners were given by the boxholders before the circus. Among the boxholders were Mrs. Cornelius C. Cuyler, Mrs. Percy R. Pyne, Mrs. John Jacob Astor, Mrs. John R. Drexel, Mrs. John R. Livermore, Mrs. M. Orme Wilson, Mrs. J. H. Thompson, Mrs. Edward S. Harkness, Mrs. Henry H. Rogers, Mrs. H. H. Hooper, Mrs. William Pierson Hamilton, Mrs. John E. Parsons, Mrs. Chester Griswold, Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, Mrs. William Douglass Sloane, Mrs. Elliott F. Shepard, Mrs. Charles F. Hoffman, Mrs. William A. M. Burden, Mrs. John Sanford, Mrs. Burke Roche, Mrs. Walter C. Ladd, and Mrs. Moses Taylor Pyne.

The Floor Committee was made up of James A. Blair, Jr., R. Thornton Wilson, W. Rhinelander Stewart, Jr., E. Coster Wilmerding, Lloyd Warren, Horace C. Stebbins, I. Newton Rae, Francis Roche, Percy R. Pyne, 2d, Stephen B. Elkins, Louis C. Clark, Jr., and Lawrence Butler.

OLDHAM-GOULD WEDDING.

Rector of St. Luke's Marries Daughter of Mrs. James H. Gould.

The wedding of the Rev. George Ashton Oldham, formerly of Cleveland, Ohio, and now rector of St. Luke's Episcopal Church in Convent Avenue, this city, and Miss Emily P. Gould, a daughter of Mrs. James H. Gould of Englewood, N. J., and of the late James H. Gould of Pierrepont Street, Brooklyn, and a niece of Mrs. Wilhelm Mynderse, took place quietly at 12:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, in the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, Morningside Heights. The ceremony was performed by Bishop David H. Greer, assisted by the Rev. Ernest M. Stires of St. Thomas's Church, to whom the bridegroom was formerly an assistant.

The altar was decorated with vases of white flowers, and the few guests asked to the wedding were seated in the choir stalls by the vestrymen of St. Luke's Church, there being no ushers.

The bride, preceded by her sister, Miss Mary Gould, her only attendant, came down through the passageway from the chapels at the rear of the church, and, crossing over, ascended the steps to the chancel. She wore a trailing robe of white panne velvet draped high at one side and at the front to show a full under skirt of white lace. The low neck was filled in with tulle and the long sleeves were tulle. The square train was of panne velvet and the tulle veil was edged with lace held over her dark coiffure with orange blossoms. She carried a prayer book and lilies of the valley.

The maid of honor, Miss Mary Gould, wore an afternoon gown of cream cloth with a full flaring tunic edged with mink fur. The little coatee opened over a waistcoat of gold tissue and had long lace sleeves and was finished at the neck with a straight mink band. The dark brown velvet hat was banded with mink and on the flaring brim were two yellow flowers. She carried a cluster of yellow tea roses and a mink muff.

Mr. and Mrs. Oldman have gone South on their wedding trip and on their return will live in Hamilton Grange, the historic home of Alexander Hamilton, which has for two decades been the rectory of St. Luke's Church.

Miss Genevieve S. Brisk Engaged.

The engagement of Miss Genevieve Sibyl Brisk, daughter of Mrs. Pauline Brisk and the late David Brisk of Stapleton, Staten Island, to Ernest Albert Mueller, has been announced. Mr. Mueller was until recently an officer in the Thirteenth Regiment, N. G. N. Y. No date has been set for the wedding.

DEANE—AMBROSE.

Miss Clara Evelyn Ambrose, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Ambrose of Overcliff Terrace, Park Hill, Yonkers, was married in her parents' home yesterday noon to Sumner Deane of Yonkers. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Lewis G. Wilson of Boston, an uncle of the bride. Only relatives and intimate friends attended. The couple had no attendants. The bride is a graduate of Wellesley and the bridegroom of Columbia.

ACTORS PLAN AGENCY TO AID THEIR FUND

SAVE MIDDLEMEN'S FEES

Estimated Profits of $100,000 a Year to Enrich Actors' Fund—On Uniform Contract Basis.

At a special session of the Actors' Equity Association, held yesterday afternoon and attended by many of the best known actors in this country, plans were made to work in co-operation with the Theatrical Managers' Association in an effort to establish a central theatrical agency where actors could be engaged by producing managers, thus doing away with the large number of agents who are now acting as middle men.

The Actors' organization offers to let the Managers' Association run the agency or agrees to do it itself provided the managers and actors can agree on an equitable contract which has been under discussion for several months. The profits from such an exchange the Equity Association offers to give to the Actors' Fund of America, which, it declares, would be more than $100,000 richer every year as a result.

In a letter to Marc Klaw, President of the Managers' Association, signed by Francis Wilson, Henry Miller, William Courtleigh and many other prominent stars forming the officers and council of the organization the actors say:

> The U. S. Census shows that over 30,000 persons in the United States are engaged in the profession of acting. A very large percentage of these secure engagements through employment agencies.
>
> We have learned that one agency alone in the City of New York has over 15,000 names on its books.
>
> That the usual commission paid is Five (5) per cent. of each week's salary up to ten weeks.
>
> Figuring on an average salary of Sixty-five ($65) dollars weekly, and an average employment of five (5) weeks, it would appear that the fees paid by one-quarter of the profession annually amount to over $100,000.
>
> We are also advised that this number of actors is less than one-half of the total number of persons who are engaged in the profession "of acting, singing, music, dancing on the stage, the management of theatres and other places of amusement," who are entitled to the aid of the Actors' Fund.
>
> We are also advised that the support of this fund in the past has come almost entirely from your personal efforts through benefit performances, fairs, bequests, and the dues of about 1,500 men and women, 1,500 of a total of over 60,000 who are eligible to the fund's charity.
>
> We therefore propose that the Actors' Fund of America, or your Association, organize a general theatrical employment agency, through which all of the employes of your members will be engaged, and which shall charge the usual fees;
>
> That this agency use and present, and that members of your association, as managers, accept a uniform and equitable form of contract, and, that the net profits of this agency shall go to the fund.
>
> As an alternative, in case the Actors' Fund of America or the United Managers' Protective Association is unwilling to assume the burden of conducting the agency aforesaid, then the Actors' Equity Association would undertake the task, provided your body (the United Managers' Protective Association) would agree with ours upon a uniform, minimum, equitable contract, such as we have already submitted to you for acceptance or arbitration.
>
> If either of the foregoing suggestions is agreed upon, we stand ready to do all in our power to increase the efficiency and profits of the agency thus created.

It was said last night that the matter would be presented to the Managers' Association within a few days by Mr. Klaw.

PHILHARMONIC CONCERT.

Brahms's Fourth Symphony Played—Mme. Alma Gluck Soloist.

The concert of the Philharmonic Society last evening was made notable by the inclusion in the programme of a symphony by Brahms. These symphonies, or any works by Brahms, do not appear often in Mr. Stransky's scheme. That which he played last evening was the fourth, in some respects Brahms's crowning achievement in the symphonic form. Mr. Stransky's reading of it was brilliant and expeditious; in fact, he took the first and last movements at a pace that sometimes seemed a little too rapid for bringing all the phrases to the point of complete finish, and making all the figuration perfectly clear. It made, at least, for life and pulsing energy; and in his beat Mr. Stransky displayed an abundant elasticity and a purpose to permit the eloquence of the music to have its say. Furthermore, there was an excellent reproduction of the rich and wholly characteristic orchestral coloring of the score; a coloring so essentially identified and so fully expressing the nature of the musical substance of the work. And such a reproduction implies some of the finer and subtler discernment on the part of the conductor. For Brahms's orchestration does not "play itself" like so much of the characteristically brilliant modern scoring. The performance on the part of both conductor and orchestra was full of enthusiasm and gusto.

The programme began with Dvorak's exuberant overture, "In der Natur," one of his most alluring works, in which his imagination is most luxuriant and unfettered. Its impulsiveness and glowing brilliancy do not to all listeners summon up a vision of the quiet Summer afternoon, the lengthening shadows, the falling of dusk upon meadows and woods, that the composer declared was present to him. The feeling is of nature, but it seems rather of a more exhilarating phase of it. The performance of this, too, was of splendid energy. Liszt's symphonic poem "Tasso," and Berlioz's overture, "Carneval Romain," were the other orchestral numbers, both of which are more familiar to frequenters of the Philharmonic's concerts.

The soloist was Mme. Alma Gluck. She sang first Donna Anna's aria, "Non mi dir," with its preliminary recitative, from Mozart's opera of "Don Giovanni," and then Rachmaninoff's "Peasant Song," and Rimsky-Korsakoff's "A Song of India," from "Sadko," and "Song of the Shepherd Lehl," from "Snegourotchka." Mme. Gluck's singing of Mozart's aria had much of the beauty and purity of style demanded by the music, much of the legato and finish of phrasing. The florid passage near the end has been more clearly and perfectly executed; and some of Mme. Gluck's higher tones were a little disappointing in their quality. But there was so much that was beautiful in the voice and in the performance of the aria that they both had distinction, and were greatly enjoyed.

MODERN STAGE ORGANIZED.

Five Unusual Plays for Subscribers Only to be Given This Season.

Under the direction of Emmanuel Reicher, a well-known European actor and stage director, the Modern Stage, an organization somewhat similar to the New Theatre movement, has been organized, and five performances of modern plays will be presented this season for subscribers only at a theatre.

According to Mr. Reicher, who has just arrived here from abroad, the purpose of the new organization is to present unusual plays which are little known here. They will be chosen from the dramatic repertoires of all nations and staged without pretentiousness, but with due regard to artistic fitness. Miss Hedwig Reicher is to be the leading woman of the company.

The plays which will be put into rehearsal for the initial production will be "Elgar," by Gerhart Hauptmann; "John Gabriel Borkman," by Ibsen, and the last play by Björnstjerne Björnson. An effort will be made to encourage American playwrights, and at least one of the first five plays to be produced will be by a native dramatist.

The Modern Stage organization has established offices at 55 West Eighty-sixth Street, and the date of the first performance and the name of the theatre will be announced next week.

GIVES TO THE STAGE ITS OWN ETHIC CODE

HER HUSBAND WAS A PASTOR

But Quit Pulpit to Become a Star When He Wed a Member of His Choir.

Frederic C. Leubuscher, referee in the suit for divorce brought by Mrs. Adele Blood, the actress, against her actor husband, Cader Russell Davis, known on the stage as Edwards Davis, has completed his report. It favors Mrs. Blood, and her counsel, Henry B. Bradbury, will move in the Supreme Court on Monday for its confirmation. A motion may be made at the same time by Herman L. Roth, Mr. Davis's counsel, to have the report sent back to the referee on the ground that newly discovered evidence may nullify some parts of it. Mr. Leubuscher devoted 599 hours to the inquiry, in which more than 600,000 words of testimony were taken. The fees, so far, exceed $7,000.

Before Mr. Davis became an actor he was pastor of the Central Christian Church in Oakland, Cal. His wife sang soprano in the choir. After they were married Mrs. Davis went on the stage and played in star parts as Adele Blood. Pretty soon Mr. Davis followed her, and as Edwards Davis played heroic rôles and was successful from the outset. In her complaint Mrs. Blood named Mrs. Louise Power Bryant, known as Jule Power, who was Mr. Davis's leading woman. Mr. Davis also began an action against his wife, naming Franklyn Ritchie.

In commenting on the testimony the referee said that the conduct of a husband or a wife is susceptible of both innocent and guilty construction, and that where no positive proof is presented the innocent must prevail.

"Especially is this true," he said, "of persons engaged in the theatrical profession. Both parties and both corespondents as well as many of the witnesses, are on the stage. It is a matter of common knowledge that stage folk have a standard of conduct that is sui generis. It is not thought amiss for an actress to allow an actor in the same cast to call on her in the dressing room of a theatre. The familiarity of speech and action that is void of evil intent on the stage would be considered reprehensible, if not worse, in other walks of life. When an actor marries an actress the home ties are loosened by long, necessary absences. Then, too, the husband and wife are usually not engaged in the same company, and sometimes do not meet for months. This often results in the formation of 'pal' attachments which are not necessarily meretricious.

"In this case it appears that each of the parties had a 'pal' of the opposite sex, but the plaintiff, Miss Blood, claims that the friendship of her 'pal,' Franklyn Ritchie, was platonic, while that of the husband was the reverse. The defendant, Davis, retorts that he was merely the platonic protector of Miss Power, but that his wife had broken her marriage vow with Franklyn Ritchie. The record is replete with incidents, which, but for the presumption of innocence, might lead to the findings that each one of these mismated pairs was guilty of the acts charged. This would result in a conclusion of law that neither is entitled to a divorce.

"A careful consideration, however, of the record of the six briefs filed by the learned counsel convinces me that the defendant has failed to give proof of any allegations of his counter-claim."

The names of five men appeared in Mr. Davis's counter-suit against his wife, but all of them were dropped except that of Mr. Ritchie.

Mrs. R. W. Moore Gives Musicale.

Mrs. Russell Wellman Moore gave a musicale at the Plaza yesterday afternoon in the interests of several young musicians who are members of the New Assembly. Among those who appeared were Miss Mary O'Rourke, a soprano, who studied several years under Jean de Reszke; Miss Penelope Davies, also a soprano; Keith MacDonald, a baritone, and George Halprin, a pianist. There was a large attendance, and following the musicale there was dancing. Tea was served to the guests.

James A. Sperry.

James A. Sperry, formerly publisher of the Brooklyn Times and long active in the civic life of Brooklyn, died suddenly of heart disease yesterday on the Williamsburg Bridge Plaza while on his way to his home in Marbledale, Conn. Mr. Sperry was born in this city in 1849, but at an early age removed to Brooklyn. In 1878 he went to the Brooklyn Times, where he became city editor, managing editor, business manager, and later one of the proprietors.

The only public office that he ever held was that of Bridge Commissioner, and during his term he made a strong fight to bring about the construction of the bridge on which he died. He was a trustee of the Dime Savings Bank of Williamsburg and of the Nassau Trust Company, recently merged with the Mechanics Bank.

Judge Martin was born at Landgrove, Vt., and was in his 69th year. He was graduated from the Albany Law School, and was admitted to the bar in 1869, and until 1882 practiced in Londonderry, Vt. The New York Times
MID-WEEK PICTORIAL WAR EXTRA

THE WAR IN PICTURES
From The Silent Courier.
Librarians at our schools for the deaf would do well to secure complete and to carefully preserve for binding the Mid-Week Pictorial War Extra of The New York Times and also the war picture section of the Sunday regular issue. The price of the Mid-Week Pictorial is $2.50 for six months or $5.00 for one year. The price of the Sunday edition is $2.50 for one year.
In future years this picture story of the greatest of all wars, or let me call it human slaughters, will be invaluable. The Times in its systematic pictorial representation of the horrors of war might well deserve the next Nobel peace prize. It would certainly deserve it as well as the great Russian painter, Paul Verestchagin, to whom it was awarded a few years ago for the reason that his paintings inspired such a horror of war that they were direct and powerful agents for spreading the sentiment for peace.
The writer well remembers with what absorbed interest he studied when a boy at school the pictorial history of our Civil War as shown in Harper's Weekly. Future generations of pupils in our schools for the deaf will realize what peace means with all its blessings more vividly from these Times pictures, which are far and away the best yet issued, than they could from a thousand lay sermons.

Many interesting glimpses of the very latest military events in Russia, Austria, Servia, Belgium, France, Sweden, China, Turkey, and England, together with the latest portraits of Cardinal Mercier, Winston Churchill, Meyer von Waldeck, Lord Innes-Ker, and other war notables.

PRICE TEN CENTS
$1.25 for 3 months. $5.00 a year, postpaid.
Binders for the Mid-Week Pictorial War Extra, to hold complete file for one year, sent postpaid. Prices: Full cloth, $1.25; full imitation leather, $1.75; half leather, gold trimmed, $2.00.

Save Your Money

Every man has a large responsibility in handling money, the real value of which depends upon its wise disbursement. Every dollar unwisely spent is an unnecessary burden upon savings, while every dollar conserved is a dollar nearer the accumulation of one's competency. Moreover, after a man has saved $1,000, $500, or even $100, he can profit by the good returns from conservative investment bonds. These would afford him strong security for his money, dependable interest payments thereon, and a sense of pride in knowing that he is a factor in the progress of the sound business institutions of his country.

Stocks Advance Despite Dullness—Dividend Reductions—Absorption of Bonds.

Dividend action by the Directors of the Baltimore & Ohio was the matter which occupied the attention of the Stock Exchange more than any other yesterday, but it was by no means the only interesting development of the day. In reducing the semi-annual rate from 3 per cent. to 2½ per cent., the Directors did the least that could be done in the way of dividend reduction and not enough to avoid a deficit on dividend account for the second half of last year. The increase in freight rates had it come six months earlier would probably have allowed the Directors of the road to continue dividends at the old rate and the hope of improvement in earnings through the rate increase tardily granted by the Commerce Commission had much to do with the declaration of a dividend in excess of the amount actually realized during the second half of 1914.

A detached view of the matter might have favored a reduction to a figure within the road's actual earnings, while the stockholders as a whole will no doubt be better satisfied to receive the larger rate even though another draft on surplus has to be made for the purpose. Dividends should not fluctuate as much as earnings necessarily fluctuate. The case of the Baltimore & Ohio, and to a much greater extent the cases of the three Southern roads which lately reduced their dividends, the Atlantic Coast Line, the Louisville & Nashville and the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis, strengthen the arguments in favor of the establishment of dividends would accounts out of which dividends would be paid instead of directly from the earnings of the period for which dividends are declared. That method would tend to stabilize dividend rates and would lessen the need of reduction in dividends on account of temporary adverse conditions.

The stock market contracted further yesterday, but prices hardened. Cases of weakness were much more exceptional than cases of noteworthy strength. Among the more prominent issues Baltimore & Ohio was conspicuously strong. That was because a reduction from 6 per cent. to 4 per cent. had been expected until yesterday when it was rumored that the reduction would be to only 5 per cent. That was borne out by the action taken by the Directors during the last hour of the market.

Bonds are being absorbed by investors to an extent which promises well for the financing of the railroads and other corporations which have appeals to make to the capital market. In large lots and in small a very considerable volume of high grade investments has been passing from the hands of dealers to investors and as the absorption has gone on the market has increased in firmness and in breadth. Tax exempt bonds command a place of high esteem among investors which is reflected in improvement in United States bonds and in municipals. The State of Maryland has awarded $3,000,000 of 4 per cent. bonds at 98.309 and the City of Philadelphia announces an issue of $5,000,000 4 per cent. bonds which are offered for public subscription at par. The bonds were quoted at better than par yesterday.

Wheat by a sharp advance overtopped its high price of last week. The forces of reaction set loose by the violence of the previous advance have thus speedily been offest by another forward movement which at least raises the question whether last week's prices were not more representative than was generally believed of the real state of the market under the influence of the present great export demand. The high price for wheat has both its advantages and its disadvantages. At the moment the addition which it is making to our favorable trade balance is receiving greater attention than the addition which it is making to the cost of flour in this country. As we reach closer to the limit of our exportable supply of grain wheat shipments must decrease, but on the other hand cotton shipments are increasing. The figures for December were given out yesterday. They showed an outward movement of cotton practically equal to that of December, 1913, 1,202,000 bales against 1,230,000 bales. It would not be surprising if the period of abnormally small cotton exports which preceded December should be followed by a period of abnormally large exports. That seems to be the present tendency.

CONSOLIDATED EXCHANGE.

May wheat sold on the Consolidated Exchange in the afternoon at $1.52⅛. This represented an advance of 8⅝c a bushel since the close last Monday. It also established a new high record price on the Exchange. A general scarcity of cash offerings was reported, with the demand from foreign interests urgent at all the great centres. Dealings were on a heavy scale. So far as the general stock list was concerned, one of the best features was the continued handling by commission houses of a good volume of orders for fractional lots. Sales:

Big Italian Firm Fails.

TURIN, Italy, Jan. 14.—The Franco Firm, dealers in precious metals, went into bankruptcy today. There is a deficit of 10,000,000 francs ($2,000,000), it is stated in the papers, due to the arrest of trade with Belgium, especially with Antwerp, from which place it is impossible to exact debts.

Depressed Prices Increased Incomes

Prices for securities are depressed owing to general financial conditions. The business of certain American companies has been doubled and trebled owing to the curtailment and in some cases total suspension of production in foreign countries.

Let us tell you about one company whose earnings have more than doubled as a result of war conditions.

While Wheat Sells in Chicago for $1.43 a Bushel, They Are Waiting for the $2 Mark.

EXPECT BIG BRITISH DEMAND

Food Supply in England Said to be Down to Sixty-Day Basis—Other Countries' Crops Short.

CHICAGO, Jan. 14.—Wheat sold to-day for $1.43⅝ a bushel. There was apparently plenty of reason for assertions that unless the call from Europe lessened soon, the United States would have no wheat to ship abroad after March. Flour at retail continued to rise—the price to-day reaching ninety cents a sack to householders. The dollar sack was said to be in sight.

Five Governments of Europe were reported to-day to be actively in the wheat market on this side of the Atlantic, in addition to a large number of individual buyers from foreign fields. The result was figured to be exportation at the rate of eight million to ten million bushels a week. If this rate continues not a bushel of wheat may be left for export in April, May or June, the three months preceding the harvest of the first of the new domestic crop.

While the wheat market here was to-day in a blaze of excitement, the minority of farmers who still own wheat were said to be in many cases hanging on for $2 a bushel. Approximately 25 per cent. of the 1914 crop is estimated by experts to be still in the hands of farmers.

They are represented to be picturing the situation thus:

>
> Argentina has a much smaller crop than usual.
>
> Canada is short this season.
>
> The crop in India is small.
>
> Australia instead of exporting is importing because of a virtual crop failure.
>
> German export of rye to all of Scandinavia has ceased and Sweden, Norway and Denmark are now buying here.

The Governments which are direct purchasers in the United States are the Swiss, Greek, Italian, Dutch, and French. So far the British Government has done nothing as a Government, but Great Britain's food supply is said here to be down to a sixty-day basis. If Great Britain as a Government should enter the market, the result, in the opinion of Chicago experts, would be hard to foresee.

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 14.—Twenty thousand bushels of March bluestem wheat, sold on the Portland Exchange to-day at $1.48 per bushel, an advance of one cent over yesterday and within a half cent of the record price paid for May bluestem on Jan. 9. February bluestem advanced four cents to $1.45. March oats sold at $38 a ton, fifty cents higher than yesterday.

COTTON DULL AND LOWER.

Six-Point Loss on Profit Taking Despite Good Support.

It was rather a dull market in cotton yesterday and the decline continued, although the net loss was only 5 or 6 points. It has been evident for several days that certain interests that have been supporting the market have finally decided to take down their profits and have been liquidating freely. This liquidation has been conducted in a way to exert as little pressure as possible upon the market, but it has had its effect nevertheless.

At the opening yesterday morning the market received the census report on consumption for December. This report, however, had very little influence upon prices.

The market received a very good character of support when it needed support most, and there were evidences that Northern mills were becoming more interested in the market as it goes down and would probably engage in progressive buying on any further decline. In spite of the fact that the bears were more active than the bulls all day, the market was steady at the close.

Southern spot markets as officially reported were quiet, unchanged to 1-16c. lower. The local market for spot cotton was quiet, unchanged, with 8.05 for middling upland. The range of contract prices was as follows:

EXTEND DRUG COMBINATION.

United Chemists Company Sells Shops to United Cigar Concern.

The United Cigar Stores Company announced yesterday that it had acquired from the United Chemists Company a number of combination cigar and drug stores doing business in small cities.

Some of these stores were bought by George J. Whelan years ago, long before he acquired control of the Riker & Hegeman Company. They were combined afterward in the United Chemists Company.

Mr. Whelan said yesterday that it had been demonstrated that the combination stores could be operated profitably in places where it would not pay to open a large drug store or a large cigar store. He added that they might become selling agents for the Riker & Hegeman Company.

LONDON TRADING ACTIVE.

More Confidence Shown—American Bonds Receive Some Attention.

LONDON, Jan. 14.—Markings extending to the industrial shipping and rubber shares indicate that outsiders are becoming more confident. Home rails were active, and dearer on dividend anticipations. Foreign bonds and American railway bonds received quite some attention.

The American section was fairly active and steady with the most business in Canadian Pacific shares.

The approval of the Board of Governors of the New York Stock Exchange to restore arbitrage dealings between New York and European markets raises hope that London will soon follow suit.

Money and discount rates are easy.

TO UNDERWRITE ST. PAUL 5S

Kuhn, Loeb & Co. and National City Bank Organize Syndicate.

Kuhn, Loeb & Co. and the National City Bank organized a syndicate yesterday to underwrite the $29,141,300 of 5 per cent. convertible bonds which the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul announced last week that it would offer to stockholders for subscription at par.

The bonds are to be issued under the general mortgage under which more than $18,000,000 of non-convertible 4½ per cent. bonds nave been put out. The new issues will be convertible into common stock at par from 1916 to 1926. The bonds mature in 2014.

The members of the syndicate are to receive for their services as underwriters 1½ per cent. on the amount of the issue direct from the company. It is understood that the terms will net the road 97¾.

B. & O. DIVIDEND CUT TO 5%.

Decrease Less Than Wall St. Expected—President Willard Optimistic.

The semi-annual dividend on the Baltimore & Ohio common stock was cut yesterday from 3 per cent to 2½ per cent. A cut to 2 per cent had been expected in Wall Street, and lively trading on the Exchange followed the announcement shortly after 2 o'clock. The regular semi-annual dividend of 2 per cent on the preferred stock was also declared.

Not since 1906 had B. & O. common paid less than 6 per cent annually. In that year the rate was 5½. In 1905 it was 4½ and in 1903 and 1904 it was 4 per cent.

The common stock closed at 68½ on Wednesday, having dropped from 70. The opening price yesterday was 68⅝. After the announcement came it jumped to 71¾, and after a brisk thirty minutes of trading it closed at 71⅝. About 17,000 shares changed hands.

A decline in the gross revenue during the six months of $6,518,410, or 13.82 per cent, was responsible for the reduction in dividend. The net earnings were $4,484,240, and with a deduction of the preferred dividend there was $4,306,918 available for the $152,000,000 common stock outstanding. It was necessary to take about $495,000 from the surplus to make up the 2½ per cent dividend. President Willard was very optimistic as to the future.

"When in July consideration was given to the question of the dividend then to be declared," said he, "we had been hopeful that the railroads in the Eastern territory might at an early date be permitted to generally increase their freight rates fully 5 per cent, as requested, in which event, with normal conditions as to business, the Baltimore & Ohio, in my opinion, should and could, with its present facilities, pay 6 per cent on its common stock, with a reasonable surplus over.

"Just what the ultimate effect of the recent decision may be cannot now be stated, but it is estimated that with the direct increases allowed, which will largely become effective by Feb. 1, the Baltimore & Ohio should realize an increased net income, based on business of 1914, of from $2,225,000 to $2,500,000 per annum, or a sum equal to about 1½ per cent on the common stock."

New Director in Bankers Trust.

Joseph B. Martindale, President of the Chemical National Bank, declined reelection as a Director of the Bankers Trust Company at yesterday's annual meeting. He gave pressure of business due to the Claflin reorganization as the reason. H. K. Twitchell, Vice President of the Chemical, was elected in his place. The rest of the board were reelected.

BIDS MADE FOR CLAFLIN ASSETS

Two Put In Yesterday by a Representative of the Noteholders' Committee.

NO OBJECTION INTERPOSED

Separate Terms of Settlement for Assenting and Non-Assenting Creditors.

Creditors of the H. B. Claflin Company and its subsidiaries, with the exception of the Defender Manufacturing Company, who have not given their consent to the plan of reorganization that has been under consideration for some time past, will receive 29 per cent. of the value of their claims. This is the main feature of the bid that was made yesterday in the United States District Court before George C. Holt, acting as Special Master, for the assets of the concerns mentioned above. An alternative bid of $10,000,000 in cash was also made. The bid was accompanied by a certified check for $100,000, it being drawn by the Bankers' Trust Company on the First National Bank.

The bid was made by B. W. Jones, Secretary of the Noteholders' Committee in the reorganization, acting for the Mercantile Stores Corporation and the H. B. Claflin Corporation. In the first bid, in addition to paying the 29 per cent. on the claims mentioned above, Mr. Jones promised to pay, in cash, the expenses of the administration of the chief and ancillary receiverships; all valid obligations of the receivers and ancillary receivers unpaid by them at the date of the consummation of the sale, including all taxes and expenses of the property; and all claims entitled to priority. He also promised to assume the conduct of all pending litigation and the liability of the receivers with respect to all matters in litigation.

The bidder reserved the right to object, either personally or through his assignee or nominee, to any of the claims filed, in whole or in part, even though these claims may be among those represented by him. He also demanded the right, with respect to claims as to which objections have been filed, or may be filed within 30 days from the date of acceptance of the bid, either to permit the receivers to retain a sum sufficient to pay the percentage or dividend upon them or to secure the payment of the percentage or dividend in a manner satisfactory to the court. He further asked that the decree confirming the sale provide that all the property bid for shall be free of all liens, interest, title and claims of the H. B. Claflin Company, of the receivers of the company or of any person claiming through them, including stockholders. It is also specified that payment shall be made only on such claims as have been filed before Jan. 11, and finally allowed by the United States District Court for the Southern District of New York, or any tribunal thereof, in the present cause, or in any other suit or proceeding.

In addition to the points outlined above, the bidder, either personally or through his nominee or assignee, reserved the right to be heard upon any application to fix fees or allowances in the present or any ancillary proceedings, and to make objections, or take proceedings, to reduce such allowances, and likewise to be heard upon the accountings of the receivers and ancillary receivers. The right was also reserved to decline to take any part of the property purchased or to disaffirm any contract or contracts that are subject to disaffirmance by the receivers deemed by him not be advantageous, provided such refusal is made by filing a notice thereof in writing with the clerk of the court, but it is understood that, in declining to take any part of the property or to assume any of the contracts stipulated, the amount of the accepted bid shall not be reduced.

In the bid, Mr. Jones agreed to purchase the claims of the H. B. Claflin Company against McCreery & Co. of Pittsburgh, subject to certain agreements made by the receivers, and promised to obtain the consent of the parties to the agreement to the purchase in question. The final reservation of the bidder concerned the right to withdraw the bid if the assets for which the bids are made—except proceeds of sale of real estate—are not transferred and delivered in accordance with these bids on or before Feb. 1, time being of the essence of the bids.

The property bid for includes all title of the H. B. Claflin Company and of the receivers in and to all property of every kind and description sold under the decree signed on Dec. 28 by Judge Learned Hand. It particularly includes all cash actually held by the receivers, or to which they may be entitled, personal property in the jurisdictions in which ancillary receivers have been appointed, &c. All such assets, save proceeds of the sale of real estate, must be delivered to the bidder before Feb. 1. The bid also specifies that "all such right, title, and interest to all of the said property shall be vested in Mr. Jones, his assignee or nominee, upon the delivery of the property by the receivers."

Yesterday afternoon the following explanatory statement, given out by Joseph M. Hartfield, attorney for the Noteholders' Committee, was authorized by James S. Alexander, Chairman of the committee:

"Alternative bids were submitted to the United States District Court today by B. W. Jones, the Secretary of the Noteholders' Committee. The purchaser, in the event that the sale is confirmed, will transfer the assets to the Mercantile Stores Corporation and to the new H. B. Claflin Corporation of the total of $40,050,394.46 of claims filed with the receivers, as to which there have been no objections filed at this time. Of this amount $39,466,000 were represented by the committees. Of the balance of the claims $419,000 are held by the receivers of the twenty-three stores.

"The total amount of claims not represented by the committee, other than these claims, aggregated in amount only $164,000. All the noteholders who proved claims except two were represented by the committee.

"The creditors who are represented by the committee, instead of receiving the percentage offered by the bid or the dividend payable thereunder, will receive 15 per cent. in cash and 85 per cent. in notes after the reorganization has been completed."

When asked what action would be taken in the cases of the retail subsidiaries of the Claflin Company, Mr. Hartfield said that compositions would be effected one by one, including the two Brooklyn stores.

After five days' notice to the different creditors, the bid will come up before Judge Learned Hand for approval.

That the minority creditors did not upset the proceedings in any way, as had been anticipated as a result of recent activities on the part of their counsel, was a source of gratification to the other principals. The thing that most nearly approached a setback to the plan was an argument regarding the right of the Kohler estate, pianos, to file a claim of $250,000 against the H. B. Claflin Company. It was finally decided that this claim should rightfully be filed against the allied corporations.

HOUSTON ON FARM CREDITS.

Secretary Favors a Federal Land-Mortgage Banking System.

TOPEKA, Kan., Jan. 14.—Secretary Houston of the Department of Agriculture took an optimistic view of the future of American agriculture in an address here today before the State Board of Agriculture, in which he strongly urged early enactment of rural credits legislation.

"More helpful agencies are operating on rural life today," said Secretary Houston, "than ever before in the history of the nation. The American farmer need not fear the competition of the world. He will inevitably control the home market, except for things which cannot be produced here, and will be called upon increasingly to supply the demands of foreign nations.

"I favor a Federal land mortgage banking system for long-time loans on the amortization principle, operating through private funds, and I favor legislation, especially by the States, and if possible, also by the Federal Government, stimulating and encouraging personal co-operative credit unions.

"I do not favor intervention by the Federal Government or the State to the extent of voting money out of the Treasury or of using the credit of State or Federal Government to support either system, which would mean in effect to take money contributed by all the people to lend to a particular class of the people. This notion runs counter to our fundamental governmental principles. Such aid or subsidy is neither necessary nor desirable."

Secretary Houston said that notwithstanding the wide prevalence of special rural financial establishments abroad, the great mass of farm loans were made by private institutions, adding that in this country, no matter what Federal or State rural credits legislation was had, much of the lending on farm securities would be done by private establishments.

TO SAIL TO ARCHANGEL.

Big Cargo for Russia to Go There, the Ice Being Broken.

Advices received in this city yesterday from Petrograd announced that the Russian port of Archangel on the White Sea has been freed sufficiently of ice to permit steamers entering and discharging cargo. Recently a message was issued by the German General Staff saying that, despite the extra ice breakers sent to Archangel by the Canadian Government, the channel had been closed.

Shippers here who were informed of the reopening of the port said that the Winter thus far has been unusually mild at Archangel and that, while ice blocked the harbor's entrance for a time, the recent warm spell had weakened the ice so that the breakers pushed through. It is planned to start the Russian-American steamship Kursk from here Jan. 26 for the White Sea port with a heavy cargo of Russian Government purchases which until yesterday it had been thought would have to be sent via the Panama Canal and Vladivostok.

It was said yesterday that the vessel will carry a large number of armored motor cars, motor trucks, and other kinds of automobiles, besides lathes, field guns, cartridges, and other munitions of war, as well as American-made clothing for the Russian army. Foodstuffs also will be carried.

More Orders for Army Duck.

More liberal orders for army duck for use by the allied nations were received by one of the principal factors in the local dry goods market yesterday. It was said, however, that these orders represented only a small part of the inquiries that have been made in this market for these goods in the last week or so. The inability to do further business was in most cases due to the demands of the prospective buyers for deliveries that the mills could not possibly make at this time because of previous orders that had been taken.

Demand for Fancies Increasing.

Factors in the clothing trade who have analyzed existing conditions find that as a whole the industry has little reason to complain. There is one important thing to be noted, however, and that is the remarkable increase which has occurred in the fancy end of the business. More than anything else this has contributed to the so-called hand-to-mouth buying that has been going on for the last several seasons. It is unquestionably true that the staple business has fallen off, and it is from houses that have not ventured outside of this field that most of the complaint regarding conditions arises.

See Scarcity Ahead.

The prediction is freely made in the silk trade that a scarcity of desirable merchandise is not far off. The shift from a dull period to brisk business was as sudden as it was unexpected. Now that the trade has "caught on" and finds a bigger improvement manifest every day, prices are advancing, and the outlook seems especially bright for a "boom" such as occurred after the Paterson strike. The demand for American silks is the particular feature of the market, and the manufacturers are confident that representative retailers will hereafter accord to domestic goods the tribute that justly belongs to them.

The Right of Discharge.

The parties directly concerned in the controversy existing in the coat and suit trade over the "right of discharge" question are not the only ones interested in the outcome. In every industry where a similar agreement is in force between the manufacturers and the unions, the problem is regarded of prime importance. The protocol in the coat and suit industry has been made the standard for these agreements, and, now that this is likely to stand or fall on the decision which the Board of Arbitration will render, the situation is attracting attention on all sides. The sessions of the board will be resumed next Tuesday at the Bar Association rooms.

Want Worsted Fabrics.

The feature of the foreign government operations in the piece goods market at this time is the tendency toward better class goods. Worsteds are required now instead of the woolens that made up the bulk of the business that was first placed here. The English order for uniform cloth that will be made into uniforms in Canada is for goods for which very fair prices have been given. The change in sentiment is ascribed to the scarcity of the crossbred wools and the extremely high quotations being made on them. Better values can doubtless be obtained where the worsted fabrics are taken, since there has been no such increase in prices as has occurred on the medium grades of the raw product.

Statements Show Up Well.

Credit men have had good reason to be interested in the financial statements made by their customers recently. The season has been one of uncertainty for most lines of business. This was especially so of the cutting-up trades. Here, however, no alarming setbacks were found by an examination of the statements. Where the account has proved slow the reason has been, not that business was bad or that orders fell short of the preceding year, but that the "customers of the customer" were slow in meeting their bills. In fact, it has been the fashion to complain of business, but when the total transactions of the year have been totaled up, the results show that there has been a fair increase.

Raw Silk Prices Move Upward.

A further advance of 25 to 30 yen in the Yokohama market was the feature of the past week's trading in the world's raw silk markets. Prices now remain firm there at this level, according to reports received by H. L. Gwalter & Co., of this city. Sales for the week amounted to 3,000 bales, which leaves estimated stocks of 20,000 bales. Canton reports a firm and advancing market, with business hampered somewhat by the smallness of stocks of good silks. The demand for steam filatures at Shanghai exceeds the supply, and they are very strongly held. All through that market there is a firmer tone. Milan is stronger also, under the influence of an increasing American demand. In this city there is a good demand for all sorts of silks with prices advancing.

Gray Goods Show Little Change.

There was small change to the situation in the local gray goods market yesterday, the advance in prices and the unwillingness of many of the mills to contract ahead at present figures combining to limit sales. There was some business done on 39-inch 80-80s for delivery in March, April and May at 5⅝ cents, and there were sales of 39-inch 68-72s at 4 7-16 cents for delivery in February. It was reported that a sale of the latter goods at cents for this month's delivery had also been made, and while the report was not doubted in the market, the belief existed that there are very few, if any, of these goods still available at that price for any shipment. There did not seem to be much activity on the 38½-inch constructions, and narrow goods were also quiet. The day's prices follow:

| | Spot. | Contract. |
| 39-inch 80-80s | 5⅝c | 5⅝c |
| 39-inch 72-76s | 5⅛c | 5⅛c |
| 39-inch 68-72s | 4⅞c | 4½c |
| 38½-inch 64-64s | 3⅞c | 3⅞c |
| 38½-inch 64-60s | 3¾c | 3¾c |
| 38½-inch 60-56s | 3⅝c | 3⅝c |
| 38½-inch 60-52s | 3⅜c | 3⅜c |
| 38½-inch 60-48s | 3¼c | 3¼c |
| 27-inch 64-60s | 2⅝c | 2⅝c |
| 27-inch 56-52s | 2⅜c | 2⅜c |

Wisdom of Late Openings.

The necessity of putting off the opening of the heavyweight season in piece goods is regarded in the light of a blessing, rather than a hardship. There has been considerable discussion in the past of the advisability of holding off openings until such a time as buyers would be better posted on their requirements, but nothing has come of this talk. Now the wool situation, and the uncertainty which it brings to bear on the making of prices for the coming season, offer a solution of the problem. It is claimed that a late opening will have many desirable effects. The retailer will be given an opportunity to move out some of his Spring merchandise before the manufacturer tries to sell him Fall and Winter goods. The mills will find less of the sampling evil to contend with, and, although the period of preparation is shortened, there will be plenty of time given to enable business to proceed smoothly.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Cotton exports became almost normal during December, 1,202,115 bales having been sent abroad, as compared with 1,230,830 bales in December, 1913. The exports for the first five months of the cotton year, however, showed a falling off of more than 50 per cent. from the same period of 1913, the total being 2,607,164 bales, compared with 5,437,480 bales.

Of the month's exports the United Kingdom and Italy both showed increases over December, 1913, the United Kingdom by almost 100,000 bales and Italy by about 120,000 bales. Germany's takings, however, showed a decrease of 279,000 bales.

Cotton used during December was 450,834 bales, exclusive of linters, compared with 456,262 in December, 1913. For the five months ending Dec. 31 the consumption was 2,122,212 bales, against 2,299,326 in 1913.

COMMODITIES MARKETS.

WHEAT.

The demand for cash wheat was again active and sales reported yesterday amounted to 2,000,000 bushels, most of which was believed to be for export, although reports on the actual export business were more or less conflicting. At any rate, cash wheat was wanted in large quantities and premiums were strong, while the May position in Chicago sold at new high records for the season, touching $1.43¾, an advance of 11⅝c from the low point of Monday. In the local cash market No. 2 red Winter wheat was quoted at $1.51 and No. 2 hard at $1.51½, all rail c. i. f. track; No. 1 Northern Duluth at $1.44½ and No. 1 Northern Manitoba $1.49½ c. i. f. Buffalo.

CORN.

The corn market was easier early in the day, prices declining about ⅝c under commission house selling prompted by continued large receipts at interior points and evidences that farmers were willing to sell at prevailing prices. Late in the day, however, prices rallied on reports of export sales of about 200,000 bushels, and final quotations were net unchanged for the day. Argentine exports were estimated at 4,250,000 bushels, compared with 3,571,00 last week and 1,965,000 last year. In the local cash market, No. 2 yellow corn was quoted at 79½c, cost, insurance, and freight, to arrive, and Prime Argentine, at 78c, nominal, delivered.

OATS.

The oats market was barely steady early in sympathy with corn, and on quite liberal receipts, but rallied late and closed at ¼c to ⅜c net higher. The local cash market was firm; standard quoted at 58c to 58½c; No. 2 white, 58½c to 59c; No. 3 white, 57c to 57½c; No. 4 white, 56½c to 57½c; fancy clipped white, 59½c to 61c; ordinary clipped white, 57½c to 59½c, all elevator.

PROVISIONS.

The market for hog products was under the influence of heavy selling pressure, with longs liquidating on account of liberal stocks and continued heavy receipts of hogs at Western points. Late in the day there was a partial reaction on covering and in sympathy with grain. Receipts of hogs at Chicago were 32,000; estimated for Friday, 28,000. Kansas City received 6,500 and Omaha 1,000.

COTTONSEED OIL.

The cottonseed oil market was lower early in the day under quite aggressive selling for Western account and influenced by the weakness in lard, but late in the day there was a sharp rally and prices closed 4 to 11 points net higher.

The range of prices was as follows:

THE REAL ESTATE FIELD

Cash Deal for Bronx Apartment—Grand Street Investment—$200,000 Sale in Inwood Section—C. M. Clark to Build on Park Avenue—Big Lease by National Cloak Company.

Moderate dealings only characterized the realty market yesterday. A sale in the Bronx involving an apartment house which has been held at $80,000, was closed in the purchase by Dr. Samuel W. Kountze of the five-story building on the southwest corner of Clay Avenue and 173d Street, from the Friedman Construction Company, of which Henry Friedman is President. The house was erected a little over a year ago and covers a plot 45 by 107. It accommodates twenty-six families. Henry Brousky, the broker, states that the sale was an all-cash transaction.

Operator Buys Old Buildings.

The two old three-story frame buildings at 523 and 525 Grand Street, extending through to 323 and 325 Henry Street, have been sold by the Maitland Realty Company to Paul A. McGolrich, operator.

There is a frontage of 34 feet on Grand Street and 26.10 on Henry Street. It was an all-cash transaction, according to Louis Block, the broker in the deal.

Resale of Burns Property.

For a stated consideration of $200,000 the Postal Life Insurance Company has transferred to John J. Kaplan of Baltimore, Md., the former Burns property at Inwood on the Hudson. The property has large frontages on Bolton Road, near 208th Street, and overlooking the Hudson.

It was acquired by the Postal Life in foreclosure proceedings about three weeks ago in an action to secure a first mortgage judgment of about $120,000. The insurance company got the property on a bid of $105,000. In the present transaction they allowed $180,000 to remain on mortgage for a five-year term.

Buyers for Harlem Flats.

The Hunts Point Realty Company has resold 502 West 134th Street, a five-story apartment house on lot 50 by 100, to Bellemore Holding Company, Incorporated. This house was taken in exchange by the Hunts Point Realty Company last week for a plot at the corner of Seneca Avenue and Drake Street.

The H. M. Weill Company has sold for a client 58 East 120th Street, a five-story flat on a plot 28 by 100. Joseph M. Lesser is the owner of record.

An investor has purchased from Jacob Axelrod 2,521 Seventh Avenue, a new six-story new-law tenement, with stores, on a plot 40 by 100. The seller acquired the property from Joseph Shenk last month.

C. M. Clark to Build on Lenox Hill

Charles M. Clark, treasurer of the Bradstreet Company, has commissioned McKenzie, Voorhees & Gmelin to prepare plans for a private dwelling to be erected at 713 Park Avenue, which he purchased last week from the Barney Estates Company.

The new structure will be of the English basement type, five stories in height. At present the site, 20 by 80 feet, is occupied by an old-fashioned dwelling, which will be demolished at once.

$182,000 Bronx Building Loan.

Five building loans aggregating $182,000 have been obtained by the Tieval Building Company from the Manhattan Mortgage Loan Company for the construction of five five-story flat houses on the northwest corner of Tiebout Avenue and 188th Street, on a plot 42.6 by 102.7, and the northeast corner of 188th Street and Valentine Avenue, 192 by 102.7.

Brooklyn.

The Realty Associates have sold 191-203 Washington Street, corner of Concord Street, a lot 186 by 100, with one-story brick store and three-story frame house on same, to L. Schepp, cocoanut dealer, of Hudson and Duane Streets, New York City, who will improve with a factory building.

A. Siegel sold to George Krimsky, 162 South Third Street, between Driggs and Bedford Avenues, a six-story new-law house, on a plot 50 by 95.

Long Island.

In the Fourth Ward, Borough of Queens, the New York Suburban Land Company has sold a plot 80 by 100 on President Avenue to A. H. Ford, and a plot 60 by 100 on Sterling Street to M. A. Mason.

The Windsor Realty Company, Harvey B. Newins, President, has purchased a tract of 114 acres located at East Moriches.

Commercial Leases.

The National Cloak and Suit Company, which recently completed its sixteen-story building on the blockfront on the west side of Seventh Avenue, between Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth Streets, has already outgrown its new quarters and has been compelled to make large additional space leases. Through Benjamin Bernstein it has taken 20,000 square feet in 119 to 121 West Twenty-fourth Street, and [illegible] square feet, comprising the eighth and ninth floors, in 103 to 111 West Twenty-first Street.

William H. Whiting & Co. have [illegible] store floor in 66 Murray Street to W. & L. E. Gurley, and the entire top floor in the [illegible] Building, covering the block fronting on Beekman Street, between Water and Front Streets, to the Passaic Fibre Coloring Corporation.

[illegible] have leased for [illegible] the entire store and basement, comprising 21,000 square feet, to the United Corrugated Case Company in the building 28 and 30 West Twenty-fifth Street.

Van Norden & Wilson have leased for a term of years the westerly store in the Bayer & Dotter Building, [illegible] West Thirty-third Street, to the Silver Lunch Company. The lease runs for ten years at an aggregate rental of nearly $60,000. The tenant will extensively alter the premises.

Real Estate Notes.

Gronenberg & Leuchtag have completed plans for a five-story apartment house to be built on the west side of Hoe Avenue, 130 feet south of 169th Street, in the Bronx, for the Hoe Avenue Holding Company, David Rosing, President.

A deficiency judgment for $103,762.71 was entered yesterday against Henry Corn, Broadway Construction Company, and the Fifth Avenue and Fourteenth Street Realty Company, in favor of Frederick T. Van Beuren and Eleanor C. Wittman, as administrators of Henry S. Van Beuren and others, growing out of the foreclosure sale of the northwest corner of Fifth Avenue and Fourteenth Street, on Oct. 28, 1914.

EDUCATION NOTES.

The Committee on By-Laws and Legislation has been discharged from further consideration of the report presented to the Board of Education by the Elementary Schools Committee on Nov. 25, 1914, disapproving the recommendation of the Board of Superintendents that a leave of absence without pay be granted to Louise M. Drew, a teacher in P. S. 105, Brooklyn, Mrs. Drew having resigned.

City Supt. Maxwell has been authorized to employ six substitute licensees in the office of the Board of Examiners.

The Board of Education has authorized the establishment of classes in normal penmanship in the N. Y. Evening High School for Women and the Washington Heights Evening High School, the sessions to be between 3 and 5:30 P. M.

The Committee on Elementary Schools has recommended the retirement of Principals Boyer and Stebbins.

The Board of Retirement has recommended the retirement of Mary W. Linden, a teacher in the Washington Irving High School.

The annex to P. S. 32, the Bronx, at White Plains Avenue and Pelham Parkway, will be made an annex to P. S. 44.

P. S. 56 is to be made an annex to P. S. 8, the Bronx.

New P. S. 97, Manhattan, will be organized as a school for boys from the kindergarten to the 8B grade.

The sum of $15,946 has been appropriated from the School Building Fund for the equipment of P. S. 95 and 179, Brooklyn, to pay the bills of the Superintendent of State Prisons for furniture for those schools.

The Committee on Elementary Schools has recommended that old P. S. 48, Brooklyn, be organized with five classes as an independent school.

The Morris Park Citizens' Association complains that the conditions in P. S. 67 and portable buildings have been for years and now are a disgrace to the city; that the Board of Superintendents has placed its needs second on the list in Queens and twelfth in the greater city, but notwithstanding that fact, the Board of Education has failed to recommend the issue of corporate stock for a new building. The association strongly protests against the injury to this community by failing to provide decent, habitable school accommodations, and urges the board to reconsider its decision and to adopt an amendment to the budget for school requirements for 1915 to give relief without delay from these conditions.

JOBLESS TO MARCH TO THE CITY HALL

I. W. W. WON'T INTERFERE

But Will Hold Its Own Demonstration Later—To House Homeless on Ellis Island.

Agitators addressed the men in the bread lines last night in an effort to get the homeless ones to take part early this morning in a parade from the Municipal Lodging House to the City Hall. It was planned to have the parade arrive at the City Hall before 10:30 o'clock, when the Board of Estimate would be holding its open hearing on the proposal to open municipal manufacturing plants. It was said that pledges to participate in the parade had been obtained from 2,000 men. Permits for parades both in Manhattan and in Brooklyn were taken out yesterday.

At the Manhattan end of the Manhattan Bridge it is expected that the Brooklyn and the Manhattan parades will merge and will continue on to City Hall Park. Mrs. J. P. Warbasse, a Brooklyn woman who has contributed money to organizing the unemployed, gave her sanction to the parade.

Socialists Join in Parade.

Socialists had previously planned a parade to take place later in the season. When it was learned that the plan for municipally owned industries was to be talked over before the Board of Estimate the Socialists saw that this meant "an opening wedge for State socialism." They rallied their forces quickly for the parade urged by Mrs. Warbasse.

Some of the agitators in the street last night said they were I. W. W. members. They proposed to print a banner reading: "Work or Bread." They gave this up when they were told that no banners were wanted and that nothing would be permitted but an orderly march of the unemployed to City Hall.

There was much criticism of Controller Prendergast among those who backed the movement for the parade, as they insisted that he had caused the deadlock in the Mayor's Committee on Unemployment, which made the parade necessary in order to "get some kind of action."

The I. W. W. agitators said that while they would respect the plans of Mrs. Warbasse and others enough not to break up the parade, they would start a demonstration of their own later in the day with Elizabeth Gurley Flynn at its head.

"Our motto," said Miss Flynn, "is going to be 'Make Bread or Take It,' and at a mass meeting in the Manhattan Lyceum, Friday night, we are going to start a programme of protest. We hold the city lodging house affords no relief to heads of families out of work, that no self-respecting worker ought to be compelled to turn to the Charities Department, and that the Mayor's Committee on Unemployment, with E. H. Gary at its head, is an insult to the working classes. A Union Square demonstration will follow our mass meeting, with street corner meetings all over town."

Borough President Mathewson of the Bronx made this answer yesterday to criticisms of the Board of Estimate's attitude toward the problem of the unemployed:

"If city disbursements continue to be made at the rate followed in the past few years," he said, "everyone in every situation in life will feel the burden.

Fear Effect on Taxes.

"Any marked increase in the burden will necessitate a recourse to new and different methods of taxation. Other things than real estate may be taxed heavily. Even a poll tax may have to be imposed. Every unjustified expenditure tends to push us toward conditions in the overtaxed cities of the Old World."

The Mayor's Committee on Unemployment issued a statement yesterday supplementing the report of the sub-committee on facts which indicated that there were 200,000 unemployed persons in December, 1914, over the showing for the same period in 1913.

The statement indicated that the increase in unemployment was 8 per cent. for all industries over the showing of 1913 and that for factories alone it was 13.5 per cent. All the estimates of the Mayor's Committee were based upon replies sent in by 602 employers out of 2,000 who were asked to give detailed figures of the condition as to unemployment.

Immigration Commissioner Frederic C. Howe took steps to aid the unemployed yesterday by opening quarters in the detention rooms on Ellis Island for the unemployed. Employes of his department were sent along the water front last night to inform all homeless men that good beds were to be had for the asking at Ellis Island, with a breakfast of coffee and bread each morning. This breakfast will cost five cents. It was arranged to have a boat leave the barge office each night at 7:30 o'clock to carry to the island all who might care to sleep there.

City Chamberlain Bruere, in order to help the "Hotel de Gink" to open as a lodging house for hoboes, at Centre and Worth Streets, cut some red tape yesterday.

"Jeff" Davis had cleaned the place out with his followers among the hoboes, and had pasted the walls with mottoes to the effect that "This was home," and no agitators need intrude. But Controller Prendergast has doubts about the wisdom of leasing the building directly to Davis or any committee of the unemployed, so Chamberlain Bruere appointed a committee to be responsible for the so-called hotel. Davis said he hoped that by Sunday night from 500 to 1,000 of his followers would be in the building, with good blankets to cover them and a piano to amuse them.

At the city's free soup kitchen an old man collapsed yesterday after he had gained the front door. A young girl, 8 years old, was allowed two plates of soup after telling a story of starvation. An agent was sent to investigate the mother's case and afford relief. The free soup kitchen, which was opened by the United Hebrew Trades and other east side associations at 98 Forsyth Street, received many contributions of meat and groceries from merchants on the east side. Plans were made to open a second free soup kitchen in Harlem next week, the kitchen to be in charge of Mrs. Anna Pastor, the mother of Mrs. Rose Pastor Stokes.

"DAN THE DUDE'S" STORY.

Thief and Gambler Tells Jury About Becker and Rosenthal Murder.

Louis Harris, alias "Dan, the Dude," gambler, thief, intimate of Herman Rosenthal, Jack Rose, Jtck Zelig, and others whose names are as well known in the under world, took the stand before Judge Wadhams in General Sessions yesterday and, asserting that the charge of stealing a package of silk, for which he was on trial, was a frame-up, dismissed the case in a few words and talked of the Rosenthal case, Judge Rosalsky, Gov. Whitman, and other persons and things.

"I have served five terms in jail since 1899, gentlemen," Harris told the jurors, "and every time I pleaded guilty. I think I am square, and if I were guilty of this charge I would admit it, as I always have done before. Since 1899 a number of detectives have hounded me, wherever I was—even when I was trying to make an honest living. This charge is the result of their activities."

In 1912, when Harris was dealing stud poker for Jack Rose, Herman Rosenthal used to sit in the game, Harris said, and, if Rosenthal won, they would "cut it fifty-fifty."

"Herman told me he was going to open up his Forty-fifth Street house, and he did," Harris continued. "Charley Becker wanted to frame up Herman's nephew, and he complained to me frequently about the coppers up there. On July 14 I was still in my poker house when I got a ticket for the Sam Paul outing at Northport, L. I. We all went down by boat, and there was a poker game, in which were Jack Rose, Harry Vallon, Bridgie Webber, Al Levy, Sam Paul, and several others. They were playing dollar poker, and I was only a spectator. The game broke up just as the boat was about to land, and when we were about to get off I heard Bridgie Webber say to Dollar John Langer:

"'Did you read in the newspapers about Herman's going to squawk on Becker?'"

His Hat Off to Whitman.

Assistant District Attorney Strong objected to what Harris overheard, but Judge Wadhams permitted Harris to tell that he heard some one say to Langer: "If you string with Herman we will take you the same as we are going to take him."

"It hit me," Harris said, "and I thought a whole lot about it. I spent the night at the Lafayette baths and I heard lots of talk about this squealing. I never did anything dirty in my life. I am pretty clean for a member of the underworld and when I read in the paper on July 16 that Herman had been murdered I was in a stupor. Nothing hit me harder in my life. I went uptown, but I didn't have the heart to look at poor Herman.

For several days that murder was all the underworld talked about. I didn't mix with respectable people, but I suppose they talked about it too. Then I said to myself I am going to do something I never did in my life. I grabbed a telephone, called up the District Attorney's office, and through his secretary made an appointment with a man at Forty-second Street and Broadway. The man met me and took me to Judge Whitman and before I consented to talk to him, I said: 'Will you promise me man to man to keep secret my name and connection with what I am going to tell you?'

"Gentlemen, I take my hat off to the Governor. He never mentioned a word about me."

"I stole to live, gentlemen," Harris said, reverting to his prison record. "If I stole something worth $50 or $100 I would live on it. I would gamble. That's been my chief business.

Judge Rosalsky Helped Him.

"One morning found me in Madison Square Park reading a newspaper which carried a cartoon showing Judge Rosalsky dragging District Attorney Jerome before the grand jury to prosecute the insurance thieves. I had known Rosalsky all my life. I said to myself he is a judge and here I am a bum. Knowing that the Judge lived in Rivington Street I went down to see him and told him my troubles. He asked Bill McLaughlin (former police inspector) to get work for me. And right then and there I told him that I wouldn't be a stool pigeon; that I wanted work and not charity.

"Now gentlemen, Otto (Judge Rosalsky) meant well and he tried to pull wires to get me work. Every time he saw me he gave me money, and I told him: 'I don't want dough, I want work.' Well, I lost heart and I couldn't call to see him any more. I was broke. I had to live. I wouldn't kill, but I was a thief. It's my graft to get what I want.

"I was arrested in 1906 and arraigned before my old friend Judge Rosalsky and I heard afterward that he said that I had been ungrateful. Now gentlemen, I never was ungrateful or unfaithful in my life. The code of the underworld is keeping your word and not double crossing anybody."

Harris will be cross-examined when the trial is resumed this morning.

Here Is Cause for Quick Action

YOU men who really want fine clothes, and there are thousands of you in New York, ought to come to the nearest Wallach store today—for we are offering

$35 and $40
Hart Schaffner & Marx
Suits and Overcoats
at $25
